Swifts Animal

High Grade Fertilizers

In introducing the above Fertilizers we quote what the manufacturers say about it:—

"Knowing full well that Animal Matter, which originally comes from the soil, is the most complete and natural plant-food to return to Mother Earth, we have concluded to place within reach of the public a line of fertilizers (made from the products of our numerous Slaughtering and Rendering Houses, properly manufactured with High Grade Potash added) fully believing that all intelligent farmers would much rather have such materials unadulterated than to buy of those who merely use enough of these materials for a foundation, and adulterate with Mineral and other inferior articles so as to get the bulk and diminish the price; and the success of our goods has proven the wisdom of our reasoning beyond our most sanguine expectations. Our goods once in the field, our trade is assured.

Animal products are a lasting benefit to the soil, whilst Phosphate Rock and chemicals are a detriment as soon as the chemical substance is leached away. The animal materials from which our fertilizers are made are by nature the most powerful crop producers known."

We are selling the above Fertilizers at a small advance on cost and would be pleased to have you favor us with your order.

PRETORIA OCCUPIED BY THE BRITISH

Official Entry Will be Made This Afternoon.

BOER OPERATIONS HAVE BEEN COMPLETELY BAFFLED

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE EXAMINER.

PRETORIA OCCUPIED.

LONDON, June 5.—It is officially announced that the British have occupied Pretoria.

LATER.

LONDON, June 5.—The following is from Roberts:

PRETORIA, June 5, 11.40 a. m.—We are now in possession of Pretoria. The official entry will be made this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

LONDON, June 5.—The official intelligence regarding what is transpiring outside, there is little or nothing.

Lord Roberts is silent. Nevertheless, by piecing together news from the various correspondents, it would seem that Lord Roberts' immediate army is all employed north of Johannesburg except one brigade which is at Johannesburg, and that the six columns are converging on Pretoria.

Undated News Agency messages from Pretoria, via Lorenzo Marques, June 4th say: "Pretoria is now invested by the British. No resistance will be offered.

"The city will be surrendered by the Burgomaster as soon as a formal demand is made."

This message purports to come in cipher. President Kruger commands the telegraph eastward from Pretoria and the telegraphic news from Pretoria to Lorenzo Marques has ceased, but the messengers of newspaper correspondents continue to go to and fro on the railway.

From Lorenzo Marques comes a despatch dated June 4th, saying: It is known that some great British movement is in progress outside of Pretoria.

The mysterious movements of President Kruger's secretary and physician, particularly their secret visit to the Dutch warship Friesland, which is in the harbor here, has aroused suspicion.

News from minor theatres of hostilities is less cryptic.

The Boers operations to break Lord Roberts' communications have been completely baffled and the Boer columns are in danger of being surrounded by the British force at Ficksburg, Senekal, Heilbron and Lindley.

General Rundle, instead of throwing himself against the Boers entrenched at Bedulphberg, moved toward Ficksburg and established communication with General Brabant.

The Boers marched parallel with Gen. Rundle intending to seize a strong position on the Ficksburg road. But Rundle was there first.

The 1500 Boers who were in this movement are now reported to be going elsewhere.

CANADIANS WOUNDED.

OTTAWA, June 5.—Colonel Otter reports by cable that seven men of the Royal Canadian Regiment were wounded May 28th. He states that the effective strength of the Battalion at the front is now only 450, all ranks.

A LITTLE EXPERIENCE.

While on the road from Thebaucha to Winberg and the 2nd of May, Mr. Hedley McKinnon wrote to his brother in this city as follows:

We have had another little experience and not a very pleasant one either. Left our camp at daylight, Monday morning, to begin the march on Winberg. The whole division was supposed to move, but as the Highland Brigade was away somewhere else they did not come with us. About ten o'clock on Monday morning we were stopped by heavy firing ahead and in a few minutes it began to sound on all sides. Very shortly we found ourselves completely surrounded and that the Boers were using artillery which far outranged ours. In front of us, as usual, was a range of hills varying from 500 to 1000 feet high and on these the Boer riflemen were posted. We had to go past in some way, but it looked pretty bad for a while and visions of a trip to Pretoria troubled us. The idea of making an attack on the front while the artillery was on our flank was certainly a novel and I must say, an extremely unpleasant experience. We were in reserve; but as every available man was needed we were sent off in all directions. Three of our companies were sent to take a hill on the left, and the moment we began to move the Boers turned every gun they had on us. One man was torn to pieces, another lost his blanket, my rifle was shattered, Bowness lost the heel of his boot, and lots of other little things happened. By judicious advancing and making rushes under cover of each other's fire, we gained the first ridge, but could do no more. Stayed there all night with fixed bayonets, waiting for an attack which never came. We were neatly frozen, and were hungry as well. In the morning we advanced, and those of us on the left who had good cover got some splendid shooting. I can account for three wounded Boers and one killed, and I am sure nearly all the other fellows did just as well. They were completely wiped out. Some heavy guns came to help us and they put two of the enemy's out of action while the mounted men captured two more. We got a little grub in the afternoon, the first since Monday morning, and felt good enough for another day at it. But there was no enemy left. Those on our right had retreated and the others were wiped out. The general has given Canadians great credit, but we don't deserve it any more than the Gordons or Shrops. It was the hardest fight we have had yet,—not such heavy rifle fire as at Paardeberg, but the artillery and the fact that we were surrounded made it worse. Last evening we came down from the hill, through the pass and bivouacked here. We are now having one day's rest which has been well earned, and will move on to Winberg to-morrow morning. Since beginning this the Sgt. Major has shouted that a transport leaves in fifteen minutes, and if I want to catch it I must hustle. Would give you a much better account of the fun but time will not permit, so will have to put it off till next chance.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

Frank Tannehill, Jr., and Company Present "A Young Wife."

There was plenty of thrill in the play of last evening and not a little fun. The actors take their parts well. They don't greatly overact—the best of them not at all—and they hold the mirror up to nature fairly well. Horace Greenpage Dobbins (Mr. Tannehill) was particularly funny, and the ladies were all good. Messrs. Walcott, Lang, Keenan and Wooderson acted well their several parts. Altogether the company is a well-balanced one and worthy of public patronage.

THE DEBENTURES.

Sir,—Last evening I listened to the Premier introducing his debenture bill in our Legislative Assembly. The Premier must be a very ignorant man or else he must imagine the people of this province are very ignorant and forgetful. While the issue of debentures may tide over a difficulty,—yet the persistent practice will end in disaster sooner or later. The country have a valiant defender of their rights in the Leader of the Opposition and Mr. Shaw, whose speech last evening was a masterly effort,—clear, incisive and convincing, thoroughly exposing the deceptive practices of the Government—practices which only require to be exposed to carry conviction and condemnation of the present imbecile government to every sector in the Province. Farquharson and his master, Pineau, will soon reach the end of their devices.
