

MR. AND MRS. K. R. GRAHAM AND ATTENDANTS

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Happy Couple

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Baptist Church, Dundas, Prince Edward Island, on June 7th, when Miriam Florence, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Matheson was united in marriage with Keith Russel, only son of Mr. Russel Graham and the late Mrs. Graham, Lachute, Que.

Rev. Harold Mitton, pastor of the Charlottetown United Baptist Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony with Mrs. John MacRae, Cherry Valley at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of white pure silk organza fashioned with a fitted bodice having a draped decollete neckline with appliques of gipure lace trimmed with brilliants, and the long sleeves ending in points over the hands.

The bouffant skirt fell, from an elongated waistline applied with lace, into a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crowned shaped demi-cap, draped with tulle and trimmed with seed pearls and diamante. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white carnations and lily-of-the-valley centered with a pink carnation.

Miss Virginia Matheson acted as maid of honor for her sister, and Misses Carolyn and Deborah Wood, Alexandra, acted as junior bridesmaids.

The three attendants were attired in similar gowns of blue frosted nylon sheer over taffeta fashioned in princess lines with cummerbunds of pink chiffon, which fell softly to the hemline. They wore matching headresses and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Mervin Cowley, Brownsburg, Quebec, acted as groomsmen and the ushers were Mr.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Home Is Where Heart Is Can A Heart Be Divided

"Come just in time." James said of the showers at breakfast time when the washed air perfumed with the nostalgic scent of damp lilac and rowan tree bloom entered at the open door.

"It will bring the mangoes and turnips" he nodded with a pleased smile. "Now that the crop is in we might make a bit of an excursion this evening. Ellen—if all is well, now don't get your hopes up too high" he advised, "for one never knows what even a day will bring."

But the day proved to be all that a June-day should, dampened by showers and then bright and gay, with the sky and sun of the clearing. In it, was bird-song, and leaves baked, and a Sunday cake. Children's happy laughter too and the family going busily to its round.

"Did you ever notice, Ellen, that I'm always first to the machine?" James commented when we came at length to join him there in the yard. Figures paraded in mind: chicks, dogs, oat stove, kitchen, rooms. Everything was settled. We smiled. It was a good feeling. Dim of evening was lowering then over the fields far and near, the silken purple sheen of the approaching dusk. How lovely it was. But still an uneasy thought intruded as we neared the ribbon of highway at the corner. Had James remembered to take with him his operator's licence? Should we inquire? True, he had always had one ever since 1928 gave him the right to drive, but not to have it with him might prove embarrassing, if challenged.

"You'd better be sure," reason insisted.

"It's bad luck to turn back" a careless voice said.

What a pleasant outing it was, uneventful as things go, though replete with the loveliness of season. James is naturally our favorite driver and we bowled along at a comfortable rate catching some of the scenic panorama a long which we passed.

We came as far as the old home by the Strait, where a small woman now in her past-ninety years dwells. A still healthy, smart lady whose house is all ways tidy and clean, and mind is amazingly clear and alert.

"I walked as far as the lower brook yesterday—not of course without my cane," she related, obviously pleased. "I enjoyed it. The fields look so nice now. You see I'm up early in the morning, and with so little to do, I sometimes find my day long. So I have my walks."

Home is where the heart is—and can a heart be divided? It was good to be a child again, but it was also good to see Alderlea appear at road's end. To have the dogs rise from its shadows with happy yelps to welcome us. And what did James say, just now at the stair-foot door? "Put this wallet of mine on the mantel where I'll see it, if I happen to be going away, Ellen. There's little money in it—but I wouldn't want to forget it because my driver's licence is there."

Home? Someone dedicates a new home thus:

"Oh love this house, and make of it a home—
A cherished hallowed place.
Root roses at its base, and freely paint
The glow of welcome on its smiling face!
For after friends are gone and children marry
And you are left alone...
The house you loved will clasp you to its heart,
Within its arms of lumber and of stone."
Until Monday — — — Diary — Good-night.

Gayle Rayner Honored At Schurman Residence

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schurman, Central Bedque, entertained a large number of friends and neighbors at their home on Thursday evening, June 12th, when a miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Gayle Rayner whose marriage took place on June 17.

The reception room was tastefully decorated with tulips and apple blossoms and a large umbrella decorated in green and white colors adorned the seat of honor to which the bride to be was escorted by Rosalie McIsaac who sat beside her during the presentation of gifts. Mrs. Harold Clark played appropriate music for the occasion.

The baskets of gifts were carried by Eva Perry and Carol Rayner, and were opened by Clara Johnson and Wave Reeves. The names and verses were read by Ann Leard and Jessie Howatt. The gifts consisted of blankets, linens, electric appliances, china and other useful gifts and money. All were placed on a table by Harriet Riley and Shirley Arsenault.

Gayle thanked all present for remembering her with such lovely gifts and all joined in singing "For She Is A Jolly Good Fellow". Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the ladies present. At a late hour as the friends dispersed, all extended best wishes to Gayle for a happy wedded life.

The Teenage Dressmaker Will Be In Competition

With Canada and the United States divided into 35 regions, Charlottetown is one of the focal points of interest in the sixth annual teenage dressmaking contest, with prizes to the total value of more than $85,000, being conducted locally through the Singer Sewing Centre.

Sewing classes are in progress there and entries are to be received up to August 30, when the contest closes.

Entries are being judged in two divisions—a senior division for girls from 14 to 17 years and a junior division for those from 10 to 13 yrs. In the local contest, the prize is a fitted sewing case for the best dress made in the sewing centre.

In all regions, with four of these in Canada, first and second prizes are of different types of portable sewing machines. An extra prize is offered the senior winner in each region a $300 scholarship to be applied to a home

HAPPENINGS

The Reverend H.E.D. Ashford, D.D., and Mrs. Ashford are now on Prince Edward Island and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Award, Greenfield Avenue. Dr. Ashford will dedicate the new Park Royal church Sunday, 22nd June, 1958.

The Shama summer home at Lewis Point was the setting Monday evening for an event of interest when Mrs. Emmett Callaghan, president of St. Peter's Cathedral Evening W.A., entertained the members in honor of the honorary president, Mrs. G. E. Moffatt, who leaves shortly to take up residence in Ontario. Mrs. (Canon) E.M. Malone was a special guest on this occasion.

The living-room was prettily decorated with spring flowers. The guest of honor was pleasantly surprised when presented by Mrs. Callaghan on behalf of the members with a beautiful Island scene and several other suitable gifts.

Music, games and singing made the evening an enjoyable one. A delicious buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. W.A. Smith presided, assisted by the members.

Miss Gail Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Johnston, Mt. Edward Road, leaves Sunday for Montreal where she will take the plane to London, England.

Miss Johnston is one of a group of students who will visit and study conditions in various countries. After a briefing in London, the students are assigned to certain countries. Miss Johnston will spend eight weeks in Yugoslavia where she will reside with residents of that country.

Mrs. L.W. Saunders returned this week after a pleasant visit with her daughter, Mrs. H.A. Kennedy, Rev. Mr. Kennedy and family, Sydney Mines, Cape Breton.

Last Sunday a new Hammond Electric organ was dedicated in the historic St. John Presbyterian Church, Belfast, as a memorial to the young men of the Belfast area who paid the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II. The organ which was used before the installation of the new one is eighty years old. It is still in very good condition after its many years of service in Belfast Church.

Miss Katherine M. MacLennan entertained at bridge Wednesday evening in her apartment Green Street, in honor of Mrs. E.G. Barton of Victoria, British Columbia. The latter is a guest of her sister, Mrs. W.N. Black and Lieutenant-Commander Black Park Terrace, Brighton, Charlottetown.

Miss Susan Lindsay Jones was the guest of honor recently at an evening party given by Mrs. Lena McLure in her suite at the Queen Hotel. A hostess gift was presented to the bride elect. A most delightful evening was enjoyed by those present, many of whom bore names whose families had been friends of Miss Jones's family for several generations.

Miss Beverly Jean MacLean, whose marriage is taking place on June 25th in Clyde River Presbyterian Church, to Mr. Roland H. Ward, Hampshire, is being pleasantly remembered by her many friends both in Marathon, Ontario and Prince Edward Island.

Her girl friends held a personal shower Wednesday evening in honor of Miss MacLean and on Thursday evening a Community Shower was held in Winslow Hall in honor of Miss MacLean, who received many lovely and useful gifts.

Mrs. Bessie Armstrong of Seattle, Washington, is visiting on P.E.I., the guest of her sisters, Mrs. William Worth, Charlottetown, and Mrs. A.H. Smallwood, Souris.

Mrs. Arthur MacEachern who has been visiting her granddaughter Mrs. Russel Stewart for the past month left Saturday for her home in Halifax. On her return she stopped over in Amherst to visit her son and daughter-in-law, also Mrs. Charlie Brooks.

Mrs. Harry Matheson arrived home last evening from a delightful visit in Amherst. While there she was the guest of Mrs. Charles Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacEachern.

On Wednesday evening, May 14 a surprise party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Woodside, on the occasion of their forty-fifth wedding anniversary, by the members of their immediate family. During the evening, Mrs. Lorne Seaman and Mrs. Elton Somers, representing the Breadalbane Village Institute also extended congratulations and presented Mrs. Woodside with a beautiful Women's Institute life membership brooch.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Murray, Fredericton, Mr. and Mrs. Pomroy Murray and Wellington Murray, Breadalbane, motored to Cornwall on Thursday evening, May 29th to join with other members of "The Ackland family" in celebrating the fifty-seventh anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ackland. An anniversary supper was enjoyed and a beautiful gift presented by their daughters, Elynor, on behalf of the family.

Mrs. Clinton Howart entertained at her home in Borden recently at a birthday tea in honor of her mother, Mrs. A.B. Paquet.

Mrs. Russel Deighan received the guests, Mrs. Joe Kelly joined, Miss Elizabeth Gaudet, Mrs. Jules Gaudet and Mrs. Louis Hackett.

Dainty refreshments were served topped off by a birthday cake and icecream. Among the guests were Mrs. Willard Leard, Mrs. Jimmy V. McDonald and Mrs. Frank Noonan, a life long friend of Mrs. Paquet. After a hearty sing-song and social chat all departed wishing this grand old lady many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Sinclair of Kenora, Ontario, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Sinclair's cousin, J.J. Longphee in Souris, P.E.I. The former Ruth Longphee of Ochre River, Manitoba. This is Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair's first visit to Prince Edward Island.

Mrs. F.M. Martin and her daughter, Miss Sandra Martin, R.N. of New York City arrived recently in the province to spend some time at her summer home in Middleton. En route they spent several days visiting with the former's son, Dr. W.M. Martin, and family in Montreal.

Miss Georgie Kennedy, R.N. on the staff of the Colchester County Hospital, Truro, N.S. has returned after spending some time in Summerside with her sister, Mrs. Mark Gaudet, who had undergone surgery in Prince County Hospital.

Kindergarten History Is Recalled At Its Closing

Yesterday was the Kindergarten closing and a wonderful occasion it was for the "graduates" as well as for those who return for another year to those halls of learning.

Truly the German word kindergarten signifying "garden of Children" is one of the most beautiful words in the world. It was in 1837 that Friedrich Froebel a German, began this system of education for the very young. His first school was in an abandoned powder mill in a little village in Germany. There he began his ideas for youngsters of learning-through-play. Physical, moral and intellectual training were given in the pleasant way.

Mrs. Carl Schurz of Watertown, Wisconsin, founded the first Kindergarten in the United States in 1855. German-speaking communities ultimately organized ten other kindergartens.

To Elizabeth Peabody goes the honor of being the founder of the first English-speaking kindergarten in America. This school opened in Boston in 1860 and Froebel's ideas were applied.

Today's kindergarten is more flexible and friendly. The How-to's of life are learned in the kindergarten. How to get along with others; how to co-operate; how to be generous, adaptable and friendly.

As the parents and friends entered the large cheerful room yesterday for the closing they realized the joy the children have at kindergarten.

So next September when you see these little energetic, inquisitive and enthusiastic little people—a few at first very shy, that soon is overcome—plan to attend their closing some time. There is pure and simple pleasure in it, also it is fun to watch these Canadians grow.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Hanging cups by the handles or stacking them, can result in breakage or chipping more easily than if you set them in a row.

If your child balks at hand-washing before meals, try giving him a "finger bowl" of warm sudsy water at the table, to use before and after eating. If washing is made a game, he'll enjoy it.

Use fine sandpaper to smooth the edges of nicks in glassware or china. Don't rub too hard, though.
