Opening lead—jack of spades.
Lew Mathe, West Coast star, was declarer in this hand played in the Open Pair event of the 1952 All-Western Championships in Los Angeles.

He won the spade lead in dummy and had lots to think about. He had no idea how the spades or diamonds were divided, where the queen of hearts was located, or whether a diamond finesse would work.

Following the best technique, and for the purpose of compelling the defenders to give him some information, Mathe cashed four rounds of clubs. He discarded a diamond from dummy, West threw a heart, and East parted with a spade.

East's spade discard was illuminating. It marked him with five spades originally—he could not very well have spared a spade if he had started with only four.

Mathe now led a spade. West played the ten, and he was allowed to hold the trick. This play had the desired effect. West was employed—he had to return either a heart or a diamond.

West chose to lead a low diamond and East's king lost to the ace. Mathe returned a low diamond. West played his eight, but East could not help winning with the ten. Now East was employed—he had to return a spade or a heart.

He chose the heart return as the lesser of two evils. So Mathe by now had built his A-Q of diamonds into two tricks without risking a finesse, and also had won the two-way heart finesse without having to guess for it.

He wound up with eleven tricks—and every trick is important in match point duplicate tournaments.

But the story has an unhappy ending. At most tables West led a heart originally, removing the guess for declarer. The East-West pairs then proceeded to discard badly as South cashed his tricks, and quite a few declarers made twelve tricks. The result was that Mathe was below average on the deal.

There ain't no justice!

Logging Is Revolutionized In B.C. By Portable 'Spar'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A beast of a machine, snout pointing skyward like a three-stage rocket, has virtually spelled the doom of the high riggers in British Columbia's forests.

It is a portable spar tree, an 85-foot metal shaft fast replacing the wooden spar trees which earlier revolutionized logging in B.C.

A spar tree, like a giant maypole, is stued as the centre of logging operations. Cables are attached to the spar tree from every direction and, hitched to a donkey engine, are used to pull in logs cut elsewhere in the neighborhood of the operation.

At one time, the sturdiest tree in the lot was chosen as spar tree because of the strain it had to take. Portable spar trees first appeared in the west about 18 years ago, but really began to take hold in B.C. two years ago.

"There are few outfits now which use the old method," said a delegate to the 16th annual B.C. Truck Loggers convention here. "And high rigging is a rapidly dying art."

The high-riggers—agile kings of the logging camps who topped the giant spar trees and rigged them with a web of cables—are through.

"Improved spar trees and the fight to hold down costs have boosted the use of spar trees," the delegate said. "Big operators can't afford not to have them now."

A typical portable spar tree was on display during the convention. Made in Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, it cost about $25,000 and was accompanied by a donkey engine. Its chief attractions are mobility and speed of erection. It is mounted on a truck or steel sled.

MONCTON (CP)—Mayer M. M. Baig said Tuesday city council would need to know all the facts about the Maritime winter fair and the requirements of the Maritime Stock Breeders Association before Moncton would attempt to bring the fair here.

Mayer Baig was commenting on an MSBA decision Monday night to permit the town of Amherst to withdraw from an agreement between the two parties.

"Now that Amherst has turned it down, we will call a committee to investigate the matter thoroughly," he said.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length, and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
