

Tips On Laundering Back To School Clothes

—BY ELEANOR ROSS

In back-to-school clothes, "wash and wear" fabrics are a boon to the budget and so labor-saving, too. Fabrics include acetate, rayon, dacron, and blends or combinations which contain 50 per cent or more of them.

Wash them in warm suds. If you wash them by hand, avoid hand wringing or twisting; if by machine, use short cycles and do not spin dry.

Use Padded Hangers
To dry, arrange them on shaped or padded hangers to drip-dry. Hang pants by the cuffs on clamp-type hangers. Pull seams, finger-press pleats and trimmings, shape collars and smooth flat areas of the palms of your hands. If touch-ups are needed when dry, use a cool iron.

Wools should be washed gently by hand in lukewarm suds and rinses, unless labeled machine-washable when instructions should be followed. When removing shrink-resistant wool from the water, support it with both hands, otherwise it will tend to stretch. Dry away from direct heat and press with warm iron on wrong side under damp pressing cloth.

Rayons and Acetates
Rayons and acetates can go into warm suds and rinses, by hand, or by machine, if so specified. If the fabric is fragile, avoid hanging—just roll the garment in a towel to blot before ironing. Press on wrong side with warm iron (cool for acetate) while slightly damp.

Water repellent fabrics which are so much used in hard-wear clothes for youngsters, should be washed in warm suds and rinsed by hand or by machine using short cycles. Don't wring, twist or spin dry. It is imperative to rinse away every trace of suds from the garment so that the efficiency of the water-repellent finish won't be reduced. This is very important if you are to get your full value from the finish process.

Angora Sweaters
Angora sweaters are back again so here's a timely reminder on their care.

Before washing, outline the sweater on cardboard, then cut a frame in three pieces, body and two sleeves. Label each piece for its specific sweater and keep the set "on file" for future use. Button cardigans before washing. Squeeze through lukewarm suds and rinses, keeping the same temperature. Don't rub or douse the garment in and out of the water. Blot excess moisture in a towel, slip cardboard frame inside and lay the sweater to dry on a fresh towel. Shake angora after it has dried to fluff up surface fuzz.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid Are Honored

Neighbors and old friends paid a surprise visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid, Hope River on the evening of Aug. 10, 1955 to bid farewell to them before their departure to their new home on Malpeque Road.

Mr. Archibald MacEwen acted as chairman and after a few brief remarks called on Mr. J. Thomas Reid to read an appropriate address and Mr. Alexis Murphy presented the honored guests with a chromium plated trilight lamp and smoker stand to match and a well-filled purse. Mr. Walter Reid replied on behalf of he and his wife thanking one and all for their very lovely gifts and inviting all to visit them in their new home. Complementary remarks followed by Mr. Clarence McGuigan, Hunter River; Mr. Robert Bradley, Charlottetown; and Mr. Alexis Murphy, St. Ann's.

A dainty lunch was served by the ladies present followed by dancing, music being supplied by Melvin Doiron and Paul Gallant, Millvale.

In the wee small hours of the the guests wined their way home after wishing Walter and May success and happiness in their new home.

Following is the address: To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid: If we your friends, saddened by your departure were to raise our minds in prayer, our petition would be, O Lord, if it be possible let this parting pass from us. Your leaving this community is indeed a bitter chalice for us to accept. Even though we realize that we have benefited exceedingly by your lives among us and that we should be willing to share our good fortune with others, we are extremely loathe to see you leave Hope River.

We know as friends and neighbors we shall miss your delightful company and happy associations; as citizens and christians we shall miss your example and inspiration.

Your sociable personalities and entertaining abilities have always made your company very pleasing and desirable whether at home or when visiting among us.

The interest and co-operative assistance you have always given in school and parish activities has made our association with you most pleasant.

As citizens of this country you are truly worthy of imitation. Many of us recall when there were no buildings on this site. The initiative and industry manifested in acquiring this property and establishing such a fine home on it makes you the kind of people any community regrets to lose and the type of citizens this country is lacking today. At the same time as you labored and sacrificed to attain such accomplishments you reared and educated well a large family of which you can be justly proud and this country can honestly boast to have numbered among its citizens.

But we know that the well-spring of all these endearing qualities and noble achievements was the truly christian ideals on which your lives have been based. In being good friends and neighbors you have fulfilled God's command that we love one another; in being amiable associates you have recognized that He created man a social being; in being good citizens you have displayed a spirit of justice by your efforts to return something to your country for the freedom and other advantages it has afforded you.

It is because of such really christian living that your lives have been pleasing to God and such an inspiring example to us.

That your lives have been pleasing to God you have sufficient proof in your lovely family and a confirmation in the fact, that in the near future He will make your son, Wallie, one of His priests.

That your presence among us has been abundant with benefactions, individual and collective, material and spiritual, we desire to indicate by being present here this evening.

We wish, at this time, to sincerely thank you for all that time you have given us; also to wish you happiness and God's continued blessing in the future.

For the same reasons that we regret to see you go, we are confident that you will be welcome in the community to which you are going.

Feeble words and material gifts are entirely incompetent to express the sentiments of our hearts on this occasion we, nevertheless, ask you to accept them as the means we have chosen of expressing our gratitude and the high esteem in which you are held by us.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

Fire Fighters THROW OUT RED

No—not a Communist, but the fire-engine red that goes with clanging bells, screaming sirens and racing fire trucks.

The Kent Fire Brigade, in England, has gone against tradition and now uses vehicles of aluminum—for three good reasons: No more painting. Less gas... we mean petrol. And better roadability and handling because of the lighter-weight aluminum bodies. We'd guess there's a further premium that the Kent folk enjoy: pride in their fire brigade when it flashes by in its gleaming new dress. Few materials can match aluminum for its fresh and lasting good looks.
