

UPEI Business Society

The Business Society would like to welcome you back once again for another semester, and we hope that the delay of exams wasn't too much for you.

We would like to announce that a speaker has been chosen and confirmed for our annual Businessman's Dinner. We are pleased to be able to have Dr. Peter Campbell, CEO & President of Midland Doherty speak at our event which will be held March 8, 1988 at the CP Prince Edward Hotel. Further details are to be announced later.

Plans are underway for the Business Society's intramural hockey tournament. It will be held Jan. 29-30. We hope to have teams from Dal, St. F.X. and U de M participating. We also need some help from you as far as statisticians and referees. If you would like to help please get in touch with one of the Business Society's executive members.

We would like to congratulate all those who participated in Policy last semester. Special recognition goes out to the 3 placing groups with 1st place going to the group of Terry Doucette, Grant Gardner, Paul Llewellyn and David Windor.

Hall Happenings

By Sean MacIntosh

A big welcome back to one and all (except you know who) out there in university-land. The new semester has started and everyone is again putting their noses to the grindstone. I have been told by one of Marian Hall's Alumni members that it would be a great idea to give a list of what Santa gave to each of the University's Societies for Christmas. We sent a letter to Santa and received a prompt reply via Rudolph. It reads;

Dear Marian Hall,

I have read you letter and since you all have been good boys over the past year, I have agreed to your request. The following is a list of the UPEI Societies which have received gifts from me this past Christmas. The Societies not mentioned were not good girls and boys and therefore, did not deserve presents.

The Vets

A Teddy Ruxpin complete with a dissection instruction tape.

The Computer Science Society

A Fisher Price Speak and Spell, batteries not included.

Le Club Politic

The novel, "Did the Cavemen Have Prime Ministers?"

The Business Society

Books with the answers in them because they can't figure them out for themselves.

I hope you boys have a good semester and I wish you all the best in 1988.

Sincerely yours,

Santa Clause

We of Marian Hall wish to thank Santa for this helpful information and wish him the best in the coming year. Also, thank you M.M. for the wonderful idea for this article and S.G., C.G., K.A., J.P., K.V., D.G. and all else who helped with the ideas for gifts.

Marian Hall wishes to congratulate the Soccer Panthers in winning the Pre-Christmas Hockey Tournament but beware, Big Dogs Eat Last in 88!

The English Society

A years subscription to Ranger Ricky Magazine, to enhance their vocabulary.

The Chemistry Society

A Ghostbusters kit to get rid of the ghost of you know who that haunts the halls of Cass.

The History Society

A neanderthal man, finally someone with whom they can win an argument!

The Biology Society

The new life form found in the toilets of the engineering department.

The Psychology Society

A one-size-fits-all straight jacket.

The Jock Society

To each and every one, a tutor to help them attain an Arts Degree.

The Engine-eating Society

Since they all asked for the same thing I gave them all a case of inflate-a-mates.

Marian Hall Joke of the Week

Question: When was the happiest day in the Engineer's life?

Answer: When he found out he could use Right Guard under his left arm!!
