Weston Defends African Policy

TORONTO (CP) — Multi-millionaire Industrialist Garfield Weston, defending South Africa's apartheid policy, said here it is ridiculous to give the vote to black Africans. "Let's get this straight: This (South Africa) never was a black country," said Mr. Weston who has 5,000 employees in Mr. Weston, recently returned from a three-month trip to South Africa, said it is ridiculous to "try to force South Africa through the United Nations to give the vote to millions of colored men whose morals are not ours and whose Christian ethics are completely absent."

Exit Routes From Halifax Pose Increasing Problems

By JACK PICKETTS
HALIFAX (CP) — Halifax, with a population not even approaching that of Canada's biggest cities, has traffic problems that would scare some of them. There are many vehicle routes out of other cities—there are only four ways to leave Halifax and two of them are in difficulty.

The city proper — population 80,000 — sits on a small peninsula jutting into the Halifax harbor. Off the peninsula, it is surrounded by several suburbs and across the harbor by the city of Dartmouth. The metropolitan population is about 180,000.

To leave Halifax you have a choice of three routes out of the neck of the peninsula or you go across the harbor. Both-hour traffic is a growing headache. Two of the routes through the neck of the peninsula are capable of handling the traffic they see. One leads to a new highway connecting with three main provincial routes. It has taken some of the load of the highway around Bedford Basin, the most northern route out of the peninsula. But the other two exits pose major problems.

At Armadale on the neck of the peninsula, where Bedford Basin on the north and the Northwest Arm on the south come closest together, is a highway traffic circle designed to funnel a maximum of 30,000 vehicles a day in and out of the peninsula. But it is not as easy as that, particularly for Halifax. The Northwest Arm bridge and the highway interchange on the peninsula involve a residential district where some of the city's most prominent and well-to-do citizens live. As a result of protest from this section Halifax city staff came up with a new scheme—move the arm bridge farther out toward the mouth of the arm away from the narrower Oakland Road crossing—at a cost of another $12,000,000. This to Mr. Pringle, would be unfeasible financially. He said in a recent report it would mean establishing tolls at an "unacceptable" level—well above the 25 cents a single crossing or 15 cents for commuter tolls now charged on the MacDonald Bridge.

Queen's Son To Be Called Prince Edward

By DOUG MARSHALL
LONDON (CP) — The Queen's fourth child will be christened Edward Antony Richard Louis at a ceremony in the private chapel of Windsor Castle May 2. The announcement, a member of the City of Westminster Registrar William Pince drove to Windsor Castle and entered the baby's name in his book in the presence of Prince Philip. "I was particularly careful to make certain whether Prince Philip wishes there to be an E in the Antony or not," the registrar said. "The prince was emphatic that he did not want an H." Antony is a new name for a sovereign's child. It is assumed to be a compliment to Lord Snowdon — formerly Antony Armstrong-Jones. Edward, on the other hand, is one of the commonest names in English royalty. There have been eight Edwards on the throne since the days of William the Conqueror and three before that. DUKE CALLED 'EDDIE' Prince Edward is believed to be named after the Duke of Kent, who is known to his friends as "Prince Eddie." Richard is the name of the younger son of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and Louis is the Christian name of Earl Mountbatten of Burma.
