S'side Board Of Trade Considers Establishment Of Revolving Scholarship

—At the opening fall meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade held last evening, past president R. S. Hinton introduced a motion that the board establish a revolving scholarship fund for graduate students of the Summerside High School and that a committee be authorized to draw up rules and regulations for the administration of the fund.

The motion was the result of discussions held at previous meetings regarding the use of funds now held in trust by the board which had accured in years past from various projects sponsored by the board. Such funds were originally intended to be used for fox educational work and it is now felt by some members that these funds should be used for some worthy cause. A committee was appointed some time ago to look into the matter and bring in a recommendation as to the legality of using such monies.

The committees report has indicated that the money can be used for some worthy cause, left to the discretion of the board, but so far no definite move has been taken or decision given to do so.

Mr. Hinton pointed out last evening that the actual amount available from this trust fund to assist graduate students was relatively samll but he felt that if it is eventually decided by the board to use the trust funds for this purpose that it would at least form the basis of such a revolving scholarship fund and suggested that donations to such a fund might well be obtained from private citizens wishing to make charitable donations. He pointed out that at present there is no such body in existance here with the result that many such donations are handed over to other institutions outside the Province.

The meeting discussed the matter of making available to the town police instruction such as is available to law enforcement bodies in other cities. It was pointed out by the president, Mr. Holman that, while no criticism of the local police is inferred, it was felt that the opportunity to obtain further instruction in police detection should be made available to them so that the force would be that much more efficient in carrying out their duties.

A recommendation will be made to the Town Council that such instruction be given the local police force.

The board went on record as commending the action of the Town Council for their support of the Summerside Trotting Association Ltd., in their plans to erect an arena in Summerside to be used as a youth centre with skating facilities and also as an agricultural building.

Mr. John Mungall, in reporting on the efforts of his committee to solve the problem of parking conditions in Summerside, said that much work had been done by the committee in trying to make arrangements to have a section between Queen's Wharf and Holmans Wharf filled in with the rocks and other fill which is now being dredged at the end of Holman's Wharf. Permission, he said, had been obtained from the authorities by Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, M.P., to have the fill placed at this point instead of being dumped outside the harbor. The scows would be required to bring it in as close as possible and dump it and then the Town of Summerside would be required to find some means of bringing the rocks close enough to the shore to form the foundation for a parking lot between the two wharves. Mr. Mungall said that the Town of Summerside will make no move in the matter until an estimate of the cost of such work is available.

A report on the tourist and publicity committee was given by Mr. Ross MacKenzie who said that this year had been a very successful one. The bureau had been operated at a minimum of expense and that about 8,000 people had used its facilities.

The president, Mr. Alan Holman, notified the board that due to the fact that he will in future be located in Charlottetown, he felt regretfully that he must tender his resignation as president.

Various members pointed out that only a short time would elapse before his term would expire and Mr. Holman was prevailed upon to retain his office until the annual meeting in January.

Accuse Allied Command Of Stalling In Korea

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM, (AP) — United Nations command was called upon to answer today an indirect charge of stalling in the building of a new "explanation" centre for anti-Communist war prisoners refusing to go home.

The neutral nations repatriation commission asked for an Allied reply by 10 a.m.

Explanation centres are being provided by both the Communists and Allies for interviewing prisoners. The Reds have completed the centre for Allied interviews.

Begin New Centre

Allied workmen began Wednesday building a new centre where the Communists can talk to 22,500 Chinese and North Korean prisoners. The UN command estimated it would take one week to complete temporary facilities and a month to build permanent structures.

The Indian chairman of the repatriation commission, Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, wrote the UN command Thursday that its construction estimate was too long. He added that the Communists offered to "undertake and complete the entire permanent constructions within four days."

Accused Of Stalling

Thimayya obliquely accused the Allies of stalling on the construction issue, and observed that the work "has already been delayed beyond any reasonable limit for a variety of reasons."

He obviously wanted to speed the beginning of the interviews which were to have started Sept. 26. By terms of the armistice the explanations must be completed by Dec. 24. The Allies have refused to extend the explanation period beyond that date.

Dr. Baril first taught organic and inorganic chemistry at the university in 1911. He later became director of clinical laboratories of the Hotel Dieu, full time professor of chemistry, and secretary of the faculty.

He held honorary degrees from several universities because of his contribution to the promotion of chemistry.

Five Jets Neck And Neck In Race

LONDON, (Reuters)—Five jet bomber planes were neck and neck early today in the air race to New Zealand as they screamed down to refuelling points in the Middle East and raced toward the half-way mark, Ceylon.

The three British and two Australian Canberra bombers were in the speed section of the eight-plane race which began at dusk from London airport Thursday night. Three transport planes are also competing in the 12,000-mile event. The bombers had covered the 2,875 miles from London at an average speed of more than 550 mph.

A four-engine KLM Royal Dutch DC-6A Liftmaster, carrying 55 Dutch immigrants to New Zealand, was the first off the runway.

A crowd of 60,000 watched the plane take off.

Following behind at five-minute intervals were the other two planes in the transport section, a four-engine New Zealand Hastings military transport and a British European Airways turbo-prop Viscount airliner.

These three planes will win prizes of $28,000, $8,400 and $2,800 from the sponsors of the race. Their flight will last an average 55 hours but results will be based on efficiency and economy as well as speed.

British Guiana Cabinet To Send Delegation To U.K.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, (Reuters) — Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan told the House of Assembly Thursday night his leftist cabinet has decided to send a delegation to London to protest against the landing of troops here.

He said the delegation might also go to New York to put the case of his government before the United Nations.

British troops Thursday night patrolled the streets and took over guard duty at the governor's palace from local police.

Georgetown itself is outwardly quiet.

But the political crisis is expected to come to a head quickly—possibly before the week-end.

British officials here and aboard the warships in the harbor are unlikely to declare a state of emergency unless the situation changes, a reliable source said Thursday night.

Only antagonism aroused by the arrival of the troops Thursday has been from Jagan's party itself. It issued leaflets headlined "On Guard" and calling on members for unwavering obedience to its orders.

LONDON (CP) —A moving picture biography of the Duke of Edinburgh, tracing his life story from early school days in Scotland, now is showing in London. The commentary is by British film star Jack Hawkins.

Interesting Talk At Summerside Y's Men's Club

—Mr. Fred Gamble, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Charlottetown was the guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Summerside Y's Men's Club held last evening at the "Y" Centre. Mr. Gamble gave a very interesting talk on "Youth and Religion," emphasizing the important part youth plays in the world today.

Y's Horace MacFarlane as chairman of the meeting introduced the speaker.

Thirty-three Y's Men were present to hear Mr. Gamble and also to see Barry Kelsey, a Summerside Scout, presented with the trophy for the best camper at Holland Cove Boy Scout camp this past summer.

This trophy, emblematic of the best all around camper, was presented to Barry by Mr. Fred Norton of the Centennial Y's Men's Club in Charlottetown. Mr. Norton is chairman of the joint Charlottetown Y's Men's camp committee.

The meeting opened with a rousing sing song led by Y's John Leuty.

It was decided to hold a fiddling and step dancing competition in the near future, the winners to compete at Charlottetown in November for the Island championships.

Finesmaster for the evening was Y's Dan Matheson.

After "collection", the meeting closed with the Queen.—S.

Trinity Evening Auxiliary Meets

—The October meeting of the Trinity Evening Auxiliary of Summerside United Church was called to order in the church parlor by the president, Mrs. William Roach on Tuesday. Mrs. A. L. Harlow and Mrs. Ferno Rogers conducted the devotional service, opening with the hymn "All People That On Earth Do Dwell" with Miss Mary Geldart, pianist. A special prayer was offered for Miss Thomas, Missionary in Japan.

A special feature was an inspiring address, recorded in Toronto, of Dr. James H. Robinson, a Negro minister, stressing the need for missionaries and workers throughout Asia and Africa where he had travelled.

During the business session it was decided to pack a box for Korea at the next meeting. Mrs. Henry Moyse read an interesting article on Christian Stewardship. After singing the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. A social hour followed when lunch was served.—S.

Chief Justice

bid for an award of $1 a day.

However, he said he had found that European prisoners had not suffered to the same extent as the men held by the Japanese or the "criminal organizations." For this reason he said he opposed the suggested $1 a day.

The Chief Justice decided, however, that for the purpose of granting awards all prisoners had suffered maltreatment of varying degrees. And he recommended that all prisoners be relieved from proving they had suffered an incapacity during internment.

At the same time, the Chief Justice provided that the commission should be in a position to refuse an award to a man who suffered no maltreatment.

Chief Justice Campbell also recommended that in addition to the basis award, men who suffered extraordinary hardships, such as shackling and forced marches should receive extra compensation. Still further compensation was recommended for men who suffered unusually severe hardship.

The total compensation paid, however, must not exceed $1 for each day of imprisonment.

The Prime Minister's office said maltreatment claims must still be filed with the war claims commission. It said the work of preparing and dealing with them will be simplified and the number of individual oral hearings by the commission will be substantially reduced.

From War Claims Fund

The awards will be paid from the war claims fund, composed of former German and Japanese enemy assets. There is about $10,000,000 in the fund at present.

The compensation will be in addition, of course, to pay the prisoners received. During internment their pay was saved and paid to them on release minus amounts assigned to dependents.

An official of the commission said many of the 1,944 Dieppe prisoners would receive more than $1,000.

Chief Justice Campbell recommended that it should be presumed that all European prisoners suffered maltreatment and some degree of incapacity to work unless disproven.

To men in this classification be recommended a general payment of 20 cents a day. In addition these men would be able to claim further compensations for aggravating incidents if proved. They are:

1. $60 for the first four months of enforced shackling.

2. 80 cents a day for the duration of a forced hunger march, plus $50 for the preceding period of unjustifiable malnutrition which aggravated marching conditions.

3. 80 cents a day for any period of direct custody by the Gestapo or other criminal German organization.

4. $20 for forced participation in the Dieppe march or in another similar march on proof of maltreatment.

5. $20 per voyage for maltreatment during transportation in boxcars.

In addition, the commissioner recommended a special individual award for any unusually serious maltreatment. He said the serviceman in this category should receive "such sum as the proper tribunal may consider just and equitable."

He recommended that there should be a minimum payment of $200 for aggravated or serious treatment at the hands of the enemy. However, this minimum does not apply for the basic award of 20 cents a day.

He recommended that the maximum award of $1 a day and that the general award of 20 cents a day plus compensation for aggravated incidents should not exceed $600. However, this minimum would be subject to exception in cases of "maltreatment involving unusual severity and brutality."

Heavy Fire Damage To Dwelling At Alberton

—Fire which broke out about two o'clock yesterday afternoon caused heavy damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kinch, Alberton. The conflagration had gained considerable headway in the attic of the house before being noticed and for a time it was feared that the building could not be saved but heroic efforts on the part of the Alberton Fire Brigade, under the capable management of Fire Chief Jack Profit, brought the blaze under control.

The entire contents of the residence were removed by firemen and volunteers from the large crowd which quickly assembled The cause of the blaze was thought to be a spark from the chimney and proved very difficult to extinguish as it was burning inside the walls and roof. Damage by the fire and water damage was extensive.

Some insurance was carried.

Anglo-American

announced that they are turning over to Italy zone A, including the port city of Trieste, which their troops have occupied since the free territory was established after the Second World War. The 4,000 American and 3,000 British soldiers now on duty there are to be withdrawn "as soon as practicable", it was announced.

State Dept. Explains

The U. S. State Department explained: "It is the firm belief of the two governments that this step will contribute to the stabilization of a situation which has disturbed Italo-Yugoslav relations in recent years."

The population of zone A is largely of Italian origin. The Yugoslays, however, want it as well as the largely Slovene zone B they they occupy.

Special editions of the newspaper Politika and the Belgrade radio informed Yugoslavs of the Anglo-American decision. Politika's banner headline called it a "one-sided decision" and said it had "provoked a wave of indignation and protest" throughout Yugoslavia.

There was speculation in Belgrade that Tito might send troops to the Italian border in an effort to demonstrate Yugoslavia's determination to prevent Italy's annexation of zone A.

British and U.S. troops and their families in Trieste were ordered to keep off the streets by army authorities fearing outbreaks of violence. But there were no incidents in Trieste.

The 300,000 predominantly Italian titizens of the Anglo-American zone reacted with alarm to the announcement, wondering about the prospect of living without Allied protection next door to Marshal Tito's Yugoslav troops controlling zone B.

The Italian government said in a statement it had accepted the Allied proposals. It was understood the government wants Italian troops to take over within a few days.

Tito's flat opposition to the switch as the solution was announced over radio Belgrade by vice-president Edvard Kardelj, who is in charge of foreign policy-making.

"We cannot leave to the mercy of the Italians the tens of thousands of Slovenes still living in Trieste," Kardelj said. "The Yugoslav government is not ready to agree with this decision and will take all measures at its disposal under the United Nations charter."

Explain Urgency

Diplomatic sources in Rome gave this explanation for Anglo-American urgency for a Trieste settlement:

1. The Italian Parliament has indicated chances are slim for Italian ratification of the European Defence Community treaty unless a settlement satisfactory to Italy is reached.

2. Western diplomats are afraid Russia may call for return of Trieste to Italy to curry favor with Italy's strong Communist party and take a slap at Marshal Tito's regime in Yugoslavia, which has cut loose from Moscow.

2. Western strategists want Italy and Yugoslavia to work closer together militarily to strengthen southern Europe's defence against Russia.

Diplomatic sources in Washington indicated that the proposed division of the Trieste territory was not considered a permanent solution of the problem.

Originally Britain, the U.S. and France declared that all the territory should be returned to Italy.

The Italian peace treaty provided that Trieste should be an international free territory, but this idea could not be carried out because the Western powers and Russia never could agree on an international governor.

TIME TO THINK

PAEROA, N.Z. (CP)—Jail is one of the best places to teach men to love their wives, says Mrs. Hilda Ross, New Zealand's minister of social welfare. She told a meeting here she had been astounded at how many men suddenly discovered in jail that they loved their wives and appealed to them to help them.
