Choir To Present Easter Music

A 40-voice choir under the direction of Dr. Peter MacDonald, of Crapaud, will present an "Easter Music Hour" tomorrow in the Tryon Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. and again in the Tryon United Church at 8:30 p.m.

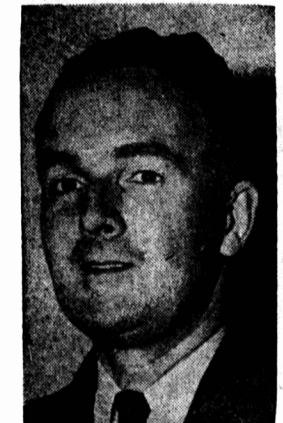

This mass choir is composed of choir members from United, Baptist, Anglican and Presbyterian Churches in the districts of Crapaud, Albany, Tryon and Cape Traverse.

The second part is entitled "His Suffering and Death" — excerpted from Strainer's Crucifixion. The third part portrays "His Resurrection and Exaltation," and includes a bass solo "The Trumpet Shall Sound" and two anthems "Angels Roll The Stone Away" and "King of Kings."

The closing feature of the hour will be an instrumental duet "The Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah, with Mrs. Allison Lea at the piano, and Dr. Peter MacDonald at the Hammond organ.

Report Of

of the College from pupils so young and as a consequence teaching may be over their heads.

(2) The lack of supervision of the work of new teachers entering the College with the consequent lack of uniformity among those teaching the same subject.

(3) Lack of guidance, personal direction and after-class help so much needed by young and immature students.

The Legislature agreed that the sudden change in teaching methods between school and College, the heavy load of the curriculum and too many outside student interests and activities were contributing factors towards the failure rate. The reference to outside interests, sponsored by the College and not connected with studies, which was made in the original report, was struck out.

Deleted The following paragraph was also deleted: "The Committee has given some thought to the matter of uniform external examinations in Grades XI and XII. It sees certain advantages in this plan in that such examinations would tend to promote healthy competition between the college on the one hand and rural high schools on the other and would also give a fair idea of the relative merits and teaching ability of each."

The Legislature struck out the paragraph suggesting that all members of the staff be responsible for the general discipline of the corridors and locker-rooms.

Premier A. W. Matheson, Hon. Keir Clark, Minister of Education; Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Hon. W. E. Darby, Attorney-General, Mr. R. R. Bell, Leader of the Opposition, Mr. George Saville and Mr. Frank Myers spoke on the report.

In his remarks the Premier pointed out that it was impossible to have a report on any committee unless there was an amalgamation of ideas in the report.

He stated that he wanted to assure the teachers at P.W.C. that there was nothing for them to worry about as far as their appointments or positions at the College were concerned as long as they were fulfilling their duties. He prefaced those remarks by saying he had heard, without any degree of foundation, that a few of the teachers were worried on account of the report.

The Premier then spoke on each section of the report, suggesting what to his mind should be deleted and what retained. His suggestions were followed to the letter.

He stated that he was very pleased with many of the suggestions but there were others he did not agree with.

Hon. W. E. Darby, Attorney-General, concurred with the Premier that these sections should be struck out.

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, a member of the Education Committee, spoke briefly while the clause dealing with the salary of the P.W.C. Principal was being considered. He stated that he had some knowledge of educational matters, having taught school for six and a half years, being President of the P.E.I. Teachers Federation for one year. He said that he had taught First Aid and Red Cross since 1914 and had been on the City School Board for 16 years.

"I don't claim to have any special ignorance in this committee," he stated. "I don't make statements for foolish purposes and I don't make statements to retract them. It would be a good policy for some members of this House to do the same thing and I don't refer to the Premier. I would keep them out of trouble."

"The Leader of the Opposition said it would be a desperate thing to wish on this section (the salary clause). Well the Government can do as it pleases but in our opinion no one man should be placed in a special category."

In conclusion Dr. MacMillan referred to a decision which his Government had made while he was Premier establishing Grades XI and XII in Summerside. He stated that the next Government wished on the proposition. He was pointing this out, he stated, so the House might know, such a thing was not new to Provincial circles.

Mr. R. R. Bell objected to several sections in the report as the report was being read and the points to which he objected were removed.

Mr. George Saville stated that he could not see what the committee had to do with Prince of Wales College, and Mr. Frank Myers reported that he was a member of the Building Committee which had gone through Prince of Wales College, without any previous warning to the Principal, and they had found everything in order. "After twenty years there was nothing out of order whatsoever," he stated.

Mr. Clark's Statement Hon. Keir Clark, Minister of Education and Chairman of the Education Committee who spoke at length on the matters stated:

"In replying to those who have spoken on this debate I must point out that the members of the Committee were given a job to do by this House. The Committee met on ten occasions and long hours were spent examining our educational system.

"It is not surprising to me that members of this House differ in opinions. For a number of months long letters have appeared in the press, pro and con, on educational matters generally, including Prince of Wales College. These correspondents, including the principal of the College, differed in opinion and arguments still continue. I, therefore, agree with the observation credited to an old Indian who said that it was a good thing that all men did not see as he saw because if they did—they would all want his squaw. Therefore, perhaps difference of opinion may be desirable. I am not concerned at all, therefore, as to the ultimate disposition of this report. There is, however, no 'hands washing' of this report as far as I am concerned, and I trust the Committee feels the same way. I signed the report and I will stick with it.

making a living in the City should pay their share."

A bill entitled the Prince of Wales College Act was also given a second reading. Following is the text of the bill:

The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may appoint for the said College a principal, first vice-principal, a second vice-principal, a registrar, a director of teacher training, and such other officers and teachers as may be required, and shall fix the salaries payable to all employees and the terms of their employment.

The principal, the vice-principals, the registrar, the director of teacher training, and such other officers and teachers as may from time to time be named by the Board shall constitute a committee of administration for the College; which committee shall be subject to the regulations and directions of the Board.

The Board of Trustees shall consist of the Director of Education, proposed tax for both men and women was too high and he suggested that the figures be lowered somewhat.

Mr. George Saville stated that it seemed to him the whole matter of the High School must have been rushed into without proper consideration as the building was in a very poor location. He stated that the idea of a middle aged woman or a young girl who had just finished school paying such a tax was an outrage.

Premier Matheson stated that the bill should have gone before the private bills committee so that people could be interviewed on the matter and amendments added to it.

Related Introduction He pointed out that it was an unfortunate thing that the City of Charlottetown introduced its bills to the House on the last day of the session as it was then impossible to give the bills full consideration in private committee.

"Imagine bringing in bills on the last day of the House. It's a horrible way of procedure," stated Mr. Darby. "If it happens again we will refer it to the private bills committee even if it is the last day and we have to wait a year for the report."

Hon. B. Earle MacDonald stated the bills were late in being introduced on account of the civic election designating a new Council in February.

Schools Out of Date Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan stated that he was a member of the School Board and would take his share of the responsibility of the new High School.

"I ask you men to be reasonable," he stated. "The schools were all out of date. It was over 20 years since any additions were put onto the schools. Don't you think we did right?"

He stated that the City Council alone was not responsible for the school. "The School Board is building the school and the Council is paying for it. I don't think it is fair that the whole burden of education should fall on the property owners. I think those

City Tax Hon. Keir Clark, Minister of Education, stated that he noticed this poll tax was now being camouflaged as an Education Tax and he objected to this change.

He stated that he was opposed both to the $30.00 tax on men and $15.00 tax on women. "That is a ridiculous tax on the ladies of the City," he stated.

Mr. T. R. Cullen stated that the

"During the fifth meeting Mr. H. B. Chandler, Superintendent of Libraries and Director of Adult Education was present for the first half hour and Mr. J. B. Brown, Vice-Principal of Prince of Wales College, for the second half hour. Mr. Brown attributed the failure rate at Prince of Wales College to two things: lack of preparation and the tremendous outside activity which prevails among the student body.

"Up to this time as you can see most of the witnesses were each allotted one half hour. According to this plan it would have been our pleasure to have had Dr. MacKinnon, the last witness before us for the same length of time.

Requested Public Hearing "Dr. MacKinnon wrote me an urgent letter requesting a public hearing to which I did not reply. And he also wrote the Premier as well.

"The next step in this unfolding pattern was when the Leader of the Opposition urged public hearings on the floor of this House so Dr. MacKinnon might be heard. This request was granted, and it was hereafter the committee turned into Fortunately the gale was blowing away from other nearby houses otherwise it is doubtful if the fire could have been prevented from spreading.

Two Have Narrow Escape As Dwelling At Alberton Razed By Fire Yesterday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Shaw, Alberton, was burned to the ground yesterday morning in a spectacular blaze as a strong north west wind drove the flames throughout the interior of the building with the intensity of a blow torch. Mrs. Shaw became aware of the fire when she noticed the downstairs part of the house rapidly filling with smoke and had barely time to rush upstairs and rescue their eleven months old baby and fifteen-year-old Goldie, a victim of polio. The baby was unconscious from the heavy smoke and the older girl suffered minor burns to one foot while being assisted downstairs. Three other children, Sandra 5, Joyce 4 and Brenda 2 were playing downstairs and were quickly taken outside. Gloria 12, Gail 8 and Vance 11 were in school at the time. All household goods, clothing and furniture, with the exception of a gasoline washer which Mrs. Shaw carried outside unaided, was lost. The Alberton Fire Department was called but nothing could be done to save the house which was a raging inferno when they arrived. The loss is a particularly serious one for Mr. Shaw as he suffered a similar fire two years ago and as far as can be learned will not benefit from insurance. He is employed at Matthews Turkey Farm. this so-called investigation of Prince of Wales College. "I am inclined to agree to a certain extent with those who said that this part of the proceedings was a waste of time. Why? You know what happened when the curtain rose. The Principal of the College spoke for nearly two and one half hours and it took 28 legal size pages to record his initial speech as well as all the following day to clarify his remarks and statements by questions from the committee. If anyone was responsible for all of this it was the Honourable Leader of the Opposition for requesting the open hearing for the quiet witness so Dr. MacKinnon could answer, not the questions of the committee but so he might speak at great length to answer remarks made on the floor of this House and in the press, for the past several years, which is a horse of an entirely different colour.

So far as the administration of my department is concerned, I shall not be guided by my feelings for the past but will deal with conditions as I find them at present and look forward to better things for the future, for the boys and girls that have still to attend the schools and colleges of this Province.

PRINCE COUNTY HOSPITAL DIRECTORS APPROVE SITE FOR NURSES HOME

The 2½ storey building will be of brick construction and similar in architecture to the hospital. It will be able to accommodate over 50 students.

The board has for some time considered that the construction of a nurses home is of vital importance if the training school is to obtain the necessary number of student nurses.

It is the feeling of the board that the lack of a nurses home is the main cause for the shortage of students.

said the meeting likely would not touch on the crash itself, because city officials felt it would be "highly improper to act so as to blame one party or the other."

Mr. Marquis said council would discuss the practice of RCAF flights over the city, which the air force had been "very co-operative in reducing..."

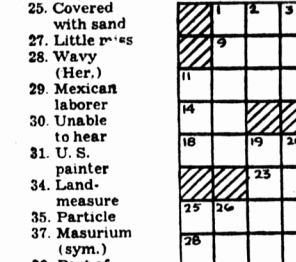

He denied a published report which said the city would probe about the flights over Moose Jaw. Meanwhile, next-of-kin began trickling into this shocked city to attempt to identify crash victims.

Bodies of 19 of the North Star's 35 passengers and crew have been identified, four positively and 13 tentatively. Names of all aboard the craft were announced Thursday night by TCA at Montreal.
