

Retired Naval Man Very Critical Of Credit Buying

OTTAWA (CP)—The president of the Royal Canadian Naval Benevolent Fund Monday had some harsh words for credit buying.

Vice-Admiral Harold T. W. Grant, retired, said in his presidential report to the fund's annual meeting here.

"The noticeable increase in credit buying is directly attributable to high pressure salesmanship and accepted as a normal, if an undesirable, product of our North American way of living.

"Our files are studied with applications of young men who bought television sets, motor cars and household appliances with every prospect of an orderly payment over a year or two—until faced with some unforeseen contingency; and their definition of the unforeseen is often at variance with reality.

MARRY TOO SOON

"This accepted attitude towards credit buying quite naturally encourages the premature acquisition of wives and children whose upkeep on a young sailor's pay is difficult enough without the added burden of loans plus interest.

"Thus we are faced with cases

Fisheries Council Meets

HALIFAX (CP) — Fisheries Council of Canada President O.J. McDonald of Vancouver said here Monday the present system of Canadian fisheries needs study and "perhaps even painful reappraisal."

Effective action must be taken in cost structure, efficiency of operations, quality of fish products, public relations and sales programs and artificial barriers.

He told the 13th annual meeting of the council "we do not deserve to be entrusted with harvesting, processing, and marketing Canada's fisheries unless we do our utmost to realize the full potential lying at our doorstep."

LIMITED LIVING

Fish harvesting only provides a living for a given number of people. British Columbia had already passed the saturation point. Where this point was reached there was a tendency to increase fish prices and give greater returns to an excessively large fleet. This was a basic factor in the high cost structure of the industry.

"We must be extremely concerned that every effort is being made to increase our foreign trade through surmounting exchange difficulties and reducing tariffs in major export markets. In this field we must look to government for consideration of Canada's fishing industry interests.

"Exploitation of our fishery resource by other nations must be curbed. Protection of fisheries immediately adjacent to our coasts require alteration of international law pertaining to territorial waters."

POLLUTION PROBLEM

Pollution of fishing waters from industrial and residential expansion was another problem facing fishermen.

"The public demands better quality and value," he said. "We must be in tune with the times through an effective public relations and sales program."

Objects Drop From Skies Over Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—Reports of more objects dropping from the skies in the Eastern Townships were received Monday.

John McGuire, owner of a 100-acre farm near Cookshire, Que., reported finding bits of what looked like aluminum foil or tin-lead in his fields.

Meanwhile RCMP in Sherbrooke, Que., 100 miles east of Montreal, have investigated some objects found Monday night by Mrs. Claude Smith, wife of a farm-equipment salesman, near their three-acre farm at North Hatley, Que.

There was speculation the objects come from the Russian's Sputnik II or from RCAF radar tests.

Sergeant Harvey Patenaude of the RCMP Sherbrooke detachment said he had no comment to make.

Although RCAF sources would not comment, it was speculated the objects could be parts of a rocket or kite used for testing radar at the RCAF's auxiliary squadron in Sherbrooke.

FREIGHTER SUNK

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain. (AP)—The 3,284-ton German freighter Midgard sank Tuesday in Passajes harbor, a few miles north of San Sebastian. Forty crew members escaped injury.

37 Ships Arrive At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Thirty-seven-ocean ships steamed into Montreal harbor Sunday. Two mishaps were reported.

The 8,000-ton United States freighter Mormachawk went aground on the south bank of a channel. Tugs pulled her off an hour later, undamaged.

Harbor officials said absence of buoys marking the channel might have been partly responsible for the mishap. Buoys are not put into position until all ice is gone, they said.

The Liberian vessel Urania had a power failure just below Jacques Cartier bridge and drifted about a quarter-mile before a freighter and tugs came to her assistance. They reached her before she could collide with other ships or wharves.

Still Repairing Storm Damage

ST. JOHN'S (CP) — Crews of the Newfoundland Light and Power Company are still repairing damage to poles and wires felled during a four-day sleet storm that started Feb. 28.

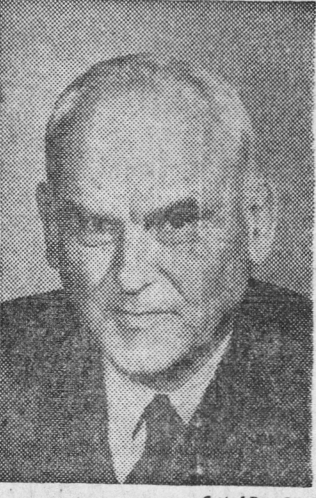

General Manager V. A. Ainsworth said Monday the transmission line that carries electricity to Bell Island, 13 miles from here by road and water, will be "completely repaired in another week." A second line from the Goulds switching station to St. John's would be restored in 10 days.

Local repair men are aided by a crew from Montreal who will stay on after the job is completed to install new equipment in various parts of the province.

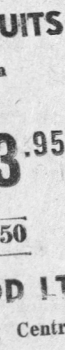

The sleet storm disrupted all power and communication lines on the Avalon Peninsula and left this city blacked out for 12 hours. Some communities were without electricity for two weeks.

The storm was described by officials as the worst in history for the amount of damage it did to power lines. Damage estimates have not been completed.
