Ape Baby Lures To Trap Mother Who Escaped

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Mother love is tested against jungle freedom in the chase to capture or kill Sally, a female ape, which has been frightening residents near Sutra Park since its escape from a side show at Ocean Beach.

The ape left her nine-months old baby when she picked the lock on her cage and swung into the trees of Sutra Park. The little ape has been tied to a stake near the thickets where the mother is thought to be hiding since policemen with shotguns combed the park yesterday. Near the little ape has been set a trap baited with raw eggs, an ape delicacy.

Officers have been instructed to shoot to kill if they sight Sally as she is pronounced "dangerous". The ape stands between three and four feet high.

CHILD DROWNED IN HOLE.

MONCTON, N.B., May 10.—Frank, aged between three and four years, son of Fred Daigle, was drowned at Richibucto this afternoon by falling into a hole about four feet deep, near the Kent Northern Railway station. The child had strayed from its home about two hundred yards distant.

A war veteran has the smallest radio. He made it out of a pocketbook. Perhaps he had no other use for the pocketbook.

Tired in the Mornings

"HOW do you sleep?"
"Not very well. Lots of nights I lie awake for hours, restless and fidgety, thinking about everything, but not resting or sleeping."
"Have you consulted a doctor?"

"Yes. The doctor says I am anaemic; the blood is thin and watery, and the nervous system run-down for want of proper nutrition."

"Why don't you try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"I don't know just why, unless it is because I thought it was only for the nerves, whereas what I need is something to enrich the blood."

"Well, that is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. It is only by enriching the blood that you can restore exhausted nerves."

"Perhaps I should try it." "I certainly would if I were you, for I know it is wonderful the way it helps some people who are anaemic and generally run down in health."

"I am sure you will not be disappointed, and if I were you I would not lose a day before getting started with this treatment."

Clarke, Summerside, on Monday night and showered with a large quantity of useful gifts, in anticipation of her marriage on Wednesday to Mr. Paul Harding, son of Rev. W. H. Harding, formerly pastor of the Christian church at Summerside.

—FINE PICTURE.—One of the most attractive arrangements of an athletic group photograph is that which has been recently completed by the Read Studio, Water Street, for the hockey team of the Summerside (Crest) War Veterans, champions of the Summerside Hockey League. The group, which is arranged in a replica of the Holman trophy, includes individual photographs of the trophy itself, W. J. Whitney, President of the G.W.V.A., Don Stewart, sec'y-treas. of the G.W.V.A., Mr. MacLeod, manager of the team; Ferno Graves, captain and goal; Ernie MacQuarrie, defence; Art Morris, defence; and the other members of the team: Gallant, Houston, Johnson, Tanton, Daley, McArthur. In the center of the arrangement is a group photo of the team "in active service order", taken before one of the nets in the Crystal rink. The work is a piece of art throughout and reflects great credit upon the Read Studio for the distinctive and attractive arrangements.

France Dismissing Many Gov't. Employees

LONDON, May 10.—Over 50,000 government employees in France are being dismissed for reasons of economy, says a Reuter despatch from Paris. The wholesale dismissals will mean a saving of 300,000,000 francs. Most of those dismissed were taken on as auxiliary servants in the war period. The dismissals from the ministry of war number 10,000. The state rail ways will liberate about 9,000 men.

The finance commission suggests that cuts be made in the salaries of ministers of the government also members of parliament, and leading state officials. The commission has taken a tie vote on the question which will again be brought forward.

Provincial Legislature

for 450,000 more. And all the time they are sending out their writs and their summonses, and their sheriffs, and charging up the expense of the country. I know of a young man the other day...

The Chairman: The ruling of the Chair is that this is out of order.

Mr. Kennedy: The Chairman knows well the position he is in—voting this money away. He doesn't want it to go out through the country. He is ashamed of it. And very properly so. I can understand the position of the Chairman. He has got a heart, I know; while some of them on the other side of the House haven't got any. Borrowing money! Sending sheriffs out and constables out to collect more money in order to get the interest paid! That is the position of affairs, and I wonder what my hon. friend the editor of the Patriot really thinks about it!

Hon. Mr. Hughes: Regarding this item of interest. My hon. friend claims that the increase shows an increase in the debt. That would be all right if the rate remained the same, but when the rate is increasing it does not prove that the principle is increasing.

Mr. Kennedy: We were told by the Premier that the bonds of this province were sold at a higher rate than any other province in Canada. If that is the case, the interest should not be too high.

Hon. Mr. Lea: I explained the difference in the increased interest. The interest rate of 5 per cent. was increased to 6 per cent., and that made the difference.

The items passed.
The item ($400) for Land Office passed without discussion.

Legislation $18,450.

Mr. Stewart: In connection with Legislation the statement in the journals of the House included one item for a special stenographer was paid out of the public treasury for reporting the speeches of my hon. friends across the floor. They will say it has been done before, but that does not excuse them in the least. The principle is all wrong, and I hope it will not be done this year. I have seen some special stenographers taking down my hon. friends' speeches this year, but I trust they are not to be paid out of the public funds.

Hon. Mr. Lea: They were just practising on some of my hon. friend's eloquence.

Mr. Stewart: They don't take my eloquence, my hon. friend. They only publish your own. Whether my hon. friends have such a high opinion of their eloquence or not I don't know, but if so I want to tell them it is not worth the money they are paying to have it printed.

Mr. Dewar: There is a saving in this item this year over last of a little over $2,000. That's a good thing, even though it was caused by the fact that there are five seats vacant. Perhaps we might make a little more saving by considering the question of sessional indemnity.

You are aware, Mr. Chairman, that two years ago the indemnity paid was raised from $200 to $500. The argument was put forth that it was a period of inflation and as a consequence the salaries should go up. And I think myself that indemnity and taxes should be adjusted to suit the times. I advocated before that I thought it would be commendable if the members of this House in pursuing a policy of retrenchment would begin by reducing their indemnity. I am still of that opinion. I do not say that they should go back to $200, but I think that we might very well reduce it to $400, and I would make a motion to that effect.

Mr. Brodie: I second that resolution, though I would like it reduced to $300. We are all aware that the times are hard and likely to continue pretty hard. Farmers have to pay $6 each in cash in taxes, and I think it's time that the poll tax on the young men was reduced to $2. You have a chance to do that now while we are at it.

It was said that the indemnity was raised on account of the high cost of living, but I think if we reduced it we would save money all around, because we would go home a good deal sooner. Now we keep hanging here because of we went home too soon people would say we were not earning our money!

Mr. LePage: I think that I have earned my $500 representing my district. I have served them well, and if they don't think so, when the time comes round they will simply have to say so. The hon. gentleman from New Perth (Mr. Dewar) when this thing was proposed, sanctioned it along with the other members of the House, and I remember him telling me afterwards on the train coming from Georgetown, that if Mr. Brodie did not take his $300 he would take it himself, besides his own. But Mr. Brodie took his $500 without saying one word, for two years.

Mr. Brodie: I didn't take it for two years!

Mr. Dewar: The gentleman that sat down (Mr. LePage) is laboring under a misapprehension. I was not here when that money was voted. That session ran into the 23rd of May, and I was home at that time, and when it was approached about it I said I did not approve of it at all. I thought that if this drastic Tax Act was being brought down and the indemnity was raised at the same time the public would say we were introducing taxation in order to get the money ourselves. I don't remember saying that if Mr. Brodie did not take his money I would take it.

Mr. LePage: Well, you said it.

Mr. Dewar: No, I don't remember making any such statement. I said that if the majority voted it, I would have to take it.

Mr. LePage: It was the duty of the hon. member from New Perth to stay in his place when he knew that this thing was coming up, and the reason why he did not stay in his place I will leave the hon. members to guess.

Mr. Dewar: The government member who canvassed me said that if one man objected to the increase it would not go through. Later he said: "It will not go through now, and if it comes up I will vote against it myself." And so I had no idea it was coming up.

Mr. Hessian: My hon. friend from New Perth is out of order.

The Chairman: In what way?

Mr. Hessian: The increased indemnity is already the law and he can't make a motion to change it now. I am going to challenge my hon. friend from New Perth: That vote was to come up on a Wednesday morning and my hon. friend flew home on that morning's train, so that he would not be on record as voting for the money. He stated that he had to go home and harrow in a field of oats. You can't change that vote of the House by bringing in a motion tonight. I think the hon. member is just playing a fine game of politics, and I think we ought to call his bluff. Let each one of us divide his whole sessional indemnity between the two orphanages and go home without a cent! Here we have been talking all session—I have been up till 1 and 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning preparing legislation and helping the Premier (laughter). If we didn't earn our money no people on the top of this earth ever earned money!

Mr. Dewar: Whom the gods intend to destroy they first make mad. My hon. friend can never get away from the personal element when he gets up to attack me. That session he referred to there was sickness in my family. I didn't go home because I had to harrow a field of oats.

Mr. Hessian: He wrote a letter to the press saying he had to go home because he had to harrow in

Mr. Dewar: I never made any such statement to the press. He is drawing on his imagination. He says the bill was going through on a Wednesday morning, and as a Senator of fact it did not go through until about the last day of the session.

Mr. Hessian: He said he went home on a Thursday, and there was no train going on Thursday!

Mr. Dewar: I said Wednesday.

Mr. Hessian: That is what I said!

Mr. Dewar: He challenges that he will give his indemnity to the two orphanages, and last night he said he had already drawn his money and sent it down to a poor fellow in Georgetown jail. (Laughter.)

Mr. Hessian: I said I sent my check and I would have to draw on my indemnity.

Mr. Dewar: I am very glad to know it.

Premier Bell: I think the point taken by my hon. friend from Georgetown (Mr. Hessian) has twenty years.

been well taken. This indemnity of $500 was fixed by statute and Souris knows well that three years before it could be altered it would have to be altered by statute; so our salaries. We were not sent here to raise our salaries to $500. I did not take that extra $200, and order. As to the $500 being a reasonable consideration for the services of the members of this House, I think it will be admitted by anyone looking at it squarely and comparing it with Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Federal Legislature.

The Chairman: My ruling on the point of order is this: Any hon. member has a right to move a resolution to the estimates, but this $127 has been covered by statute and he is therefore out of order.

Mr. D. C. McDonald: The ruling must suit the two hon. gentlemen very well. Now they get the credit for making the motion and that was all they wanted. They are both playing politics and one of them has been doing what is called "boxing the compass" for the last between the two orphanages, too. Hon. Mr. Hughes: I think they are just making political capital. Mr. Brodie: Is it right for an hon. member to impute motives against another hon. member? The Chairman: No, the hon. member must not impute motives. Hon. Mr. Hughes: This indemnity amounts to $1.25 for the year around, and they would like to go back to sixty-four cents a day. This is the value he would like to put on the whole of us!

The item passed.
