Pope Invites Penance To Aid World Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John, in an encyclical has asked the Roman Catholic world to do penance to ensure the success of the Vatican ecumenical council.

The Pope told Roman Catholic bishops in his letter "penitentiam facere" (to do penance):

"One can legitimately hope that a new and more joyous era for the Catholic Church will emerge (from the council) if you can increase in your dioceses to Rome for the council, bringing with you a so rich treasure of spiritual good."

The 3,000-word letter carried last Sunday's date, the Feast of the Most Precious Blood.

The council starting here Oct. 11 will bring together the church's hierarchy, in the first such meeting in 92 years, to seek renewal of Catholicism in the modern world as a prelude for possible Christian unity.

Pope John emphasized that he considered prayer, penance and good works an indispensible preparation for the council. Christ himself explicitly taught penance the Pope said, and Moses, the prophets and the apostles practised it.

"If we consult the Old and New Testaments, we see that every most solemn encounter between God and humanity — to express ourselves in human language—has always been preceded by a most persuasive appeal for prayer and penance," the Pope wrote.

He urged the world's 500,000,000 Catholics to perform both interior and exterior penance, mortifying themselves voluntarily.

Pope John asked Catholic bishops to start in their home dioceses novenas, or spiritual exercises, to ask the Holy Ghost for "an abundance of heavenly light and divince grace" upon participants in the ecumenical council.

Police Speculate Two Brothers Killed Mastermind In Escape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A homemade lifejacket — like those fashioned by three convicts for their daring break from Alcatraz June 11 — has been found in the bay, The News Call Bulletin said here.

Stained with blood, it gave substance to speculation of a federal prison official that two brothers killed the mastermind of the escape, the newspaper said.

"Hair was matted on the lifejacket, and it was still laced, indicating the wearer slipped or was pushed out of it after being slugged," it added.

The lifejacket was found a week ago but no official source would say where or by whom.

"I do not care to comment," said warden Olin Blackwell of Alcatraz prison.

DECLINES COMMENT

Frank Price, FBI agent in charge in San Francisco, declined comment.

Fred Wilkinson, deputy director of U.S. prisons, some time ago expressed a theory that the escape mastermind, Frank Morris, Louisiana bank robber, might have been slain later by his companions, Clarence Anglin and his brother, John, Alabama robbers.

Wilkinson said that if the three fled the island on a makeshift raft or boards they would soon have encountered trouble in the chill bay waters.

Wilkinson said he thought the brothers would have killed Morris in such a situation.

Way Cleared For GM-du Pont Split

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has affirmed a federal court decision which cleared the way for E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. to begin distribution of 23,000,000 shares of common stock of General Motors Corporation.

Chase Manhattan Bank, registrar for the GM stocks, was expected to set the motion immediately a mail distribution plan.

Distribution will be made only to the common stock holders of du Pont, on the basis of ¼ share of GM for each share of du Pont common.

Du Pont has proposed to distribute its remaining 40,000,000 GM shares within three years. The plan was evolved as a way to settle an anti - trust battle in the federal courts that wound up with an order to du Pont to divest itself of its GM holdings.

At 1:30 p.m. EDT Thursday, du Pont common shares were selling here at $179 off $1, and GM shares at $48¾, off 50 cents.

The divestitute of the GM stock was opposed by two holders of $3.50 preferred du Pont shares, David and Edward Schenker. The brothers claimed the planned distribution "discriminated" against preferred stock holders.

The bidding:

1♠	Pass	2♥	Pass
4♥

Opening lead— two of diamonds.

It is a basic rule that if there is only one distribution of the adverse cards that permits you to make the contract, you play for that distribution to exist. It cannot be right to concede defeat if there is any possibility of avoiding it.

South was in four hearts and West led a diamond. East cashed two diamonds and for want of anything better to do continued the suit. Declarer ruffed it in hand and was now faced with the problem of losing only one trump trick.

Obviously, the contract could not be made if the trumps were divided 4-1 or 5-0. So declarer had to start on the basis that the trumps were divided 3-2.

Declarer also realized that against most 3-2 divisions of the trump suit he would be defeated regardless of how he handled the hearts. So in order to make the hand he had to assume the existence of only those 3-2 divisions of hearts that would allow him to escape with one trump loser against the best defense.

Of these, there were only two cases possible that would permit him to make the contract. Only if West had the K-10 or Q-10 of hearts alone could the hand be made.

Accordingly, after ruffing the diamond, South led a low heart. It did not matter what West did at this point. If he played the ten, dummy's jack would force the queen. Whatever East returned, South could then cash the ace to drop the king and next capture East's eight with the nine.

And if West took the first heart lead with the king (which is what he actually did), the defense was equally bad. Here West took the king and returned a spade, declarer won it in dummy and played the jack of hearts.

When East ducked, South finessed and thus held himself to one trump loser. If East had covered, the result would have been the same.

Of course, South was lucky to make the hand, but he earned what he got by capitalizing on his one chance.
