Everybody's Doing It

ONE time it was quite a feat to beat Toronto Maple Leafs in their own back yard. Now it doesn't seem to present any trouble whatever.

All teams have taken their points out of the Gardens this season and Leafs' home supporters are getting a bit tired of the goings-on. Not the least of those annoyed must be those brass hats of the Toronto management who dearly love to win in the Queen City..

Stafford Smythe, the club president, denied the other day that there was any trouble in the Leafs' camp. He never suggested that changes would be made but was quoted as saying that Leafs had stood pat for probably too long a time. Such an admission might mean that Smythe and his rich buddies are figuring on some major change in the near future.

In the Leafs' last three home games they have assumed the grand total of four goals and have been scored on nineteen times. This is hardly the type of display that sends the Toronto patrons home happy. If the club is happy and performing in this fashion, then we'd hate to see them in action if they were the least disgruntled.

We still think that Mr. Imlach is skating on thin ice. He insists there is no friction between himself and the players. If he's right, then we wish he would explain away Toronto's dismal home showing of late.

After walloping Canadiens 6-1 in Toronto on January 8, the Leafs are blanked by these same Habs the next time out. In between those Leafs-Canadiens games, Toronto's showing is best forgotten by those who back the Leafs.

Canadiens Are Happy

HOWEVER, we aren't for one minute trying to take anything away from those rampaging Canadiens.

Here is a squad that surely seems happy. It was not picked to upset any apple cart but Toe Blake has banded together a mighty pleasing outfit. There appears to be team spirit galore and Jean Beliveau has accepted his role of leader in manly fashion.

The Habs' recent wins over Chicago were big affairs and put the Montrealers in a position where they are even bets to finish on top of the NHL heap. They are winning the big games. Those two against the Black Hawks and that Wednesday tussle against Toronto couldn't have been any bigger.

Perhaps the Canadiens yet will crack under it all. Perhaps Chicago and Toronto, picked by the experts to finish 1-2, will find their stride one of these days and start pulling away from the Blakemen. If this happens, the wise guys will be extremely happy and will tell you 'I told you so'.

However, there is a strong possibility that Canadiens will refuse to panic and that they will keep up their persistent drive so as to capture first place in Clarence Campbell's loop.

Right now they must be classed as the surprise squad of the season. After all they are in first place, aren't they?

Dr. Wen Wins

WINNING curling championships is nothing new for Dr. Wen Macdonald.

This is something that the Doctor has been doing for many years and we're sure he hopes to keep up the good work for many years to come.

Recently at Belvedere Golf and Winter Club, Dr. Wen grabbed the Prince Edward Island senior curling championships to land another trophy. By now the Macdonald home has many curling awards taken by Dr. Wen and his good wife, Elizabeth.

The seniors had a bangup time in their competition and they are grateful to Storey Electric and The Prince Edward Island Curling Association. Storey Electric donated the trophy to the winners as well as individual prizes to members of Dr. Wen's rink. The P.E.I. Curling Association looked after the runners-up.

Saints Host Mounties

SAINT Dunstan's Varsity entertains Mount Allison squad in Maritime Intercollegiate competition tonight at SDU rink.

Saints own a share of first place and can go ahead with a triumph over the Mounties tonight. Jack Kane's lads should be able to grab the two points tonight and head for Sackville tomorrow morning in good shape. The same teams meet in Mount Allison Gardens Saturday afternoon and here again we expect the locals to garner a triumph.

They are mighty big games to St. Dunstan's who are fighting for first place in this Maritime competition.

SAINTS HOST MOUNTIES

St. Dunstan's Varsity Saints host Mount Allison Mounties tonight at St. Dunstan's rink in a Maritime Intercollegiate Hockey League struggle. Saints own a two-game winning acquired on the road last week against Acadia and Dalhousie and are out for their third in a row tonight. The Mounties are the possessors of a surprise triumph over the strong Tommies from St. Thomas College, Chatham. Saints need a win to stay in the hunt for the league crown and the right to represent the Maritimes in Dominion college playdowns at Kingston, Ont in mid-March. Action tonight starts at 8 o'clock. Here are three of coach Jack Kane's boys who will battle the New Brunswickers tonight from left to right, Maurice Roy, Dick Tingley and George MacMillan.

Royals Bomb Flying Hawks And Take 3-1 Series Lead

Sandy's Royals brought Johnny's Flying Hawks down to earth with a thud last night.

The Royals who outskated and outshot their rivals during most of the game captured a 9-4 victory before almost 1,000 cheering hockey fans who turned up at the Charlottetown Forum to witness the fourth game of the best of seven series for the City Championship. The victory for the winners gave them a 3-1 lead in the series.

A surprise starter for the winners was goal-tender Donnie Frizzell. Frizzell has been playing for the Halifax Schooners in the Nova Scotia Senior Hockey League for the past few weeks. He turned in a memorable performance as time and time again he turned back the Hawks, with fine sprawling saves.

HAWKS OPEN SCORING

The flying Hawks started fast and for a while it looked like they were going to run the Royals out of the rink.

Donnie (Gunner) MacCormack, one of the Hawks leading scorers put his team into a one goal lead before the first period was a minute old. The "Gunner" took a pass from MacGonnell directly in front of the net and blasted a 15 foot slap-shot into the upper corner that Frizzell had no chance on.

The Royals roared back and Apps Arsenault finished off a pretty passing play with Angie Carroll and Buddy MacIntyre by fooling Butch Ward with a low shot to the far corner that tied up the game.

ROYALS MOVE AHEAD

Shifty Buddy MacIntyre put the winners ahead for the first time in the game a few minutes later when he scored with help from Carroll and Arsenault but the lead was short-lived as defenceman Louis Smith picked up a power-play marker shortly after.

Eustace Reeves put the high-flying Royals ahead to stay with three minutes remaining in the game when his slap-shot eluded Ward.

The winners came out for the second stanza really skating their heads off and before the disorganized Hawks knew what was happening the Royals had potted four big goals within a space of ten minutes.

WHITLOCK STARS

Buck Whitlock, the Old Lamplighter, proved he still had plenty of fire left as he banged home two goals in this period and assisted on another one.

Eustace Reeves had received a penalty when Whitlock started his drive, he scored on Ward with a tricky shot from the side of the net that caromed off Wards leg like a well-played billiard shot. He then set Jim McLeod up for a goal to move the Royals into a 5-2 lead with a neat pass directly from a face-off deep in Hawks territory.

Buck wasn't through yet however, a few moments later he beat Ward with a bullet-like drive that caught the lower left-hand corner to move his team into a commanding 6-2 lead.

Angie Carroll picked up the fourth goal of the period as he took passes from Arsenault and MacIntyre in his own end and then stick-handled through the whole Hawk team to flip the puck past a diving Ward at the 10.25 mark.

START COMEBACK

The Flying Hawks started a comeback in the third period but it was not enough to overtake the Royals.

MacCormack collected his second tally of the game in the early minutes of the final stanza when he slapped the rubber past Frizzell from close in. Angie Carroll came right back however to restore the Royals lead with a neat goal. He picked up the puck during a scramble in front of the Hawks' net and slipped it past a confused Ward.

The Hawks kept trying however and were getting stronger as the game progressed. MacCormack picked up the Hat trick around the middle of the period to close the gap a little but veteran Jim MacLeod put the game on ice as he scored his second marker of the game a little later.

These same two teams will meet next Thursday evening in the fifth game of the series.

Seabrooks Down Golden Aces 9-8

In a regular league game of the Farmer's League at the Kensington rink last night the Kensington Seabrooks blasted the Seamens Golden Acre 9-0.

J. MacFarlane paced the Kensington attack with the "hat trick" and the other marksmen were D. Johnson , I. Cotton, C. Sudsbury, D. Sherry and B. Caseley all contributed singletons.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Columnist Is In Agreement With Wildlife Address

I have just finished reading the report in The Guardian of the address given by Charles Bartlett, director of fish and wildlife division for the department of Industry and Natural Resources, to members of the Summerside Junior Chamber of Commerce. It was a most timely address and, to this columnist's way of thinking, hit the nail squarely on the head. . . excepting that he missed the nail entirely when he stated "All the available evidence indicates that our game bird populations have decreased over the past 20 years..."

We had a peak population of Hungarian partridge and pheasants in 1956. Our pheasants had increased each year from 1954 by a minimum of twenty per cent... some observers claim it was nearer the the thirty-three mark... and yet, in 1957 they appeared to disintegrate into thin air. In Kings and southern Queens counties there were a scant five percent in evidence. Our Hungarian partridge also showed a minimum of twenty per cent drop in numbers. Our Hun population continued to drop drastically until 1961. Last year (1963) the tempo of their comeback quickened most perceptably and, believe it or not, this was the year a close season on Huns was declared.

This columnist is in perfect agreement with Mr. Bartlett's contention that the bounty on predators, skunks, raccoon and foxes achieved no useful purpose with respect to our game birds, both upland and migratory, as they remained on the toboggan until last year... at least this was the year the grand down hill slide was halted. This columnist feels that both the skunk and raccoon are unwelcome immigrants which were introduced to the province during the fur boom in the nineteen twenties and earlier but—the red fox is a native son and the quicker the bounty is removed from his head the better for all concerned. When the bounty was imposed on foxes the price on red fox pelts hit a low of fifty cents per pelt and were practically unsaleable. One fur buyer had red fox pelts in cold storage for twenty years. Today red fox pelts will average four or five dollars per pelt on the Fur Sales if they are prime and well furred.

During the period when red fox pelts were not worth the trouble of skinning some inducement had to be offered to encourage trappers and hunters to hunt and trap them as they were increasing to a point where they had to be kept in bounds and a bounty of three dollars was placed on their scalps. Some are plain bounty hunters and wouldn't skin a fox if the pelt was worth double its present price. I have stumbled across prime foxes during my rambles across the countryside that had the ears and face mask sheared off and a five dollar pelt left to rot. Some start running them with hounds in September and keep it up until late April. I have information that foxes heavy with pup, and also those nursing pups, have been shot during late spring months. If it is not deemed advisable to remove the bounty on foxes I would recommend that no bounty be paid on a fox unless the pelt is presented properly skinned including the feet and tail and that those who make bounty payments be advised accordingly.

Our foxes have been under heavy hunting pressure this past few years and this pressure is increasing yearly. I have talked to a number of fox hunters and farmers this winter as to whether or not our foxes are standing up to the intensive hunting and persecution campaign now in vogue. A few report no change with the odd hunter reporting an increase over last year. The majority report they show a slight falling off in numbers. The fox is Nature's year 'round mouser. He can dig down through several feet of snow in nothing flat and can pick up the family bickerings of mice hundreds of feet distant. I have been following a fox track in snow and observed that it had stopped, as if in a listening attitude, and then turn aside and travel fifty yards in a direct line and dig out a nest of mice. A few minute blood spots on the snow showed the detour was not in vain.

There was a time when hawks and owls accounted for a lot of mice but where are our hawks and owls? There was a time, not many years ago, that over almost any farm a marsh hawk... as we erroneously called them... would be cruising over the hayfields and meadows in quest of mice. I haven't spotted one for three years. In the mellow spring dusk, a few years ago, in any School district one would hear the 'hoot' of a Great Horned Owl and minutes later the answering call of its mate. I heard one owl give with a few calls... three I think ... this winter and it sounded like a lost soul in torment. There was no answering call and I don't think any was expected.

The town of Souris got its name from a plague of mice that invaded it long years ago. At the moment it looks as if we could experience a province wide plague of mice. In all my experience I have never before witnessed such an infestation of field mice. Every meadow or swale is alive with rodents as fat and roly poly as stuffed sausages. I never recollect seeing field mice so large and they appear about two inches longer than usual. Trappers, who use apples or carrots as bait for muskrats, find that mice will eat the bait in short order and are so fat and heavy they'll spring a No. 1 spring trap that is set light on the pan and get caught. It takes a large and heavy mouse to get caught in a No. 1 steel trap. Foxes will stand up to intensive trapping and snaring in season and more then hold their own if mice are available but its a different story when their dens are interfered with, and females either nursing young or heavy with pup are run with hounds, the cards are stacked against the red coated speedsters of the wild. A red fox running with belly to the snow across a winter landscape is a sight to be remembered. Use ordinary common horse sense boys if you wish to preserve your sport for posterity

Maroons Down Nationals 8-3

George Bernard, O'Leary forward, got his second "hat trick" of the week at Borden rink last night as Maroons beat the Nationals in a regular Prince County League fixture by the score of 8-3.

The visitors scored three unanswered goals in each of the first and second periods, and were outscored by Borden 3-2 in the final frame. Besides Bernard's four makers, Merrill Cameron fired two goals for O'Leary, and Ron MacArthur (TV) and Jack Gorrill notched up singletons.

Charlie MacDougall, Gerhn, and Sexton, and Willard Leard were the Borden marksmen. The victorious Maroons were playing without their coach, MacArthur, and one of their top notch players, Glen Rogerson, who is out with an injured ankle. Referees Gravelle and Matthews handed out two minor penalties to each team. The Texaco Combines play the Junior Legionaires at Civic Stadium tonight.

Spahn Inks Contract With Milwaukee Club

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's great Warren Spahn signed his 1964 contract with the Braves Thursday for a reported $85,000—which would make him the highest salaried pitcher in baseball history.

For the game's top winning lefty of all time, it was the 20th contract with the team.

"I hope we have him forever," said John McHale, Braves president and general manager.

"Preferably as a pitcher, but after that in whatever capacity we can keep him."

Although the Braves never disclose salary figures, McHale said the 42 - year - old Spahn's contract calls for the highest salary ever paid a pitcher. That would place it at about $85,000.

HAD FINE SEASON

McHale called Spahn's 1963 season, in which he won 23 games and lost seven, his greatest year "as a pitcher and as a man."

"My job now is to go out and earn the money," said Spahn.

Among the records Spahn already holds are those for most victories by a left hander, 350, as well as most innings pitched, most strike outs and most seasons with 20 or more games won.

Although Spahn's estimated pay of $85,000 would be a record basic salary for a pitcher, it would not be a record pay. Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' Hall of Famer, made more with bonuses based on games won and attendance. Feller earned some $148,000 in 1946 under this contractual arrangement, with a $45,000 base pay.

Canadiens Beat Rangers; Hold On To First Position

MONTREAL (CP) — First-place Montreal Canadiens slammed in three third-period goals to down fifth-place New York Rangers 4-2 in National Hockey League play Thursday night.

Rookie winger John Ferguson scored two goals, one of them the winner, to pace Montreal before a crowd of 14,591.

The win enabled the Canadiens to keep pace with Chicago Black Hawks in the struggle for first place. Both remained tied for the lead with 55 points, as the result of Chicago's 3-1 win over the Bruins at Boston.

Rangers, who have been able to beat Montreal only once in eight meetings between the teams this season, lost a chance to gain on fourth-place Detroit Red Wings whom they trail by three points.

Billy Hicke and Bob Rousseau were the other Montreal scorers while Earl Ingarfield and Rod Gilbert were the Ranger marksmen.

OPENED UP

Canadiens led 1-0 after the first period but New York tied it up at 1-1 with a goal in the second frame. In the third, the teams abandoned their close checking of the first two periods, which caused the play to drag, and four goals were scored.

Ex-Canadiens Jacques Plante, in the Ranger nets, had his usual busy night, making 39 saves, 16 in the third period when Montreal came alive.

Little Charlie Hodge, who shut out Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 Wednesday night in Toronto, made 21 saves in the Montreal nets.

Starry Jean Beliveau was kept on the bench by Montreal coach Toe Blake although he skated between periods and was ready to play if summoned. Beliveau hurt his wrist in the Toronto game.

SUMMARY

First period — 1. Montreal, Ferguson 13 (Hicke, Berenson) 13:12. Penalties — Rousseau 2:47, Ingarfield 6:09, Hadfield 9:12.

Second period—2. New York, Ingarfield 11 (Fonteyne, Marshall) 3:15. Penalties—None.

Players Get Suspensions

Gerry Kane, Charlottetown Legionaires and Derrill Pollock, St. Dunstan's Saints, will not play in Sunday junior tilt at The Forum.

League president Al Rogers announced last night that Kane and Pollock had drawn one game suspensions for abuse of the referee in games last Sunday and last Tuesday.

President Rogers stated that the league executive intend to back the referees to the limit and any further displays would be more seriously handled.

Kane and Pollock drew misconduct penalties for their antics.

Black Hawks Edge Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks, clinging to a share of first place in the National Hockey League, defeated Boston Bruins 3-1 Thursday night on a rebound shot by Bill Hay and Glenn Hall's goal tending.

Ab McDonald and Ken Wharram each added a goal and an assist for the Black Hawks, who kept pace with Montreal at the top of the league standings.

Hay scored after an Elmer Vasko shot had been stopped at 14:10 of the first period, giving Chicago a 2-0 lead. The Bruins got one back by Jerry Toppazzini before the opening period ended but that was all they could do against Hall.

SUMMARY

First period—1. Chicago, McDonald 12 (Wharram) 13:02; 2. Chicago, Hay 16 (Vasko, Hull) 14:10; 3. Boston, Toppazzini 3 (Kurtenbach, Kennedy) 16:13. Penalties—Maki and Kennedy 14:03, Nesterenko 19:24.

Tilts Played At O'Leary

The second game of the O'Leary Community Hockey League saw the Cape Wolfe squad blast Knutsford 11-0 at O'Leary rink Tuesday night. About 200 fans watched the one-sided contest.

The second game of the night saw Baglole's Texaco Grease Monkeys battle Mount Royal Farmers to a 3-3 tie.

Keith Shaw was the top goalgetter for Cape Wolfe, sinking three. Erroll Howard, Bill Cooke and Elwood Howard each garnered a pair. Singletons went to Jerry Howard and Ian MacWilliams.

Charlie Vey, Bing Easter and Bush Dumville scored for O'Leary and Alton Silliker and Wayne Livingstone made the red light for the Farmers. Silliker netted two of them.
