AMAZED BY ARGUE

The national leader of Canada's newest political group, still shakes his head in amazement as he recalls the manner of Hazen Argue's defection from his party.

"He sat with us on Friday and Saturday through a two-day session of our provincial party council in Regina, where we laid complete plans for the coming year. They included legislation to be introduced in the budget for the new year and other plans he explained. Mr. Argue even addressed the council Saturday morning.

"And, added, Mr. Douglas, at the same time Ross Thatcher, provincial Liberal leader in Saskatchewan, had been arranging the details with the press for a new conference Sunday afternoon, where Mr. Argue was to announced his decision.

Less than a month earlier Mr. Argue had assured Mr. Douglas and federal party MPs at a parley in Ottawa, that he had no intention of changing parties, despite rumors which were current even at that early date.

RECEPTIONS PLEASING

Receptions given him in the Maritimes "have been better than I expected", the smiling leader said as he looked back on several dozen stops at such places as Saint John's and Cornerbrook in Newfoundland; Cape Breton, New Glasgow, Truro, Antigonish, Halifax and Amherst in Nova Scotia, and in Moncton and Saint John in New Brunswick.

The tight travel schedule will continue across the country in anticipation of the early federal election date.

"I just can't see the Prime Minister waiting long enough for the people to forget the latest $10 increase in social security payments, he explained.

Mr. Douglas is accompanied by T.K. Shoyama, research chief for the party. He was chief of the planning board for the government during the Douglas administration in Saskatchewan.

Oil Shares Boom Hits Australia

An oil share that could have been bought for 11 Australian pennies (10 cents) in 1957 reached a peak of £7 ($15.68) on the Melbourne exchange.

The reason for the boom is an oil strike at Moonie, Queensland, 200 miles west of Brisbane.

Moonie No. 1 well produced at the rate of 1,920 barrels a day in a 21-day production test in December.

Moonie No. 2 well was sunk nearby and an official report said oil flowed from this at the rate of 2,352 barrels a day in a 49-minute test.

Sherwood Crime Level Low In Feb.

Major and minor crime in the Village of Sherwood was at a low level during the month of February, Constable John Norton, village police officer, reported Saturday.

The only offender during the entire month was one charged with speeding, and in his case his reported speed was such that the minimum penalty was imposed by the court.

Outside of that case, Cnst. Norton was not called upon to investigate any other incidents. He said that his biggest problem at the moment is the dog population, with a number not being licenced and a few others being allowed to run at large. Cnst. Norton was confident that he would have this problem solved within a few weeks.

ICE SLOWS

all crossings were made in between two and three hours.

GULF ICE HEAVY

At North Sydney, N.S., a spokesman for the transport department's icebreaking headquarters said ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence was "bad" but shipping was moving slowly. Freighters entering Dalhousie, N.B., and Corner Brook, Nfld, were escorted by icebreakers.

A flotilla of eight sealers, inching through the ice in the gulf, had asked for no assistance from the icebreakers Sunday night, but a sealing official in Halifax said "we may be in real trouble if those east winds keep up for a few more days." The winds are pushing the ice into the area in which the sealers hope to operate.

AWAIT DAYLIGHT

The CNR ferry William Carson was berthed at North Sydney Sunday night awaiting daylight before attempting her crossing to Port Aux Basques, Nfld. Smaller CNR ships on the run have been using Halifax and Mulgrave, N.S., as mainland terminals because of the ice.

The icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert punched her way into St. John's Nfld., harbor Sunday night after being stuck herself in Conception Bay since Saturday. But the results of the Gilbert's efforts were shortlived. Minutes after she broke through the harbor ice, it filled in again. No ships are able to enter or leave St. John's.

United States Wheat Acreage Cut Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The acreage of wheat in the United States this year may be smallest since the turn of the century.

The agriculture department has reported that farmers have already agreed to retire 11,916,000 acres of wheat from the 55,000,000 acres they have been harvesting under the government control program.

When the signup is completed March 31, the acreage may not be much above 40,000,000 acres, the level prevailing around 1900.

Wheat land is being retired under a new government program which requires producers to reduce plantings at least 10 per cent below allotments assigned them under the 55,000,000 - acre program. For doing this, they get government payments and make themselves eligible for price supports on wheat.

Snow Turns To Slush, Roads Reported Open

Milder weather and rainshowers turned provincial highways into ribbons of slush early Sunday before snowplow operators were able to clear away Saturday's accumulation of eight inches of wet snow.

Plows and sanding trucks were out cleaning up the mess, widening cuttings where necessary and improving slippery sections.

Most roads, although heavy, were kept open, however. Reports from Montague and Alberton were similar to that from the Charlottetown area, indicating open highways all weekend.

Summerside reported 10 inches of snow and one-tenth of an inch of rain. Highways department officials said the rain left the highways in "summer driving" conditions in the area.

The radio range at the Charlottetown airport reported that eight inches of snow and .20 inches of rain fell from 8 a.m. Saturday to 8 p.m. Sunday. A maximum of 25 inches of snow was recorded on the ground Saturday afternoon but this was quickly reduced to 20 inches when the rain began.

Temperatures varied from 34 degrees on Saturday afternoon to 32 Saturday night and 33 yesterday. Winds were from the northeast or north northeast much of the weekend ranging from 12 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour with gusts up to 52 at one time.

APPROVE TREATY

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek parliament Thursday ratified Greece's association with the European Economic Community. The approval came after eight weeks of heated debate between Constantine Caramanlis' government and the opposition parties.

Student Explains Gaelic Proposal

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The student who started the clamor for recognition of Gaelic instead of French as second official language at Queen's University, thinks it would be no more an insult to French - Canadians than the separatism issue is to those who speak English.

"Rather than it being an act of discourtesy towards the French in Canada, I think it a sign of individualism and a retention of heritage — something the French would respect," said fourth-year engineering student Sydney Overall.

Queen's, founded as a Presbyterian college, has since had links with Scotland.

Mr. Overall had asked for a petition calling for a student vote on the matter. Earlier, Alma Mater Society president Stewart Goodings said the move might be construed as an insult by French-Canadians.
