Mistake in Discipline. 1. It is a mistake to try and teach with out good order. A prime condition of successful school work is the undivided attention of pupil and teacher to the work in hand.

It is a mistake to suppose that "good order" means perfect quiet. The order of a successful school is the order of an earnest, active community, steadily, quietly and cheerfully engaged in the pursuit of legitimate business.

It is a mistake to call for order in general terms, and to hedge the conduct of children with numerous rules. Children usually cannot be attended with a same noise. The order of life, not of death, is what is wanted.

It is a mistake to be too demonstrative in maintaining order. Control, as far as possible, without seeming to control. Do not be the most self-control person in the school in your efforts to maintain order.

It is a mistake to be satisfied with order that continues only while the teacher is present. He who preserves the peace only when under the immediate observation of the police is not usually considered a model citizen.

Some Things We Are Going to Try. 1. To have brighter, shorter opening exercises which shall give the key-note for the day.

2. To omit calling the roll. It takes valuable time and is of fading benefit. 3. To select a subject for the day, ever before, distinct articulation in reading.

4. To insist upon erect postures. Position of body so influences attitude of mind that we cannot emphasize it too much.

5. To be so courteous to our pupils under all circumstances that they cannot fail to catch a little of our manner and bearing.

6. To realize more deeply than ever the value of nature studies, and to put ourselves in such an attitude toward the work that in it we may gain the real results in aroused enthusiasm, deepened interest, and a broader love for the Maker of all.

7. To read outside of the textbooks prescribed for our grade. By that reading we hope to get a knowledge of the subject beyond our grade, knowledge of books which will help us to guide our pupils' reading, or if they are too small to read, knowledge and enthusiasm for the world's great thoughts, which in turn we may give to the little children.

8. To remember that a year in which we do not grow, intellectually and spiritually, is a lost year.—Elizabeth Share, in American Teacher.

Dr. McIlvray, of Sydney, C. B., says: "I unhesitatingly offer my testimony in favor of Putner's Emulsion. I have used it extensively for a number of years with the most satisfactory results. In wasting diseases of children it has no equal."

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil.

Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all cases of colic, diarrhoea, and other ailments of the young.
