Unlicensed Car Salesman Is Charged In Summerside

It is inconceivable that people from outside the province can come in here and under sell dealers who are residents and are paying taxes, crown prosecutor D.O. Stewart said yesterday in Summerside. He was prosecuting a case in which Joseph Gallant of Borden was charged with unlawfully dealing in motor vehicles without having a dealer's license.

The case was adjourned until May 1st. George R. McMahon is counsel for the defendant.

Mr. Stewart argued that if the magistrate interpreted the law in favor of the accused "We have no control over these people for at least the next twelve months."

He was referring to the passing of legislation concerning the matter.

"It would like the dealers to feel that the crown makes effort every effort to protect them", to protect them", Mr. Stewart said.

Magistrate R.S. Hinton who presided said he couldn't find that the accused is a dealer and that according to the law there is no offence against a salesman or agent. He requested the crown to ask the Attorney General's department the reason "agents" were dropped from the section that pertains to the unlawful dealers in motor vehicles, or whether it is included in some other section. He also told counsel he would welcome briefs from both sides.

K Of C Youth Club Meets

SUMMERSIDE - On Saturday evening, the members of the Knights of Columbus Youth Club assembled for their weekly meeting with the president, Bert Brophy, in the chair. The meeting was opened with the singing of the youth club hymn. "For Christ the King", following which the secretary, Diane Le Blanc read the minutes of the last meeting, and also of the executive meeting held earlier.

Foch McNally, treasurer, informed the members of the club's financial status, after which, Norman Cameron, Sharon Mullin, and Betty Blacquiere reported from their various committees. It was decided that a parents' night be held in the near future, and plans are now being made by the social committee. As there was not any further business to be discussed, the president, Bert Brophy, conducted a bull session at the suggestion of one of the members. The chaplain then spoke most interestingly on the passion and death of Our Lord, in which he brought to light many scientifically-proved facts hitherto unknown to the club. A popular film was shown to the enjoyment of all, and the evening ended with the very beautiful "Ave Maria".

Mr. Bell said the Island was away behind in its pasture development. He deferred again to the policy of the province of Ontario in which farmers are encouraged to improve their pastures by the provision of seed and fertilizer.

Mr. Bell said he was delighted to see such a good response to this year's agricultural short course. He noted that $130,000 had been spent on the vocational school last year and there was an amount of $240,000 in the estimates this year.

He said this was a big investment and is one that the government should utilize to the fullest. He hoped the provincial treasurer would keep a close watch on spending at this institution.

Mr. Bell said the building annex was being constructed on a cost plus basis and plumbing and electrical contracts had been given without calling tenders. He said there were companies galore who would be only too glad to be given the opportunity of bidding on these jobs. "It always costs more for a cost-plus job and contracts should not be given out to friends of the government," he said.

East Prince Group Favors Shorter Angling Season

SUMMERSIDE - The East Prince County Fish and Game Association last night divided almost evenly on a trout fishing season from April 15 to September 15, or to extend the season for an additional two weeks, finally deciding the issue by a close one vote margin in favor of the shorter season.

The meeting also endorsed the present shooting regulations in regard to the half hour before sunrise to a half hour after sunset times.

The association branch also recommended improvement this year in two streams in their area, one at Egmont Bay and the other at Sheep River, with the suggestion that the dams be not higher than six feet in height.

The members expressed a definite interest in obtaining a "clam digger" for use in Prince County streams to dig holes which would provide shelter for the trout, and agreed to co-operate with the West Prince branch in the use of mussel mud diggers at Little Pierchoque.

The biologists with the Fisheries Department will be asked to make a thorough investigation of apparently stagnant water at Hunter's pond, and its possible effect on trout.

Members of the East Prince branch will attend an organizational meeting of a possible new branch at RCAF Station Summerside next Tuesday.

Representatives of last night's meeting were invited to join the East Prince branch but reported that they had been encouraged by Air Force officials in Ottawa to organize their own branch on the station, one of the reasons being that a junior group would be part of the RCAF organization, including ages from 12 to 16 years.

To prepare a fish and game floor for the Summerside lobster carnival float parade a committee was appointed, consisting of Bill Conroy, chairman, Ernest MacQuarrie, Claude Harkness, Leonce Arsenault, Verno Arsenault, and Ernest Brown. The branch will also have a wildlife exhibit at the carnival.

Mr. Bell noted that fishing had taken an upswing during the past two or three years. There were good prices and the demand for all the products of the sea was good.

He recalled that the Minister of Fisheries before the last federal election in a government owned car "went around from door to door telling people they would not be able to sell their fish to the United States if a Conservative Government were elected."

"This is the man who last night got up on the floor of the House and gave us a lecture on political honesty," said Mr. Bell. Mr. Bell said he thought Island fisheries were missing the boat in the development of the oyster industry. He said there was no trouble to get 42 dollars a barrel for oysters last fall but the production had steadily decreased during the past five years.
