BIRTHS

MacLEAN — At the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Friday, July 20th, 1962, to Mr. and Mrs. C. MacLean (nee Verna MacLaren, Brudenell), a daughter, Sharon Lynn, 8 lbs., 15½ ozs.

IN MEMORIAM

MacDONALD — In loving memory of my dear husband and father William Martin MacDonald, who passed away July 23, 1959.

We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh,
All we could do was just stand by.
And when the time came we suffered to
For you never deserved what you went through.
The pearly gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewell unspoken
He gently entered home.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife and family.

FRIZZELL — In loving memory of our father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frizzell, who passed away on November 9, 1953, and July 23, 1959.

Loving and kind in all their ways,
Upright and just to the end of their days.
Sincere and kind in heart and mind;
Beautiful memories they left behind.

Always remembered and sadly missed by the family.

DOUGLAS — In fond and loving memory of my dear husband Percy Leigh Douglas who departed this life July 22, 1961.

I have lost a real companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss you more
As I walk through life alone.
Looking back with memories
Along the path we trod,
I bless the years I had with you
And leave the rest with God.

Sadly missed by his wife and family.

OBITUARY

Inserted by friends and relatives as a tribute to the deceased.

MRS. DOUGLAS AITKEN

The death of Mrs. Douglas Aitken occurred at her home at Fortune Bridge on June 12, 1962, in her eighty-seventh year.

The late Mrs. Aitken had been blessed with unusually good health until about a year ago when she began to decline gradually. Two weeks previous to her passing she entered Souris Hospital for treatment and seemed somewhat recovered, enough so, to return to her home. Although her recovery was known to be temporary her sudden passing two days later came as a shock to her friends and relatives.

Born Annie Edith Coffin, daughter of the late John R. Coffin and Marjorie (Smith) Coffin she was a life-long resident of this district. She was highly respected and will be greatly missed by her family and friends.

She was a member of Bay Fortune United Church. She was interested in all the activities of church and community and contributed generously to all worthy causes.

But it was in her home that she took so much pride and interest. Her friends will long remember the generous welcome accorded them on their visits with her.

The members of her family will cherish the memory of her Christian example, her loving interest in their welfare and the joy she reflected in having them all together at home to visit with her.

She leaves to mourn four sons and four daughters: Aubrey, Jack, Ernest and Fred, all of Fortune Bridge; Dora, Brookline, Mass.; Jennie, Mrs. Charles Townshend, Fortune Bridge; Clara, Mrs. Urban Malone, Dorchester, Mass.; Gladys, Mrs. Grant Dorland, London, Ont.

She leaves also sixteen grandchildren and seventeen great grandchildren who lovingly referred to her as "Nanny" Aitken; a sister Gladys, Brookline, Mass.; a sister Etta, Mrs. Rhodes, Walpole, N.H.; and a sister Elizabeth, Mrs. Ernest Johnston, Fortune Bridge.

She was predeceased by her husband, a son Harvey and a daughter who died in early childhood.

Funeral services were held from Bay Fortune United Church on June 15, 1962, under the direction of the Dingwell Funeral Home. Services were conducted by Rev. D. Elton Adams assisted by Rev. W.E. Aitken and the church choir.

Pallbearers were six grandsons: Henry and Earl Townshend, Everett Jackie, Billy and Stuart Aitken.

Interment was in Bay Fortune United Church cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Douglas Aitken, wish to express their thanks to the matron and staff of Souris Hospital, Dr. Kassner, Rev. E. Adams, and Dingwell Funeral Home, all those who sent flowers, gifts to the Memorial Fund and messages of sympathy. To all who helped in our recent bereavement, our sincere thanks.

Quebec Views Are Divided On Language In Schools

By ALEXANDER FARRELL

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's royal commission on education heard its last briefs Friday as it ended public hearings in Quebec City, and was left wondering whether two languages in primary school are a curse or a blessing.

The question, debated over and over again since hearings started last November, was raised one last time in a brief from Kathleen Hart, a professional translator and former Quebec City school inspector who opposed the teaching of a second language in primary school.

Miss Hart, a Sorbonne graduate who has spoken both French and English from early childhood, said a child is likely to be confused if he has to deal with two languages in primary school. She said almost every country in the world has rejected the notion of introducing a second language at that level.

Commission chairman John McIlhone, said "it is a specious argument to say that only one language in primary school is the right policy just because so many countries apply it. I don't think a conclusive study of bilingual education at the primary level has been made anywhere."

LEARN IT IN STREET

Laporte said "bilingual people in Commissioner Jeanne Lapointe said "bilingual people in Quebec learn their second language in the street, not in school, but I think we have an unparalleled opportunity here to see what the schools can accomplish in this domain."

Miss Hart's brief was the 278th heard by the commission. The 279th and last came from a private committee that supports libraries in the region around Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, 70 miles northeast of Quebec City.

It had smoother sailing. The commissioners all agree with the delegation that libraries ought to be encouraged.

The commission also heard from La Federation des Caisses Populaires Desjardins, a credit union organization, which said that every child needs a minimum of 11 years of school and some additional instruction of a specialized character.

The commission now plans to forget about education for a week and then settle down to the task of achieving a meeting of eight minds on solutions to all the problems that have been thrown at it.

Deadline for the commission's report to the provincial government is Dec. 31 but it is possible that this will be extended.

Full Story Said Not Known On Deformity-Causing Drug

CINCINNATI (AP)—A spokesman for a Cincinnati drug maker said Friday night there is still a lot to learn about the link of a sleeping drug, thalidomide, to reports of thousands of birth deformities in Europe and others in Canada.

Dr. Carl A. Bunde, research director of the William S. Merrell Company, said, "the problem is extraordinarily complicated. There are other factors and combination of factors which may be more important than thalidomide.

"At present no one yet knows the whole truth. At Merrell and in many other places around the world, great effort is being made to resolve the scientific mystery."

The drug was linked to a sudden increase in phocomelia, or babies born legless or armless or with deformed limbs, in Europe and Canada.

Merrell said the drug originated nine years ago with a West German chemical firm—named Gruenenthal — and Merrell acquired marketing rights for the U.S. and Canada, starting research in January, 1959.

INDUCES SLEEP

It was found to be a good sleep-inducer, Merrell reported, and considered an improvement because an overdose would not be fatal, and it was easier on the aged than barbiturates.

Merrell said thalidomide had 20 months of animal and clinical tests before the Canadian food and drug directorate made it available for prescription sale in April, 1961.

Merrell said reports indicated the drug had a wide sale in West Germany, where no prescription was needed for its use, and in England and Australia by Gruenenthal and other licensees for about four years.

Merrell had applied Sept. 8, 1960 to sell the drug in the U.S., contending studies indicated the drug was safe for use. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration put off approval, however, on recommendation by a staff member, Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, that proof of its safety was not adequate.

Dr. Kelsey is a native of Vancouver.

BEGIN SALARY TALKS

OTTAWA (CP)—Talks about salary increases for 6,000 federal civil servants working in hospitals and related services began Thursday. It is part of the regular review under which various classes of salaries are studied at least once every two years. Any increases in this group would be retroactive to Jan. 1. The group involves nurses, orderlies, dieticians, home economists, social workers and veterans' welfare officers.

Federal Control Is Opposed By Credit Unions In Quebec

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — The battle against direct federal control was fought on three fronts by the Quebec Federation of Caisses Populaires, now—like all credit unions—under provincial jurisdiction.

Senator Cyrille Vaillancourt and other leaders in the 62-year-old Quebec co - operative savings and loan movement, made these points in a half-day appearance before the federal royal commission on banking and finance:

1. Contrary to recent suggestions, the caisses do respond to monetary policy. They had to curtail loans to their members during the 1959 tight - money period. There would be no point in bringing the caisses under the direct influence of the Bank of Canada.

2. The tax-exempt caisses do not—as said in some quarters—compete for savings with the tax-paying chartered banks. In fact, there were caisses in 400 Quebec villages which have no banks. They emphasized thrift, not debt. Loans—made but not encouraged — were based on "moral character" rather than financial worth.

3. There is no reason to make the caisses pay income tax. They existed only to serve their members—with no profit motive. Any surplus earnings were turned back to members as dividends or interest rebates—and on these, the members pay tax.

HEARD STORY BEFORE

Much of this was old hat to the royal commission, headed by Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario.

Without making any of its own suggestions about federal control the commission has been confronted with the same arguments by about eight different credit union groups since starting hearings in Victoria last March.

The Caisses Populaires Federation itself—with 1,246 caisses 1,200,000 members and some $800,000,000 in savings—said it has no illusions about what the commission is doing.

Its brief noted that "certain people" have said the royal commission was created only because the credit union movement, which has grown rapidly in recent years, has not been responding to monetary policy.

"Such affirmations are entirely without foundation," the federation said.

Smuggling Case Sentence Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—One of five soldiers convicted by courts martial here for smuggling in Indochina has had his sentence reduced, army headquarters has announced.

The sentence of dismissal from the service against S. Sgt. W. J. H. Hockman, 38, has been commuted to reduction to the rank of corporal by Maj-Gen. W. A. B. Anderson, army adjutant-general.

Sentences against the four others were confirmed. They were:

Maj. W. A. Platt, 48, of Picton and Cobourg, Ont., $1500 fine and a severe reprimand. His counsel has said an appeal will be launched.

Cpl. G. A. West, 33, reduction to private and 30 days in jail.

Cpl. M.H.J. Noel, 41, reduction to signalman and 90 days in jail. Bombardier O. F. Johnson, 31, severe reprimand.

In addition, a sergeant and two corporals were given severe reprimands and fined $100 each in Indochina. Two male clerks of the external affairs department were dismissed.
