Parent Night At Notre Dame

Parents of the High School students of Notre Dame Academy assembled Thursday evening in the Academy auditorium for an interesting program which was prepared to mark the annual observance of Parent Night. Miss Betty Kelly of Grade XI welcomed the parents and introduced the program.

The highlight of the evening was a debate on a topic which was especially suitable for the occasion: "Resolved that mother is responsible for most of the happiness of the home." Upholding the affirmative were three students from the Commercial class, Misses Eileen Lacey, Guelda Gallant, and Elaine Bonnell. Representing Grade XI, and upholding the negative of the resolution were Misses Mary Elaine Trainer, Myrna Green, and Erma MacDonald. The judges were Messrs. Richard Wedge, Jack Reardon, and Thomas McGaugh, students of St. Dunstan's College. Although the con was pronounced the winning team by the unanimous decision of the judges, all the students participating in the debate were commended for the quality of their speeches and for their general debating ability.

Miss Regina Gillis very capably fulfilled the role of chairlady. The program also included a radio script entitled "Men and Women of Tomorrow" presented by a group of Grade X pupils, a physical training demonstration by Grade IX, and Marian choral selections by the Commercial Class and Grade XI. The program closed with the singing of the school hymn, "Our Lady of Notre Dame" and the National Anthem.
