Zion Young People's Society Christmas Party

On Tuesday evening, December 4, Zion Young People's Society held its annual Christmas Party. A Christmas worship service opened the meeting; this consisted of the Christmas story and Carol singing. Participants were Arlene Larter, Jean Munro, Marguerite MacDonald, Elizabeth Gill, Anna MacMillan, Judy Millar, Roberta Shaw and Fay Hixox. The theme of the worship period was a consideration of life if Christ had not come. The president Arlene Larter conducted a short business period. After the business meeting the young people adjourned to the lower hall for Christmas sing-song which lasted until the arrival of Santa Claus. After Santa Claus had given out presents to all the young people, Roberta Shaw, Fay Hixox and Elizabeth Gill led a games period. The social committee provided a delicious lunch. The singing of Best Be The Tie That Binds closed the meeting.

Through an error the Guardian last Thursday published a Breeze Detergent advertisement which offered new king size Breeze at 16 cents off the regular price. This special price on Breeze was offered only during the introductory period last July. The Guardian regrets any inconvenience this may have caused Breeze customers and directs their attention to the advertisement on page 15.
