Modern Science In Racing Game

By JIM CULLEN

Modern Science has moved into the harness racing game to protect the patrons and promoters from any form of skulduggery that might be dwelling in the minds of some of the men that ride the bikes.

A "Breathalyzer" has been set up at Blue Bonnets, the only one of its kind in Canada, a scientific device designed for the protection of the bettors and the sport itself.

This new device will not pick any winners for the patrons, but will assure that every driver is fully able to steer and rate his speed, and that no sad loser can sensibly declare after a race: "That guy drove like he was loaded."

The "Breathalyzer" can accurately determine, merely by analysing the breath of the person under examination, whether that person's alcoholic intake has rendered him incompetent of driving capably in this game where flying wheels are often inches apart and where an error of judgement could endanger himself, other drivers, other horses, not to mention the fortunes of the patrons.

The instrument, a harmless looking little box with a tube through which the person under examination is asked to breathe has several scientific-looking levers and glasses, one of which gives the answer in colors. The instrument is now authorized by the Canadian Trotting Association.

The "Breathalyzer" will probably not protect the drivers-into teetotalers, but it will certainly be a protection against drinking in the stable area. Some men can drink more than others, but what this device shows is whether a man has had enough to even slightly cloud his faculties.

This device has been in operation at Blue Bonnets for two years and during that time they haven't been obliged to disqualify more than two or three drivers who hadn't made coffee that last one for the road.

Tid Bits From Here And There

Bill Hartack will shoot for the Roses in the Kentucky Derby aboard highly-regarded Bold Lad. Hartack, who has won four of six Derby starts, was named Tuesday to ride Bold Lad, a top-heavy favorite until last Saturday's third-place finish in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct. Hartack won last year's Derby aboard Canada's Northern Dancer.

Sherbrooke Beavers won the Eastern Canada championship in Allan Cup play and a Maritime team, New Glasgow Rangers, this year's Maritime senior champs, were the only team to score a victory over the Quebec titleholders.

Several Teams Eliminated In Cross Canada Car Rally

By CLAUDE HENAUET. WINNIPEG (CP) - Icy roads and three closed sections to test the speed of competitors produced heavy competition Tuesday in the cross-Canada, 4,000-mile rally. The rally is being run for the fifth consecutive year but this is the first time in three years that competitors travelled from Montreal to Vancouver rather than west to east. Almost a third of the competitors who started the rally have been eliminated so far because of tardiness, mechanical failures, accidents or — in one case — "unsportsmanlike conduct."

The 700-mile route between Sudbury Ont., and Port Arthur Driving a Volvo 10, the team has only ten penalty points compared with 90 against Paul McLenan of Toronto and John Wilson of New Dundee, Ont., driving a Mustang. Henry Taylor of England, and Robin Edwards of Fabreville, Que., with their Ford Cortina, were in third place with 100 penalty points. The rally is not a race. Two special sections were set up along the route to be covered Tuesday to trap any competitors who exceeded speed limits.

Up to 600 penalty points can be assessed against a team which goes over the speed limit. Temperatures later changed Tuesday, turning warm and clear as the cars reached Winnipeg — a stopping point along the leg to Regina. DROPS OUT One team dropped out of the start Tuesday because of a damaged suspension. This was Bill Woodward of Spenard, Alaska, a private entry driving a BMW, navigated by Leslie Wildgoose of Anchorage, Alaska. They were in 43rd position with 1,820 penalty points at the end of the second leg. Tuesday's leg—the third longest of the event—requires competitors to cover the 1,000 mile stretch in 21 hours. They also competed in three closed sections. In the closed sections, drivers try for a fast time to avoid penalty points. The time of the fastest car is used as a minimum time and all who fail to meet the minimum are assessed penalties according to the number of seconds by which they trailed. Results of the closed sections were to be announced in Regina at the end of the leg. Ewen Graham of Mississauga, Alta., and Henry Acton of Calgary, driving a Volvo, were in fourth place with 120 points. Tied in fifth place were Eppi Weitzes of Toronto and Eric Macduff of Oakville, Ont., in their Mustang; and Blair Bunch of Montreal and Mike Kerry of Agincourt, Ont., in a Volvo. In the manufacturers' category, the Ford Mustang team had the best score with 410 points. Volvo was second with 450 and Chevrolet third with 520 points. There are three cars in each manufacturers' team.

Lady Golfer Has Problems

NEW YORK (AP) - Margie Masters, the first Australian to take a fling at the women's professional golf tour, is finding it hard to adjust to three things — American beer, American men and American caddies. She thinks the beer and the men are terrific. The caddies, particularly in the south, leave her in a state of complete confusion. "I can't understand a word they say," the comely Melbourne miss said Tuesday when she was introduced to the New York press. "And I never know what's going to happen next. One of my caddies turned up with a bandage on his right hand. He said he was cut up in a knife fight. Another called from the city jail and asked if I would so his $700 bond. I got another caddy."
