Liz Taylor Is Injured By Boston Hotel Mob

BOSTON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton slipped out of their guarded hotel suite for two hours Monday, 24 hours after a hair-pulling, mauling mob scene in which the actress suffered injuries.

Burton said through a spokesman that his bride of a week was "mobbed, jammed and tugged at and her hair pulled into a disheveled mess" on their arrival here from Toronto Sunday.

The spokesman said Miss Taylor suffered a wrenched arm, neck and back and an emotional upset requiring the care of a physician.

Burton said his own hair had been pulled, his shirt torn and his clothing pulled askew by an estimated 3,500 fans at the Hotel Sheraton-Plaza.

The couple—married March 15 in Montreal—remained in their suite from 3 p.m. Sunday to 3 p.m. Monday. Then they left the hotel for two hours to eat at a Boston waterfront restaurant. In contrast to Sunday, small groups of fewer than 50 greeted the couple cordially in front of the hotel and at the restaurant.

SAYS SHE'S ALL RIGHT

Miss Taylor told The Associated Press "I'm still a little sore today, but nothing serious is wrong with me. Really, I'm all right now."

The couple returned to the hotel after a meal of clam chowder, Finnan Haddie salad and a German white wine of 1957 vintage.

Press agent John Springer said Burton complained bitterly Sunday about what he called "poor police protection" at the hotel. Police Deputy Superintendent William Bradley denied the charge and said the visiting entourage invited a mob scene by circling the hotel three times before alighting from their hired limousine.

Bradley said there was no tugging and shoving where the couple had jurisdiction—outside the hotel.

About 3,500 persons overflowed the lobby and a street floor corridor when the couple arrived with their entourage of eight, and two small dogs. Another estimated 3,500 were at the airport when the chartered Trans-Canada Air Lines plane arrived with the famous couple and the company of the stage play Hamlet in which Burton is appearing.

They escaped the airport crowd, however, when the plane was towed by a tractor into a hangar. A car then drove into the hangar and drove the newlyweds to the hotel.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has considered building a CBC television station at Fredericton, N.B., State Secretary Lamontagne said. He gave no indication of the result of the CBC's studies in a written reply to J. Chester MacRae (PC—York-Sunbury).
