Inman Gathering

On August 13 approximately 80 members of the Inman Clan and their connections assembled at the Anglican Youth Centre. After an hour's renewal of old friendships and associations, the President, Albert Linkletter, welcomed all with a special welcome to the visitors.

There were four generations present of pioneer John Inman who came to this Province in 1819 from Yorkshire, England with his wife and family. A tinge of sadness was mingled with joy for within the year three members of the Clan, Mrs. Matthew Gamble, Belmont, Miss Ethel Inman, Craud and Mrs. John L. Inman, St. Catharines have passed on. A two minute silence was observed in their memory.

Short speeches were given by Abijah Inman, Providence, R.I. who expressed himself as being happy to again visit his native soil and recalled having as a small boy with his father, the late William Inman, Desable, attended the first Inman picnic in 1809, on the old homestead of his forebears at Hampton shore.

On Sunday afternoon August 14 an accident occurred off the floats at Borden pier when Kevin and Cameron Rahahan, aged 10 and 8 years, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rahahan, Borden, were playing on the floats. Cameron was pushed into the water, which is deep there, and as he was unable to swim Kevin went to his rescue. He could not swim, however, with the weight of his brother and both were sinking. Their cries for help were heard by spectators nearby who thought the boys were just playing until Allison Jeffrey noticed their plight and threw them a rope, which they were unable to grasp. He then made a noose on the rope, lassoed the boys and brought them to shore. After receiving artificial respiration the boys were able to walk home. Much praise is due Allison Jeffrey who by his presence of mind and quick action saved the lives of the two small boys.

Inman (81) St. Catharines who has for many years attended these gatherings. The family tree with all the descendants was on display and a number of new names added.
