THE NEWS IN SHORT METRE.

Rideau range, at Ottawa, has been finally closed.

It is estimated that 6,000 settlers made their new home in Manitoba this summer.

The indiscriminate slaughter of deer in the province of Quebec is reported to be enormous.

Mr. Tarte has signed the plan finally adopted for the improvement of Montreal harbor, and work will be proceeded with at once.

Iowa's lucky boy is Adolph Johnson. While digging worms for bait, near Clinton, he unearthed a box containing $50,000.

The Montreal committee of the Victorian Order of Nurses reports $17,464 collected. But the subscriptions do not appear to be general, as $15,000 of the amount was given by six persons, and $18,000 by one man.

Despatches received from Graslitz, a town of Bohemia, nineteen miles from Eger, announce that earthquake shocks accompanied by thunderlike rumblings, have been terrifying the inhabitants of that place and its vicinity. Eight of the shocks were violent and many families left the place.

A project is on foot for the erection of a large cotton mill on the famous table rock at the Chaudiere, Ottawa, which is regarded as perhaps the best site for water power in the Dominion of Canada.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has given it as his opinion that the passage of the United States training ship Yantic to the great lakes is a violation of the act of 1818, which limits the maintenance of warships on those waters.

Near Mount Forest, Ontario, John Armstrong's four year old daughter, during the mother's absence, gave carbolic acid to the baby, who died from the effects.

There is a question in Quebec city about running cars on Sunday morning. Clergy of all denominations are against it, and the railway company itself requests that the Council do not force it to live up to its charter in this respect.

According to one report the men of the Gordon Highlanders who were killed at Dargai were mostly Irishmen. This may be somewhat of a setback to some enthusiastic Scots. All will admit, though, that, whatever their nationality, they were mighty good men.

People who are looking for hidden treasure had better not go to Mexico. While digging up a tree on a ranch near Monterey, a man servant found three earthen jars, filled with gold and silver coin, and securing a sack, proceeded to carry it to his cabin. When the ranchman heard of the find there was a great time. The amount was $20,000, of which the Government took one-third; the remaining two-thirds went to the ranchman, and the servant, for his share was given three years in prison.

One of the largest banks in New York makes a searching examination of each department at least three times a year. No one but the President knows when these things take place. He summons three heads of departments and they take charge of the clerks' books and firm assets so quickly that nothing can be changed or concealed. Since this system was adopted, several years ago, no trace of dishonesty has been found. Those clerks who get through a year without an error receive a premium.

Undoubtedly the most extraordinary township in England is that of Sialk, in Cumberland. It contains but one house, the occupier of which is unable to exercise the Briton's privilege of voting, because there is no overseer to prepare a voters' list and no church or other place of worship or assembly in which to publish one. The most remote village in England is that of Farley-on-Pitton. This rural spot is thirty and one-half miles from the nearest railway station. As a contrast to this may be mentioned the hamlet of Ystard, about ten miles from Cardiff. This tiny settlement possesses two railroads and two large rivers.

The Archbishop of Athens, Mgr. De Angelis, has addressed a report to the Pope on the situation of the Catholics in Greece, which he declares to be lamentable. Most of the Catholics are in a state of misery. The Catholic chapel at Larissa has been destroyed, and three other churches in Thessaly have fallen into the hands of the Turks. The Archbishop asks the Pope to send prompt relief to the Greek Catholics, who number 16,000. The fact that a Catholic for the first time has been made a member of the Greek Cabinet, in the person of M. Toman, Minister of Justice, has created a good impression at the Vatican.

THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

A Correspondent Who Tries to Show That Its Overthrow is a Possibility.

LONDON, November 3.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News indulges, apparently with all gravity, in a surprising speculation that the overthrow of the republic is within the limits of possibility as a result of the coming election for members of the chamber of deputies. The News presents the statement without comment. The correspondent says: "On all sides I hear that the next elections are likely to give us, if not a parliament of rallies, one in which they will be uppermost. Should this happen, they might think it well to withdraw their allegiance from the republic."

"The pope would not object. He is in favor of the practicable course, whatever it may be. There would be really very little difficulty to turn this republic into a kingdom or empire. If there was a conservative majority, an empire would be of easier achievement."

"A king or emperor would not have to face the odium of making draconian laws to defend his power. He would find them ready to hand. They are the legacy of the Carnot and Cassimir-Perrier presidencies, and were gages of strong government given to Russia. All the power of the government will be employed to keep out socialists and radicals."

"In view of future events, the monarchists have not rallied, and the Bonapartists have fused. Were Prince Victor to step aside and Prince Louis Napoleon to be placed at the head of this amalgamated party, there might be striking results. The latter prince has been seeing the king of Italy at Monza. He is now in Switzerland, and is expected at Mont Caler, where his mother lives, before returning to Paris en route to Russia, where he will visit the czar at Peierhof."

Lady Davies and Miss Ethel Davies will leave to-morrow morning for Washington, where they will join Sir Louis Davies. It is probable that Sir Louis will not return to Charlottetown this fall.

Messrs. Bernard McQuillan and Thomas Flynn, who have been employed in THE EXAMINER composing room for some time past, were passengers on the Halifax today on a visit to New York.

Mr. J. Wisdom, who has been in the employ of the Messrs. Rattenbury for some five years past, left today for Toronto where he has obtained an excellent position with Messrs W. Harris & Co., who operate one of the largest swine and cattle houses in the Dominion. Mr. Wisdom thoroughly understands every detail of his business, and the Toronto house is to be congratulated upon securing his services. He is also exceedingly popular with the trade in the provinces and Newfoundland, and has been very successful on the road. His fellow-employees, on the eve of his departure presented Mr. Wisdom with an elegant gold chain, as a token of their esteem. Mrs. Wisdom and family will leave for Toronto about the last of the month. During their residence in Charlottetown Mr. and Mrs. Wisdom and family have made hosts of friends by whom their departure will be deeply regretted.

Hon. P. F. Little, a former judge and premier of Newfoundland, died in Ireland a short time ago. Hon. Mr. Little was born in Charlottetown, where he received his general education and professional training and was admitted to the bar. In 1844 he went to Newfoundland. It required an act of the legislature to enable him to practice law in St. John's. He got the act six years later, and was in a position to do some legislation himself as one of the members for that city. Mr. Little soon became the acknowledged leader of the party then known as liberal and the chief promoter of the agitation for responsible government. He went to England, argued the case there, but was obliged to demand and procure the recall of the governor before the machinery of a responsible administration could be put in operation. Mr. Little formed an administration in 1855, but before that he had joined the delegates from the other British American colonies in arranging the basis of reciprocity with the United States. In 1858 he retired from political life to the bench, and ten years later he left this position and removed to Ireland, with his wife, who was the daughter of a wealthy Dublin merchant. It is said that some years ago he declined the offer of a seat in the imperial parliament and a prominent position in the nationalist party, with which he was actively identified.

The press of Nova Scotia gives high praise to the Rev. George I. Foster, whose marked musical ability has attracted attention. Thus the Shelburne Buzzer, in reporting a concert recently given in that town in aid of the church, says: "The events of the evening were the selections by Mr. Foster. His playing was wonderful, the equal of which has never been heard in Shelburne. He simply held the large audience spellbound and at any time during his playing a pin could be heard drop. At the conclusion of the programme the reverend gentleman gave a cornet solo playing his own accompaniment, by holding the cornet in his right hand and manipulating the organ with his left. Each of his selections brought forth a storm of applause. Again, in the report of a lecture delivered at Lockport we read: "The lecture was divided into three parts between which Rev. Geo. I. Foster, the Rector of the Holy Cross, supplied music in his usual skillful manner. Rev. Mr. Foster is especially at home when at the organ, the music of which he loves, and when this is united to a more than ordinary skill in execution, an audience cannot fail to be entertained and inspired." The success of the rev. gentleman is a matter of congratulation to his numerous friends in this city.
