Education Week Marked In Peakes

..*On Wednesday afternoon, March 10, there was "Open House" at St. Teresa's School, Peakes. A number of parents and ratepayers took advantage of this invitation to visit their school, to see some classes in progress and examine their children's school work.

In the senior classrooms the Grade X pupils had a debate on the topic: Resolved that the radio is more useful than the telephone. The speakers on the pro side were Helen Trainor, Anna Evans, and Mary Curran, while Basil Gillan, Gerard Trainor, and Urbie Bradley supported the negative side of this resolution. Reverend J. B. Croken, Reverend Mother Mary Teresa, and Mrs. Adrian Bradley acted as judges and decided that the pro side had five extra points in their favor.

Then the parents saw the pupils conduct a meeting. During this meeting, the students presented a one-act play, and Marcella Trainor gave a reading. Singing concluded the entertainment part of the meeting.

There was a display of pupils' art work, penmanship and printing. Reverend J. B. Croken spoke briefly on the value of the public speaking class. He congratulated the studetns who had won prizes in the Provincial Poster Contest, which was judged by Miss Eleanor Lowe of Prince of Wales College, and encouraged them to continue their efforts in all these important activities.

In the primary room, the parents enjoyed a short program which included reciting, singing and a short play. Reverend Father Croken, Sister Joseph Noreen and Mr. Joseph Lawlor judged the handwriting displayed at the back of the room. In group one, Lena McCarthy received the award, while Josephine Campbell was awarded the prize in group two.

Helen Coffin was appointed to look after transportation of pupils to musical festival. It was decided that the room having the most parents on visitors' day during Education Week be given a small reward.

New Housing Program Given Final Approval

OTTAWA, (CP) — The government's housing program received final parliamentary approval Thursday after an opposition senator expressed disappointment that his leader did not try to amend it.

Senator R. B. Horner (PC — Saskatchewan) said he had expected Senator John T. Haig to try to change the bill, particularly since Senator Haig criticized the bill during debate.

Senator Haig replied that he still opposes the bill for bringing the banks into mortgage lending on real estate and for attempting to do something which it won't be able to do. He said the assurances given a Senate committee Wednesday on the foreclosure sections immensely improved the measure.

Solicitor - General Macdonald government leader, said he is not entering the controversy between Senators Horner and Haig but he wants it clearly understood that the savings of Canadians loaned by the banks on mortgages will have the best possible securtiy — the security of the Dominion of Canada.

Senator Horner said he opposes the principle of housing legislation. He wished he could be convinced that all the children who came from mansions turned out well and those who came from crowded log cabins turned out poorly.

Contrary Evidence

Actually the evidence was to the contrary — those who came from the small homes turned out best.

Senator Haig referred to explanations given Wednesday by D. B. Mansur president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to a Senate committee studying the bill in detail.

Mr. Mansur said chartered banks could carry a mortgage which falls into arrears and later collect 98 per cent of the amount loaned plus a maximum of 18 months interest owing. On mortgages which banks foreclosed the banks need only state within 30 days whether it planned to claim the insurance on the loan or to give up the insurance and retain the property. Foreclosure proceeding — usually lengthy — did not have to be completed in the 30-day period.

This clarification, said Senator Haig, removed part of the banks' objections to acting as mortgage lenders on real estate. It improved the mechanics of the bill.

First Kings Member Sees Bright Future For Souris And Fishing Industry

"I feel that within ten years Souris will be known as the Gloucester of the Maritimes," stated Mr. William Acorn, Liberal Third King's in the Legislature last night as he took part in the debate on the Draft Address.

Mr. Acorn was speaking of the development in the fishing industry in the Eastern section of the Province when he made the promising prediction for Souris.

He stated that a fleet of eight draggers operated out of Souris last year. "Two of them started the season early and by the end of the year they had each landed over 5,000,000 pounds of fish. Those fish averaged 3.16 cents per pounds with the result that each boat earned about $31,600 for the year, stated Mr. Acorn.

"The average price in 1952 was 3.57 cents," he stated. He predicted that this year on the over-all picture the price of fish would be increasd about one cent over last year's price.

"The reason is that the fish holdings in the storage plants in Canada and the United States are far less than they were this time last year and there is more competition in the Maritimes especially among the plants in the filleting business," he stated.

He noted that there was a new filleting plant at Souris and told the members about a new process that was being carried out in the United States with fresh frozen fillets.

"They are putting up what is known as fish steaks and selling them to the trade in cellophane packs labelled 'Heat and Eat'," he stated. "This industry has only opened in the New England States and the market is so great that they are afraid to go into the New York area."

He stated that during the past two weeks a firm in Charlottetown had imported a few samples of fish steaks from the U.S.A. and were selling them at $1.29 a pound. The same fish here would cost about 10 cents a pound, he stated.

Mr. Acorn stated that refrigeration and cold storage was revolutionizing the fishing industry and it could do the same thing for agriculture.

"If there is any development to be done in the processing of berries and fish the first step to be taken is the construction of cold storage holdings. That means money, and financing and I have a proposal for the Government to get that money.

"I submit that this Province issue Industrial Development Bonds. We need two or three million dollars to operate these proposed industries. The Government might see its way fit to pay four per cent interest on the bonds and could possibly re-loan some of the money at six per cent," he stated. "The main thing is to have the money available."

Mr. Acorn also suggested that the Province should have a brewery of its own. "We give thousands of dollars to other Provinces when we import beer so why shouldn't we build a plant and keep that money on the Island," he stated.

He commended the Premier for his rural electrification program and asked that electrification be provided from Elmira to North Lake and from the Souris Line Road to Harmony Junction.

Mr. Acorn thanked the Minister of Public Works and Highways for road work that had been done in his District and reminded the Minister that he was looking forward to a start on the laying of pavement from Souris to Elmira.

In his opening remarks he noted that the tourist business was a rapidly growing industry. "With the proper accommodations and pavement the day is coming when Prince Edward Island will get its full share of the tourist dollars," he stated.

"However, Kings County might be somewhat behind the other two Counties as they are getting the Trans Canada Highway, but, given a paved road from Wood Islands to East Point and more cabins we would get our fair share of the business," he concluded

Warns Canadian Shipping Costs Must Be Cut

MONTREAL, (CP) — A warning to shipping men that Canadian shipping operations are unsatisfactory and that costs must be cut for survival has come from the Shipping Federation of Canada.

The warning came Wednesday from Federation president J. P. Boyle in his address to the annual meeting.

General cargo exports from Canadian ports last year were disappointing and "in view of the fact that general cargo exports and imports are those in which regular liner services must mainly depend, the year's operations cannot be described as other than unsatisfactory."

Costs also had increased in the face of falling revenue.

"Wages on shipboard and ashore continued to rise and in most other items of expenditure, the trend also was upward. It must surely be apparent that if steamship companies are to continue the maintenance of regular services essential to Canadian trade, this continued increase in operating costs must be curbed."

A seamen's strike on Canadian deep-sea vessels last fall was an "ill-advised action" that immobilized Canadian ships and resulted in "a further crippling of the remaining Canadian deep-sea merchant fleet and the sale or transfer of more Canadian flag vessels."

Kings County Member Pays Tribute To SDU

The following tribute to St. Dunstan's University was made by Mr. John A. MacDonald, Conservative Third Kings, in the Legislature last night. Mr. MacDonald is the only graduate of S.D.U. presently occupying a seat in the House.

"As a graduate of St. Dunstan's, it gives me much pleasure to extend my congratulations, along with those of the previous speakers, to my Alma Mater on her celebration of 100 brilliant years in the educational field of this Province and of our Dominion.

"Actually the beginning of the University took place 126 years ago with the founding of St. Andrew's College under Bishop MacEachern. Later St. Dunstan's College was set up on the present location where it has been operating since Sept. 1854.

"Since that time it has turned out a long succession of eminent men, and during the past few years, of women, who have taken their place among the outstanding citizens in all walks of life of this country. Her contribution to the members of the clergy has been particularly outstanding.

"During those years she has carried on under many difficulties, without government assistance, and probably could not have done so without exceptional sacrifice on the part of her staff and on the part of the parents who sent their sons to St. Dunstan's.

"It has been well said that in effect the influence of a college on its students is often dependent on the length and breadth of the shadow of one man — its head. In this St. Dunstan's has been most fortunate in being directed by men of exceptional ability in the educational field.

"The ideal of its first rector Father Angus MacDonald to make St. Dunstan's "revered at home and respected abroad" has been well fulfilled. She has never deviated from the concept of education as that which should take in the whole scope of human life, physical and spiritual, intellectual and moral to develop a full Christian character.

"Our Province owes a great debt of gratitude to this great institution. As one of its alumni many of us owe much of what we are or may be and pay humble and affectionate tribute to her greatness. We wish her many, many more years of the same success she has achieved in the past."

Provincial Problems Discussed By Member From Third Kings Dis.

Major John A. MacDonald

The needs for a marketing expert in the Department of Agriculture, a causeway at Cardigan to replace the present bridge and better transportation at Wood Islands were among the points stressed by Mr. John A. MacDonald, Third King's in speaking on the Draft Address debate in the Legislature last night.

Mr. MacDonald also suggested that the Government should alter its rural electrification program to give more assistance to the needy districts. He pointed out that some districts because of their situation would need more help than others and that as a result the Maritime Electric Company would first look after the districts where they could make the most profit.

He congratulated the Minister of Public Works and Highways for building the new bridge at Montague and stated that it had been a vast improvement over the old structure. The Third King's Member then stated that the bridge at Cardigan had been built in the same year as the old one in Montague—1912 and that it was now in a bad state of disrepair.

"It was condemned before the war but was patched up and fixed and is now in a very serious condition. It might be expedient to replace it with a causeway. If this were done it would beautify the village to a great extent and make the centre a tourist attraction," he stated.

Mr. MacDonald stated that he hoped the Minister would pave the Seven Mile Road from Cardigan to Dundas this year. "This road carries a great deal of heavy traffic and it would be a wonderful thing for the people in that area if it were paved," he stated.

Need Sub-Grading

He said that the following roads needed to be sub-graded and he asked that they be attended to this year: Albion Cross to Dingwell's Mills; Dundas Corner to the Provincial Plowing Match Grounds; and Martinvale to Bangor.

With regard to snow removal on the highways he stated that work was a little late getting underway this past year and that the machines were having an unusual number of breakdowns. He spoke about a lack of cordination among the despatchers as the rsult of poor organization over the zones of authority.

"Marketing seems to be our big problem in agriculture and I hope the Department will do something about it," he stated. We need a marketing expert here the same as they have in Nova Scotia. Last year in Nova Scotia they spent $60.000 in regard to the marketing problem."

"I feel that the Agricultural Department should give some advice to the farmers but do not agree that it should formulate the whole policy. However, people look to the Department for some direction because the ordinary farmer has not the time to study the market trends.

"I understand that the P.E.I. Plowing Match may become a Class B Exhibition and I would ask the Government to give it its whole-hearted support," he stated.

He also advocated more support for those taking short courses at the Vocational School and for the 4-H Clubs. He suggested that the 4-H Clubs be given more space at the Provincial Exhibition and other fairs.

Supeaking of the tourist industry he stated "We must realize that the tourist industry is quite a profitable enterprize for the Province. Our accommodations are strained at certain times of the year and I believe a lot of the tourists would like to go to our farm homes in the country.

"Around 90,000 tourists visited the Province last year," he stated. "We should all do our part to encourage the industry and encourage people to come here. When they do come everyone should treat them with the utmost courtesy."

"There has been a great deal of controversy over education," he stated. "It seems to me that over a period of years the three R's have been giving way to the three F's of frills, fads and fancy. We are getting away from the old methods and we don't seem to have improved our educational standards but rather to have slipped back.

"In general I don't think that we are spending enough on education. The quality of teachers is not good enough. We should pay higher salaries and keep the best teachers in the profession.

He congratulated the Minister on the construction of a fine school at Montague and stated that it was a pleasure to be present at the opening ceremonies last fall.

"It is unfortunate that our costs for electricity are so high," he stated. "I am afraid that the Maritime Electric Company will go into the more profitable fields immediately and I think that the Government should give more consideration to those areas which will need the most assistance. The Maritime Electric could go into these lines on their own.

"When the electric rates were raised the last time, we in the country felt discriminated against, as we were forced to pay more while those in the City were not. As a result of the increase in the service charges in the schools and halls a number of schools were forced to go without electricity," he stated. He said that the same thing applied to the churches in the country.

Mr. MacDonald hoped that the fishermen would have a good season and that they would not suffer the losses they incurred last year due to storms. He suggested that the new lobster traps with specially treated steel rods might be the answer to these storm losses.

He asked for more assistance for the smaller hospitals and agreed with Dr. Lorne Bonnell that the name of Falconwood Hospital should be changed. Mr. MacDonald expressed the hope that the practise of leasing fishing ponds would be discontinued otherwise the tourists would soon be shutout from fishing and he asked that uniform legislation be introduced in regard to Mothers Allowances.
