Johnny Pesky Named New Bosox Manager

NEW YORK (AP) - Cigar-smoking Johnny Pesky, in a state of exhilaration over his new post as Boston Red Sox manager, said Sunday "we'll trade almost anyone on the ball club to improve it."

"I'll do everything I can to give Boston a winning team," said the former infield great who was the reliable hitter of those slugging Red Sox teams of the late 1940s.

Pesky was informed of his selection Saturday night by club owner Tom Yawkey and the man he succeeds, Mike Higgins.

Higgins has been named executive vice-president of baseball and his previous superior, Dick O'Connell, becomes executive vice-president of business.

"This is like a bolt out of the blue," Pesky said. "Until now I thought I was returning as manager of the Seattle farm club next year.

"I don't know many of the players but I'm going over all that information with Higgins.

"Boy, what a surprise. Mr. Yawkey and Higgins called me, asked me a few questions and then said: 'We want you'."

Sox officials, here for the World Series, announced the decision immediately after talking to Pesky. Terms and length of the agreement were not made public.

Pesky, 43, spent most of his 13 major league playing career with Boston though he served short terms later with Washington, Detroit and Baltimore. He managed in the Detroit system before taking over the No. 1 Sox farm team in Seattle in 1960. His teams finished second and third in the Pacific Coast League.

Russia Boosts Farm Output But Falls Below Goals Set

ROME (AP)—The Soviet Union boosted its lagging agricultural production into a slight gain in the last year but still fell below fixed goals, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization has reported.

Although Soviet farm planners have been talking in terms of vastly increased food output from more intensive farming, most of the gains came from planting increased acreage.

FAO's 1962 summary of the world food and agriculture situation said the slight increase in Russia's production—about two per cent—was causing concern to Soviet planners.

They have the job of figuring how to feed a fast-increasing population, expected to reach 280,000,000 by 1980. To do that, food production by 1970 had been aimed at 2.5 times the 1960 level, with a further increase of 40 per cent by 1980.

FOLAND'S CROPS GOOD

Production in other Eastern European countries also appeared drastically below fixed targets. The only country with good crops was Poland, where only 12 per cent of farmland is under collective or state farms, in contrast to the rush toward near-total collective farming in the other Eastern European countries.

"Among the countries of Eastern Europe, only Poland appears to have had a good season in 1961-62. The southern countries of the region suffered from drought, and in Eastern Germany labor shortage and other problems, resulting from the rapid collectivization of the previous year, caused considerable losses.

"As a result of an increase in (planted) area, especially of maize (corn), grain harvest in the U.S.S.R. rose slightly in 1961-62, but at 137,000,000 tons it was considerably below the target of 154,000,000 tons.

"Potato production failed to increase, and the output of other vegetables fell by six per cent."

Report Given On Inspection Of Island Home

CPAE TOWN (Reuters) — Cleaning out the church was one of the first jobs the advance party of Tristan Da Cunha islanders did on returning to their volcanic homeland in the south Atlantic, it was reported here.

They swept out lava dust that had settled during the 12 months since the island's population of 262 was evacuated after the volcano erupted, according to acting administrator H.G. Stableford.

Stableford was speaking to reporters after arriving here from Tristan Da Cunha aboard a royal navy frigate. He went with the advance party to report to the British colonial office on the possibilities of the islanders returning to their home.

He would not give an opinion on their chances of going home, but he seemed not to find conditions impossible for their return.

He said there were no emotional scenes when the 12 islanders landed. After a quick look about they soon harnessed two bullocks to a cart and carried their stocks to a safe place.

Stableford said the cattle were not at all wild—in fact, they seemed rather glad to see human beings again.

Of the 240 cattle left on the island, at least 200 were alive and apparently in good condition.

Missing Squid Cause Loss To Nfld. Fishermen

ST JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A Newfoundland fish plant operator has started importing squid from the United States to combat a serious bait shortage which may have caused a loss of as much as 1,120,000 pounds of fish this fall.

Con O'Brien, managing director of Newfoundland Quick Freeze Limited, said here he has imported 175,000 pounds of squid, and now has enough bait to supply three fish plants operated by his company.

General secretary P. J. Antle of the Newfoundland Federation of Fishermen said according to reports he has received the fish are fairly plentiful, but fishermen have only frozen herring —an unpopular bait — with which to go after them.

Mr Antle estimated the loss of fish resulting from the lack of squid would run to 100,000 quintals. A quintal is equal to 112 pound.

Fresh squid, which in normal years swarm in several Newfoundland bays during most of the summer and fall, have failed to put in an appearance this year.

About three years ago several fish plant operators got together to import squid, which this year costs 11 cents a pound. Mr. O'Brien said. Local squid usually costs only a cent or two a pound.

The federal fisheries department, which in the same year imported squid to meet the serious shortage, so far this year has made do with herring in the hope that the squid would appear So far they haven't although they could still come.

MPs Query CNR Layoffs

OTTAWA (CP) — The two Commons members from the Lakehead have drawn the government's attention to layoffs of CNR trainmen there and elsewhere in Canada.

Hubert Badanal (L—Fort William) said he received a telegram from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen protesting the layoff of nine men in his city.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) said he had received a similar telegram from the Lakehead, and others concerning layoffs at Moncton, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Hornpayne, Ont.

He asked the government to take up the question with the CNR with a view to establishing the scale and duration of layoffs for the information of MPs with divisional points in their constituencies.

Transport Minister Balcer promised to do so, and report to the House.

CHOLERA ELIMINATED

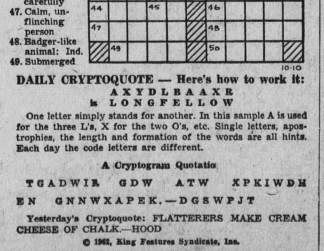
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

Declarer had to play exceptionally well in this hand to make four spades. His apparent losers were two clubs and two spades, but he managed to make one trump loser disappear.

West led a club and East cashed the A-K and returned the jack. South ruffed and now has to find a way of losing only one spade trick.

Generally, with this suit combination, declarer begins by leading low towards the king. He hopes West was dealt A-x, and, if that is the case, the play succeeds. When West follows low, the king in dummy wins, and when the suit is returned, declarer simply plays low from his hand, forcing the ace. The queen later picks up East's remaining spade.

However, in this hand, South knew that the usual method of play could not succeed. Every missing high card was known to be in East's hand, since East has opened the bidding with a notrump (16 to 18 points). So he adopted a different line of play that gave him a chance of making the contract.

After ruffing the club, declarer cashed the A-K of hearts and trumped a heart. He then entered dummy with a diamond and ruffed the last club. His next cashed two diamonds, ending in dummy, at which point this was the situation:

Declarer now led the nine of hearts. East ealized that if hi ruffed low, South would make the contract. So he ruffed with the jack, hoping to find West with the 10-9 or 10-8 of spades.

It was a good try by East, but South was not to be denied. He overruffed with the queen and led the eight of spades for a finesse. It didn't matter whether West covered or not. East could make only one
