Sees Business Prospects Good

MONTREAL, Sept. 4 — Business is no longer "as usual", comments the Bank of Montreal, analyzing in its latest Business Review the economic implications for Canada of the Korean war. The B. of M. concludes that, with the country already close to top productive capacity, economic mobilization, although partial and gradual, will bring many new problems.

Stressing the free world's "sharpened realization of the urgent need to expedite and expand military preparedness generally," the bank then reviews the "disclosed facts" of Canada's actions in the Korean theatre, in army recruiting, and in re-armament.

"Probably of greater significance than the domestic defence program, however, will be the demands on Canada's productive resources arising out of this country's international commitments and its position in the larger economy of North America and the world. Under the North Atlantic Treaty, Canada may undertake to furnish military aid to Europe. In any case, it is contemplated that part of the funds appropriated by the United States for that purpose will be spent in this country. In addition, some of the U. S. Government's own defence requirements will be procured in Canada under a reciprocal purchasing agreement that went into effect at the beginning of July."

Involvement Inevitable

Whatever specific details emerge later, the review emphasizes that it would appear inevitable that Canada, a major world source of strategic materials and an important potential producer of military items, will be drawn into international developments. "This prospect is already being reflected in the pulse of the Canadian economy. Business is no longer as 'usual.' The economic environment which, up to June 24, had been one of current and prospective peacetime boom, was changed overnight into one of anxious reappraisal of position in the face of contingencies that are the more ominous in that they cannot be clearly foreseen."

Stating that "in the shadow of armed conflict", defence requirements are "imperative and inexorable," the B of M asks how much reserve capacity there is in the Canadian economy. Industrially, the physical volume of total production this year was flowing at a rate 84 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1939. Output of many strategic items is higher than at the height of hostilities, although "some leeway" for expansion exists in others. Agriculturally, cattle and hog slaughtering and the output of dairy products have been considerably lower. An official forecast of field crops offers promise of the most bountiful harvest since 1942. Manpower cannot be augmented much with only two and a half per cent of the labour force unemployed. "Alternative possibilities lie in attracting into employment some of the four and a half million persons of working age who are currently neither gainfully employed nor seeking work."

Will Pose Problems

Noting that demand for available goods and services was already increasing before the Korean war, the B of M thinks it reasonable to expect that some justified re-stocking of raw materials had added further to demand during the past two months. The persistent rise in general price-levels during 1950's first six months also gave evidence of the inadequacy of supply to offset demand.

"To sum up what, at this stage, is necessarily a very tentative appraisal, it seems evident that the Canadian economy in the first half of 1950 was already operating at close to the limit of capacity. Economic mobilization, although partial in extent and gradual in incidence, will superimpose on this already tight situation a critical margin of demand that will give rise to manifold new problems."

Butter In Storage

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP) — Holdings of butter increased in some centres during August, but generally were down from last year's stocks, the Bureau of Statistics reported.

Stocks in nine cities at Aug. 25 totalled 48,019,000 pounds, a decline of 1,398,000 pounds or three per cent below last year's 49,417,000.

Financing Of Retail Instalment Sales Expands

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP)— Financing of retail instalment sales expanded sharply last year, the Bureau of Statistics announced.

In a report of the year's activities, the Bureau said sales finance and acceptance companies increased their financing business by 37 per cent over 1948, mainly due to a rise in the financing of consumers' goods. There was a 42-per-cent increase in outstanding balances at the end of the year.

The Bureau's report was gained from 104 companies, engaged in the purchase or discounting of notes receivable arising from retail instalment sales.

It showed total retail financing of $284,730,000 in 1949, compared with $208,166,000 reported by 94 companies for 1948. Balances outstanding at the end of the year totalled $184,063,000, compared with $130,120,000.

Consumers' goods — including new and used passenger motor cars—were financed to the extent of $190,574,000 in 1949, accounting for 66.9 per cent of all retail financing.

In the preceding year, the total for consumers' goods was $122,522,000, or 58.9 per cent of the over-all financing. Balances outstanding on consumers' goods at the end of 1949 were $115,977,000, compared with $70,451,000.

There were increases in all Provinces in the values of paper purchased during 1949, Ontario's total rising from $87,601,000 to $119,546,000; Quebec from $45,617,000 to $59,083,000; British Columbia from $24,240,000 to $28,487,000; Alberta from $18,749,000 to $28,712,000; the Maritime Provinces from $14,993,000 to $24,226,000; Manitoba from $10,036,000 to $12,373,000; Saskatchewan from $6,930,000 to $11,925,000.

Confident U. N. Offensive Near

By Lionel Hudson

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Sept. 2 —(Reuters) — There is a growing feeling among United Nations forces that they are about ready to hit back hard at the Communists. They talk of a "back to Seoul week."

More men and materials are needed, but there is confidence that they are on the way. Arrival of British troops has boosted this confidence tremendously.

American officers say they have seen growing confidence everywhere in the ability of U. N. forces to break out of the defence "box" in Southern Korea.

During the early stages of the battle—when American and South Korean troops were falling back—the combined air forces were used desperately as "airborne artillery."

But in recent weeks more and more fighter bombers have been taken off army support targets to join the medium and heavy bombers in their role of softening up behind the battlefield.

They have been ruthlessly hitting roads, railroads, supplies and troops. Air Force strategists say that their part in the preparation for the big push is already well under way.

Meanwhile, at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters lights burn through the night. Planners and field officers work in blacked-out schools, houses, racecourse buildings, and tents, piecing out details of the drive north.

Most observers agree that there is an alternative plan to deal with the situation if the Chinese Communists or Russians send troops across the Korean border.

But the immediate task is to clear the Communists out of South Korea.

Kremlin Takes Over Control Of West German Reds

FRANKFURT, Sept. 2 — (AP) — Stalin's trusted lieutenants in Eastern Germany have grabbed control of West Germany's Communists from gaunt, gray-faced Max Reimann.

Allied officials here say the Politburo of the East German Socialist Unity (Communist) Party now is running the West German Communists with an iron grip.

The Kremlin has directed the East-German leaders to mastermind the new Communist resistance program against the Western Allies, these officials said.

A cadre of trusted Communists, infiltrating into Western Germany from the East, have booted out 100 or more old-time Communist functionaries and taken their posts.

Reimann, boss of West German Communists since 1945, has been allowed to stay on as chairman in name — for the time being.

Allied officials here believe that Reimann's fall from grace began with the 1949 elections to name the first Parliament of the new West German Federal Republic. Despite a noisy campaign and boastful claims, Reimann's Communists elected only 15 members to the 403-member Parliament.

Since then Communist strength in West Germany has withered.

Famous Loch Ness "Monster" Has Reappeared

Sept. 2 — (Reuters) — Scotland's Sept. 1— (Reuters) — Scotland's famous Loch Ness monster, which has been maintaining coy seclusion since before the Second World War, obligingly re-materialized this week for the benefit of tourists.

A party of 15 tourists here claimed excitedly that they "watched" the fabulous marine curiosity. Some boast they photographed him, but that the negatives did not turn out.

They said the monster was spotted, "somewhere near Urquhart Castle," on the lochside, "putting up a great foam and travelling fast."

But their descriptions, if accurate, suggest that the monster has shrunk and has swapped his original reputed 30 feet and "eyes like car headlights" for a drab utility garb.

For, apart from the fact that "his head was well out of the water", the latest reports of the monster are lacking in the hair-raising detail associated with his former manifestations.

Local wiseacres here have a fund of tales of the monster, who by repute has a head shaped like a snake and as big as a horse's, with a long neck.

In full seagoing trim he also has flippers, his general shape vaguely reminiscent of a camel.

Memories are being revived of the fantastically huge black mass which, careening at high speed and thrashing the loch's placid waters to foam, (as the story goes) provided a nine-day wonder every season before the war.

East German Reds Purged

BERLIN, Sept. 1—(AP) —Six high officials of the East-German Communist regime, including the deputy to propaganda chief Gerhart Eisler, were reported under arrest tonight after banishment from the Red-ruled Socialist Unity Party for anti-Sovietism.

Berlin speculated that Eisler, himself, may be next on the purge list. Eisler lost his place on the central committee of the party in a recent shake-up. But the pudgy international revolutionary, a fugitive from American justice, was still reported at liberty.

Walter Ulbricht, former Moscow expatriate who now is East-German deputy chancellor and secretary-general of the party, accused the veteran Red comrades of post-war connections with "American spy Noel H. Field" and forming a "nest of class enemies" inside the party hierarchy.

All were charged with "lacking trust in the Soviet Union as the leading progressive force, in which no doubt is possible."

Reliable information indicated that the six who were banished had been jailed by the Soviet-zone Ministry of State Security in advance of the purge announcement today.

RALLY OF CLANS

EDINBURGH, Sept. 1 — (CP) — The greatest display of flashing kilts and skirling bagpipes in history is planned here next summer. The occasion will be a gathering of all the Scottish clans for a rally as part of the 1951 Festival of Britain. Pipe bands from Canada and the United States have been invited.

Shipping Strike On West Coast Ends

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1—(CP)— Union and company officials announced today an end to the west-coast shipping strike. A company spokesman said ships would be moving late tonight.

The new contract was to be signed late today.

Basis for the settlement between the Seafarers' International Union (A. F. L.) and British Columbia's three major steamship lines was similar to that which ended the rail strike earlier this week.

Yesterday, the union turned down an offer by Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Union Steamships which was based directly on the rail strike settlement plan.

It was understood the companies today had made a number of other concessions but basis of the new contract was fundamentally the same as proposed yesterday.

Says West Coast Wide Open To Russian Attack

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC—Nanaimo) charged tonight that Canada is wide open to Russian attack and said that attack could be of far greater magnitude than the diversionary raids the Government says are the only logical threat to this country.

Gen. Pearkes, wartime Pacific coast commander, said in the Commons that the dispatch of three destroyers to Korea left British Columbia with three jet planes and one training ship, the cruiser Ontario, to protect its long shoreline.

There was no American fleet, there was nothing to prevent the Russians from landing a force, say, at Prince Rupert before any effective strength could be marshalled against them.

The military spokesman for the official Opposition said, too:

1. Canada, in the slowness of her Korean effort, lost the chance for world leadership. She had delayed nearly a month after the call for ground troops and then raised a "new Kitchener's army," a "conglomeration" of men from the streets and reserve units that would probably not be ready before the war ended or, at the best, in time for the victory parade.

2. Defence Minister Claxton, in his speech yesterday, "skated around" the "pathetic" appeal by Canada's greatest ally, the United States, for troops quickly.

3. Statements by the Government that Canada's defence policy did not envisage having troops for immediate overseas service did not agree with Mr. Claxton's statements in 1949 that Canada was planning with her allies for mutual aid in emergency.

4. The training of the army's regular airborne brigade was being misrepresented to the public. It had never had any formation training. If war came, it would have to be thrown into action piecemeal.

5. Reserve army units were sent to summer training camps with as few as five to 10 per cent of their establishments. This was a waste of money. It would be better to train the few men at corps schools. The reserve army was undermanned because Government statements had encouraged complacency.
