THE GIRL.

And Some Lessons About Falling in Love and Matrimony.

Do you see the girl? How old is she? Is she a city girl? Is she a country girl? Is she a city girl? Is she a country girl?

She does. She expects to live in the city always? Certainly, she hates the country. What is she doing? She is listening to the young man. What is he talking about? What the unmarried always talk about.

Who are they? Very nice people. Have they a good social position? Excellent. Do they wish to retain it? Most assuredly.

Will they pay board bills or house rent or any such thing? Not that anybody knows of. Why did the girl fall in love with him? Because he came here first. Could she not have ordered her feelings otherwise?

She could if she had so wished. And why did she not so wish? She did not think of that. They do not think at such times, do they?

Yes, indeed! Would it not have been wiser for her to have exercised some degree of judgment, to have thought somewhat of the future, to have reasoned a while before she permitted her impulses to lead the way?

The custom of the country says not. It has made many people very miserable in mind, body and estate. Is marriage a sacrifice or a blessing? They say it is a blessing. And is it?

I have heard many poor men with large families say so recently. Are they to be believed? They ought to know. Does their experience seem to have any deterrent effect on those of like financial circumstances, who contemplate a similar step? None whatever.

Who is this? The Lord only knows. Is love everything, as the poets say? It is in poetry. Bread and butter and comfort are not to be ignored, then, for everyday use? Not with safety.

Does Cupid insure his patrons. He does not. Which is the greater sufferer in poverty marriage? The woman, of course. Do the women know it? They find it out to their sorrow. Is there any romance in matrimony? No; it's business.—N. Y. Sun.

A Lack of Space.

Gracie—Aw, me dear fellow, what's maffish with your head?

Clarence—Aw—why—er—I somehow got an idea in me head that—er—er—er—and there don't appear to have been any provision made in me head for it.

Advice to Short-Sighted People.

Mr.—is it so short-sighted that he stumbles against everything that comes in his way?

"No, he's a good going now," inquired a stock broker, who is fond of a joke. "To my opinion."

"How long do you make a pair of glasses last you?"

"Bad luck to it! I sometimes break as many as three or four in a single month."

"You had far better buy a dog at once. You would get ten years' wear out of it, anyhow."

Calming Her Suspicions.

"I hope," said Mabel to her brother, "that Algernon does not play cards for money."

"No," replied the young man, "I can safely say that he does not."

"I am so glad to hear it. But you are sure?"

"Yes. Sometimes Algernon thinks he is playing for money, but it is really the other man who is so occupied."

The Weather Forecaster.

"I say, mister," said a caller at the Agricultural Building, "is there any objection to showing a fellow the sights of this place?"

"No," replied the watchman, "none whatever. Anything particular that you want to see?"

"Yes, I want to see a look at the fire-proof safe you keep this weather in when you ain't in."

When a Wise Man Says: "That's Good."

"I used to be fond of poker," he said, and the expression on his face became retrospective. "But since I got four aces downed out in Missouri I hev sorter gin up playin' the game."

Remarkable Growth. From 10,000 to 1,000,000 in Ten Years.

Substantial Evidence of Public Appreciation—Rapid Extension of a Business Founded on Merit—When Newspaper Advertising is Valuable.

The mark of public appreciation which best indicates the meritorious character of an article for public use, is the evidence shown by the necessity of enlargement of business facilities connected with the publication of the article.

This success resulted mainly from the intrinsic merit of the Kickapoo Remedies; since their introduction was largely attested, and that principally consisting of Indians with their interpreters traveling from town to town erecting their camps and showing the people just what the Kickapoo Remedies were and their use.

When Newspaper Advertising Pays.

Healy & Bigelow, the agents for the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company, appreciate and endorse most heartily the value of the newspaper advertising for a medicinal article, and say: "We find that newspaper readers are very discriminating, and inclined to be skeptical at first, but after you have established confidence in your goods, and the people find that your statements are reliable, their confidence is bound to increase and extend."

The Kickapoo Remedies consist of only five articles, all of which are purely the product of roots, herbs, leaves and minerals or other deleterious substances, as attested to after a chemical analysis by R. H. Crittenden, Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Yale University.

A SPLENDID RECORD.

Some three months ago this journal informed its readers that a new provincial industry, that of the Hawker Medicine Company, of St. John, had completed its first quarter's business, and that its book showed a development of trade which was not only gratifying but really astonishing.

Another three months has now elapsed and the company have balanced their accounts for the six months. The results show that in the last three months they have trebled the business of the first three; they have about doubled their working staff and work has been carried on in the packers room till 11 o'clock every night in order to fill orders promptly.

The Hawker Medicine Company are now patenting their remedies in Great Britain and will presently extend their operations there, as well as more extensively to the United States. About the middle of this month Thomas Rankine, who so successfully introduced the Hawker remedies in Newfoundland last spring, will start and traverse the western part of Canada, from Montreal to Vancouver in the interests of the company.

They Don't Know What's Wrong.

BRAMPTON, Aug. 21.—A good many people in these days are evidently ignorant of what ails them. They use remedies for dropsy, rheumatism, sciatica or some such disease, and after a time find out that disordered kidneys caused all the trouble.

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS!

CLEMENTSPORT, N. S., July 18, 1893.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that I am 60 years of age; that twenty-five years ago I began to suffer from distress in my stomach, which continued to grow worse from year to year, and that for the last five years my suffering has been almost unbearable.

I suffered from severe constipation accompanied by bloating and belching of wind. Nervousness troubled me very much. Sometimes I would become so sick and weak that I could not attend to my work. Under such conditions I became alarmed and began to lose hope of recovery.

One day I noticed in The Telegraph a testimonial telling what Groder's Syrup had done for other people. This was about one year ago. I bought one bottle and found it so beneficial in its results that I secured more. The remedy gave me great relief. I CAN EAT ANYTHING I WISH NOW. There is no more BLOATING, no more SORENESS OF STOMACH. Nervousness is completely gone; constipation has become a thing of the past in my case. In short, I CONSIDER THAT I AM CURED, and cured by the use of three bottles of GRODER'S BOTANIC DYSPESIA SYRUP. I can conscientiously recommend above remedy to all who suffer as I did.

Yours truly, (Signed) GEORGE RANDALL.

NOTE.—This is to certify that the above testimonial is true in every respect, as I am well acquainted with the above-named gentleman.

(Signed) A. S. BURNES.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil.

It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me.

Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it.

HENRY M. STANLEY will contribute, especially for young readers, a story of AFRICAL ADVENTURE.

NATURAL HISTORY AND ADVENTURE.—There will be several articles written by Raymond Blithway, who has been called by Mr. W. T. Stead the best writer in England, from material furnished him by Carl Hagenbeck, of Hamburg, the great animal importer and trainer. These articles deal with the Capture of Wild Beasts, the Training of Wild Beasts, the Transportation of Wild Beasts, the Adventures and Escapes of Carl Hagenbeck. The series will be illustrated by an English artist of great skill in drawing animals.

JOHN BURROUGHS, C. F. HOLDER, DR. C. C. ABBOTT, and other writers famous for their work in this field, will contribute to the Magazine.

Of interest to both Young and Old will be PROF. R. L. GARNER'S AFRICAN EXPEDITION TO THE GORILLAS. Arrangements have been made, in connection with a leading English review, to publish Professor Garner's descriptive of his present expedition to Africa. Professor Garner is noted the world over for the curious and interesting investigations he is making in the speech of monkeys. He sailed for Africa last September for the purpose of further pursuing his studies in the native haunts of the gorilla. The illustrations of these articles will be from photographs taken by Prof. Garner in Africa.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE also contains most interesting articles under the heads: The Edge of the Future, "Newest Knowledge," "Knowledge of Immediate Value," The Present Hour, "Stranger than Fiction," etc.

The Telephone Company

P. E. ISLAND.

Parties using the Telephone would do talking much more satisfactorily if they would observe the following rules:—

1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter.

2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not loud, and distinctly.

3rd. Place the telephone as to cover the ear just as if you wished to hear out all other sounds. Do not growl or yell on the ear.

4th. It is possible to talk and hear when standing back a few feet from the transmitter. If you should look toward the transmitter, you will find that the sound is entirely unnecessary, and is a waste of time and strength, besides being very annoying to all who range of your voice.
