STUDENTS CONSIDER OTTAWA MARCH

Ottawa University students, Remy Beauregard, president of the Ontario French Youth Association and David Casey, student union president, look over plans for a march on Ottawa City Hall Friday to protest remarks made by Mayor Whitton earlier this week. The mayor told city council that Ottawa could not have traffic signs in both French and English until Ontario passed legislation permitting it. (CP Wirephoto).

STERNS WEBSTER

an important safety message from Chief Webster:

Once again the festive season is approaching and with it comes all the hazards of winter driving. Failure of some motorists, and even pedestrians, to take adequate notice of these winter conditions has resulted in many accidents.

During this time of year, with the weather so unpredictable, our visibility becomes greatly reduced; breaking distance is naturally increased and we must always be on the lookout for pedestrians who do not wait for the green light or who do not walk on the crosswalks.

The driver behind the wheel cannot afford to relax his vigilance for a moment. He must always be alert and safety-minded. So why don't all of you consider these threats. Have your vehicle in tip top shape for the winter months ahead. Check your lights, brakes, tires and exhaust system.

Obey all the traffic signs and signals—they are for your protection.
