Remains Of Old French Ft. Found

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP)—Ruins of an old fort built by Pierre le Moyné, Sieur d'Iberville, have been found some 18 miles from La Sarre in Abitibi.

The fort, half submerged in water, was found by Alphonse and Donat Gendron after searches by several historians over the last three years.

The provincial archives in Quebec City confirmed Thursday that the location of the fort conformed with information they had collected on D'Iberville's seven exploration trips between Montreal and Hudson bay.

Historians say the fort was built in June, 1686, on D'Iberville's first trip to the bay.

The Gendron brothers said the dry summer, during which the level of the Duparquet river rose four feet below normal, enabled them to make the discovery. Even at the low water level, half the remains of the fort were submerged.

They found supports for the fort driven 5½ feet into the ground, as well as the trigger mechanism of an old musket, a fish spear, pearls, old french nails, and a pipe made of stone and fishbone.

A park is expected to be built on the site of the most recent discovery and named after the explorer.

Almost 70 p.c. Provincial Prisoners Come Back Again

VICTORIA (CP)—Sharp criticism of Canada's penal program was voiced by warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla prison in an address here.

"It is a tragic failure in effect and expense," he said. Maintenance of each prisoner costs $25,000 a year, which means that 1,000 prisoners in Oakalla represents a $25,000,000 potential indebtedness to British Columbia.

"Across Canada there are 100,000 prison admissions each year, or a potential indebtedness of $2,500,000,000," he said.

"But the most tragic failure is the fact that almost 70 per cent of prisoners in provincial jails and more than 70 per cent of inmates of federal penitentiaries come back."

"Compare this with the 30 to 35 per cent of the cases which are successful the first time we treat them in borstal homes and the prison farm."

"Nobody is born delinquent. It is not hereditary. There is not a person living who is delinquent, who cannot be cured if he is given attention enough."

CAN TREAT IT

"Because it is caused, we can understand and treat it. It happens as a result of society's lack of attention to a particular problem."

Warden Christie said the ideal correctional system should comprise eight features.

There should be a program developed to ensure that people do not become delinquent; a probation and parole service supplied by "more private agencies than ever before," and a prison program based on "planned treatment for every person."

Mr. Christie said there should be religious training which does not try to prove that one religion is better than another and a work plan should be set up which would do away with the idea that it's non-union.

Small prisons and adequate after care is needed.

"Paddling can be therapeutic, but Oakalla does not favor it because we don't know what the effect will be, and crushing out opposition is an out-of-date technique," he said.

Rocky Mountain Goat Fine Trophy But Rare

By GRAHAM McMULLIN
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dizzy mountain ledge, far above the timberline, is the domain of one of North America's fine trophy animals.

The range of British Columbia's Rocky mountain goat is so remote and forbidding that the animal was once considered legendary.

The B.C. game commission says that only an average of 50 goats are shot each year, although an estimate places their number in the thousands.

Unlike the Rocky mountain bighorn sheep, known for its spectacular running and jumping ability among cliffs, the goat is almost ungainly.

SURE OF FOOT

But what it lacks in speed and grace, it makes up in sureness of foot. Even the bighorn must take a back seat to the goat in navigating sheer, precipitous slopes.

The agility of the goat in mountain crags is such that no sane hunter would try to follow it. Despite this, a goat can be bagged—if you know where to look for one. And not all successful goat hunts are at the risk of fractured limbs.

The heart of the elusive goat range is in B.C. with the heaviest concentration along the coastal mountain area. The animal is also found in some abundance in the Purcell range of eastern B.C. with more sprinkled throughout the central interior, Alaska, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Their coat is a solid white, sometimes tinged with yellow. They are sometimes spotted from the decks of coastal steamers, adding an interesting note to wildlife of the province.

The animal's confidence in the safety of its rocky retreat often permits a hunter to stalk within easy rifle range. In the Williams

FRAT HOUSE WRECKED
 INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—An explosion demolished the $155,000 Sigma Chi fraternity house at Butler University here Saturday, injuring seven persons. An extension of a curfew which kept many away from the three-story brick building was credited with saving a number of fraternity members from possible injury or death. The five-year-old building was a loss, a 1000-gallon hot water tank installed only Friday, apparently exploded.

EIGHT MONTHS A "WOMAN"
 MONTREAL (CP)—Andre Gagnon, 24, who told police there's nothing the matter with him except that he likes to wear women's clothing, was convicted Friday as a theft charge and remanded to Nov. 23 for sentence. The charge was laid by the woman-owner of a rooming house who said that the accused had stayed at her home for eight months before it was discovered that Miss Gagnon was a man. The owner charged that Gagnon when ordered to leave had taken about $300 worth of women's clothing from the house.

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—Moscow Dynamo Sunday defeated a Luxembourg team 6-0 in an international soccer exhibition. Half-time score was 3-0.

cold weather can make your car stall

Remember when your car stalls in traffic it may be the gasoline!

ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE STOPS COLD WEATHER STALLING

Ice in the carburetor is a major reason why cars stall. Is your car stalling these days? Before you blame it on a cold engine or badly adjusted carburetor, try Esso Extra—improved to give you even greater protection against cold weather stalling. It combats the formation of ice anywhere in your car's fuel system.

As gasoline vapors in the carburetor become super-saturated, condensation from the intake air forces the system to stop the fuel supply—and your car stalls. Available only with Esso Extra Gasoline.
