THE DAILY EXAMINER

OCTOBER 11, 1897.
GENERAL WEYLER HONORED.

Twenty Thousand People And Several Bands Participate In Affair.

HAVANA, Oct. 8.—In spite of Captain-General Weyler's prohibition a notable demonstration took place here today in his honor. The house was closed, as were also the principal stores and tobacco and other manufacturers. All the main streets were fully decorated. The various processions united at Central Park, and then moved together to the plaza in front of the captain-general's palace, where as many as 20,000 people were gathered. Several bands discoursed patriotic music. The plaza and the thoroughfares leading into it were densely crowded. A number of deputations went to the palace, where they were received by the general. According to the official accounts, they assured him that it was the desire of all loyal inhabitants of the island that he should continue at the head of the government, and carry on the campaign against the insurgents. They also expressed confidence that the Madrid government was inspired with altogether too high designs for the welfare of the country to withdraw the illustrious chief, who had subjugated the insurgents.

Captain-General Weyler, after thanking the deputations for their assurances, said he had accepted the command in difficult circumstances, and without conditions. The success of the campaign could be estimated and properly appreciated by the country from the visible facts.

In the course of seven months four provinces had been nearly pacified, and he was confident of being able to pacify the two remaining provinces at the proper time with the forty battalions ready for the work. He said he expected to be able to leave Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba at an early date.

HE SCORE 400,000.

Most remarkable swindle in the Criminal Annals of the United States.

NEW YORK, October 7.—The police have in their custody a prisoner, who, full the charges against him are true, is one of the most remarkable swindlers in the criminal annals of this country. According to Chief Detective McClusky, his depredations amount to nearly, if not over, $400,000, and extend all over the United States. His name is Emmett B. Gibson. He is of middle age, and bears the alias of George A. Siering. He claims that he is a lawyer by profession, a railroad promoter by choice, was at one time a judge in the state of Ohio, and is vice-president of the Akron, Ohio, Street Railway. The complaint against him is H. H. Simson, auditor for the Hotel Netherland and Imperial hotel, of this city, and Hotel Alton of Philadelphia. The specific complaint against him is the laying down of a bogus

Fifty Years Ago.

Who could imagine that this should be the place where, in eighteen ninety-three That white world-wonder of arch and dome Should shadow the nations, polychrome... have, from the time of their preparation, been a continuous success with the public. And that means that Ayer's Pills accomplish what is promised for them; they cure where others fail. It was fitting, therefore, that the world-wide popularity of these pills should be recognized by the World's Fair medal of 1893—a fact which emphasizes the record:

check for $640, on August 26th, 1896, and defrauding the Hotel Imperial, of this city, of that amount, in addition to failing to pay a hotel bill of $265. He is accused of having laid down bogus checks, floated bogus stocks, worthless bonds, and carried on general swindling operations for a period extending back four years, and that in that time he has succeeded in obtaining, by means of various frauds and devices, a sum not far from $400,000.

WINKS AT WOMEN.

Your rival nearly always has dimples. A woman's call has a postscript, the same as her letters.

The real treasure of a home is the woman with an aptitude for finding articles that are lost.

When a doctor calls on a sick man, his wife always has a private consultation with him outside.

This world will not be entirely satisfactory to the women until some man has given birth to a baby.

When a woman is anxious about her husband, there is a glimmer in her eye that does not show at any other time.

When a woman gets a little money ahead, instead of spending it on the spare bedroom.

A woman feels that she has treated all her neighbors justly if she never tried to get their hired girls away from them.

Every woman, according to the story she tells to her second husband, was forced into her first marriage by the wishes of her parents.—Aitchison Globe.

Size For Size.

The company of one of the opera houses, at the close of a London season, had arrived at Liverpool to embark for a continental tour. The musical instruments were being shipped with the rest, and among them was the double bass, or "big fiddle," as it is also called, not cased as usual, for this member of the string family will stand a little rough treatment.

It soon attracted the attention of the jack tars, three or four of whom settled round, scrutinizing it with keen interest. By the order of an officer they soon dispersed, but not long afterward another bluff seaman was discovered secretly watching it with wondering eyes. He was asked his reason for standing thus idle.

"Well, yer know," said Jack, "I'm just waiting for to see the length of the fiddle's arm that can play that three fiddle."—Musical Anecdotes.

Nature's Rattleboxes.

Near New Brunswick, N. J., says Minerals, are found hollow balls, or masses, of yellow iron ore which contain loose particles that rattle, when shaken, like the contents of a child's rattlebox. It is thought that when the concretions of ore were formed the central parts consisted principally of some material which afterward dissolved away, so that the interior space now contains only fragments of ore and sand. When these balls are broken, the fractured edges sometimes show beautiful bands of red and yellow.

The Good Out of It.

Landlady—I believe in letting coffee boil for 20 minutes; that's the only way to get the goodness out of it.

New Boarder (tasting his and leaving it)—You succeeded admirably, ma'am.—Venezol Post.

The Great Falls of the Manito.

This cataraet, two miles from the mouth, is noteworthy even in a land of waterfalls. If it were accessible, it would be much visited. The whole river, as wide as the Potomac at Harper's Ferry, but of much greater volume, plunges over a precipice 113 feet high. The surrounding cliffs are covered with the fir and spruce which mostly constitute these endless forests. The tumult of the water in the gorge below is such that a canoe cannot approach very near. There is no path or trail over the thickly overgrown rocks, and the rage of the plunging river must be conquered before the truly majestic beauty of the virgin fastness may be beheld. The roar of the fall can be heard long before one approaches it, though the rising spray may be seen from a considerable distance out in the gulf.—Frederic Irland in Scribner's.

Oyster Instinct.

Oysters, after they have been brought away from the sea, know by instinct the exact hour when the tide is rising and approaching their beds, and so, of their own accord, open their shells to receive their food from the sea as if they were still at home.

The Roentgen rays have a new sphere of usefulness. By their aid chalk can be detected in flour, brick dust in cayenne pepper, sand in spices and many other similar sophistications.

The difficulty of registering the temperature at the bottom of the ocean is due to the fact that at a great depth the thermometer is crushed by the pressure.

Dabsley—Well, I suppose your son will soon begin his last year in college?

Parks—No, he isn't going back this fall.

Dabsley—Oh, that's too bad! He ought to go through now that he's got along to the last year. What's the matter?

Parks—Why, didn't you know that he had had a fever and that his hair had all come out?—Cleveland Leader.

Plutoeracy.

She—Our neighbors in that villa are evidently very rich people.

He—Why?

She—Only consider. They have five grown up daughters, all unmarried, they give no parties, don't go to any of the hops, don't appear on the board walk when the band plays and, moreover, wear the plainest clothes imaginable.—St. Petersburg Shute.

A Short Time Hence.

Citizen—By the way, I have been told that the Klondike gold is not worth so much to the ounce as some other brands.

Returned Klondiker—I couldn't say as to that. We never measured by less than a ton. I ain't no idea as to ounce values.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Teacher—You must always return good for evil, you know. Now, if a naughty boy called you bad names or threw stones at you, what would you do?

Pupil—How big did you say that boy was?—Boston Transcript.

An Unexpected Answer.

Mrs. Schussman (at a summer resort)—Gottlieb, the paper says that the natives of the Sandwich Islands pay about $5 for a wife.

Professor Schussman (absent minded)—Hum, hm! So much, Jenny?—Echo.

The String.

"He may not always be rich. The estate he inherits has a string to it."

"No!"

"Yes. A string of race horses."—Detroit Journal.

Just the Reverse.

"Are you in pain, my little man?" asked the kind old gentleman.

"No," answered the boy. "The pain's in me."—Indianapolis Journal.

Almost an Angel.

Alkali Ike—Did you make an angel of that enemy of yours?
Cactus Pete—Well, I winged him.—New York Journal.

There are many thousands of wise women in this country who, when they found that they were suffering from weakness or disease of their distinctly womanly organisms, promptly wrote to an eminent and skillful physician, with a world-wide reputation, instead of trusting their cases to some obscure physician with but limited practice and experience. There are many reasons why a wise woman follows this course. The chances are that an obscure physician of small practice will not diagnose troubles of this nature properly. If he does, he will insist on the obnoxious examinations and local treatment from which every sensitive, modest woman shrinks. The specialist referred to is Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Thirty years ago he discovered a wonderful medicine for diseases peculiar to women, that may be used effectively in the privacy of the home, and does away with all necessity for examinations and local treatment. This medicine is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the nerves. Taken during the period of prospective maternity, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. Over ninety thousand women have testified to its marvelous merits. Medicine dealers sell it. It is a druggist's business to give you, not to tell you, what you want. Any willing woman may write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and get free advice. By enclosing 31 one-cent stamps in her letter, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, she may secure a paper-covered copy of the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." Cloth bound, 50 stamps.
