Herring is also reported as plentiful in some of our eastern rivers and bays. The Halifax Herald in concluding its report of the closing lecture of Joseph Cook, says:—"Rev. He then thanked the lecturer on behalf of the audience and himself, and trusted that God would spare him to teach his sound doctrines. Mr. Cook, in reply, wished all success in life to Halifax. The Storm at Labrador.

WIDESPREAD DISTRESS BY THE TEMPEST—ENTIRE VILLAGES DESTROYED—OVER SEVENTY VESSELS COMPLETE WRECKS, AND AS MANY LIVES LOST—THE STORY AS TOLD BY A SURVIVOR.

R. T. Stupart, the Hudson Bay observer, who, with his three assistants, abandoned their posts in the Straits the day before the expedition steamer Alert arrived to relieve them, reached Halifax on Saturday last by steamer Miranda, from St. John's, Newfoundland, and gives some additional particulars of the recent

TERRIBLE TEMPEST ON THE LABRADOR COAST, which are no doubt more reliable than those contained in previous reports. Stupart was on the coast of Labrador until the 23rd ult., and saw much of the widespread distress caused by the disastrous gale. The storm began on the 10th ult., and lasted two days—for over twenty-four hours blowing with the violence of a hurricane. Stupart was then at Rigolet, where it was felt with great force, but caused comparatively little damage. On the 20th ult. he reached Indian Harbor, and there learned more fully of its dreadful effects. Every vessel at all close to land was carried on the rocky shore, and, though many of them were afterwards floated, there were between 70 and 80 rendered complete wrecks. At Grady, a fishing village containing about 20 dwellings, almost every building

WAS TORN FROM ITS FOUNDATION and carried away, while the one or two that remained standing were left roofless and almost untenable. At Indian Harbor the buildings did not suffer so seriously, but fully half of them had their roofs torn off and many others were more or less damaged. Every settlement within the area of the storm, which extended from Battle Harbor north to Cape Harrison, met the same fate, and not half a dozen houses on the whole line of the coast remain uninjured. The most sorrowful report of all comes from White Bear Island, where, though there were but three or four vessels lying at anchor, one a brigantine, almost everybody on board lost their lives. Stupart states that the total loss of life did not at the outside exceed 70. Of this number 41 met their fate at White Bear Island. At every point the

PEOPLE ARE IN MOST DIRE WANT, and though much assistance has already been sent from Newfoundland, it will be impossible to provide for all for some time. On the 23rd October the mail steamer Hercules arrived at Indian Harbor with 300 people, whom she had picked up at different places of call, and when Stupart reached Grady, a couple of days later, he found the Vanguard there with 600 more homeless ones on board. The day before the storm broke, the Hudson Bay Company's steamer Labrador sailed from Cartwright for England, but as she is a strongly built ship, constructed to stand the severest weather, little fear is felt for her safety. Stupart tells a stirring story of the perilous experiences of his party. After abandoning their station in Hudson straits they set sail in an open boat on 21st August to attempt to reach Fort Chimo, at the mouth of Ungava Bay, and during the ensuing thirteen days they were TOSSED ABOUT BY HEAVY GALES of wind and snow, suffering severely from bitter cold and in danger of being dashed to pieces on the rocks at any moment. Navigation along their course was extremely hazardous, hidden shoals and reefs extending out from the shore for miles and the tides being very strong with rise and fall in places of over sixty feet. When they arrived at Fort Chimo all their provisions were exhausted except a small supply of biscuit. Stupart explains his abandonment of the observing station by the fact that the relief steamer Alert was expected there the middle of July, and not turning up within a month from that date he concluded she had met with disaster. One of the men with him, Henry Bennett, of St. John's, Nfld., remained at the latter place on the arrival of the party there. The other two, J. W. McDaniel and J. W. Chaplain, belong to St. Mary's, Nova Scotia, and came on to Halifax on the Miranda.

DIED. After a severe illness, which he bore with Christian fortitude, Benjamin W. Hooper, Esq., aged 44 years. The deceased was son of Henry Hooper, Esq., Charlottetown Common. (His funeral will take place on Thursday next, when his remains will be deposited in the family burying ground at Milnes.) In this city, on October 30, James Connelly, in the 49th year of his age. Prices are Still Tumbling and Purchasers will Reap the Benefit Thereof!

REID BROS. have purchased a large Invoice of Fine Saxony All-wool Tweeds from a Manufacturer's Agent, whose name we are not permitted to mention, at a great sacrifice, to the mills, and we intend giving our patrons the advantage of this purchase. These goods have never in the history of P. E. Island been retailed at less than $1.40 to $1.75 a yard, and we now can offer them at 85c's a yard, or will make up suits from them to order, with linings worth $1.10 a yard and other trimmings to match, at the popular price, 85c, worth just $2.50 all over this country. Will produce letters from some of the best men in town and country which must satisfy the most sceptic that our cutter, Mr. Bruce, and his helps, are equal to the times, and his garments are always neat, strong, perfect-fitting, and full-fashioned.

Experience has taught us that many persons have been driven away in disgust from houses who are continually advertising goods at extraordinary prices, which they are unable to produce when called for, and to meet this difficulty we ask intending purchasers to call and examine our stock and we are confident that one inspection will satisfy the most sceptical that we never advertise a humbug.
