

GREEK KING SALUTES HIS PEOPLE

King Constantine of Greece, wearing a field marshal's uniform, sits with his sister, Princess Irene, and salutes crowd on driving to Parliament in Athens Monday. The young monarch took the oath again in Parliament, completing the formal ceremonies of his succession to the throne. He also declared his country wants peace in Cyprus and would use arms only in the event of an attack.

Chicago School Teachers Live In Fear Of Students

By BERNARD GAVNER
NEW YORK (AP)—A substitute teacher in Chicago who needs the money and could work every day will only take assignments two or three times a week.
"I'm just terrified at the idea of going to some schools, an I don't accept assignments," she says.
It is a fear expressed by other teachers in Chicago, New York and Detroit.
They look around and see two pupils mauling a teacher against a wall because he told them to stop making noise in the hall; a teacher fending off a chair thrown at him by a boy who was told to take off his hat and coat; a teacher seriously stabbed when reprimanding a boy; another cut in helping another teacher fight off a 15-year-old.
The teachers hear about schools where a shake-down among teenagers produces an arsenal of knives, brass knuckles, makeshift revolvers, chains and other weapons.
They know from experience of schools where children no longer have any respect for school authorities or for adults, where children are apt to talk back and swear and destroy property.
ADDS TO COSTS
The vandalism adds a tremendous cost to school upkeep. Even in one of the big cities.

BACKACHE and RHEUMATISM Pain

After 21 years as many women as men have made noticeable by common ordinary backache and rheumatism. Do. To easily combat the secondary cause, naturally, the most effective relief comes from Kinesio and Rubber Footrests, for taking an interval CYCEREX exercises for a few days. All you do is take 2 little CYCEREX tablets with a glass of water. CYCEREX is also an anti-inflammatory reliever for Rheumatic Pains, Menstrual Backache, and muscular pain. Get CYCEREX from druggists. Read better fact.

glass breakage last year came to a record $100,000.
New York's bill reached a record $1,200,000, with $600,000 going to replace broken glass.
Other big cities have had similar troubles but none of those queried in an Associated Press survey — Philadelphia, Boston, Los Angeles, Newark, San Francisco—reported such headaches as besetting Chicago, New York and Detroit.
The problem isn't confined to the usual sort of mischief by youngsters such as minor property damage, playing hokey or passing instructors. It is alarming because it shows an increasing assault upon the traditional symbol of a teacher — the teacher. For example:
Chicago: At least 45 assaults upon teachers in the September-February period, one more than recorded during the previous entire school year.
New York City: In six school days last month there were 17 assaults upon teachers. Attackers used knives, chairs, bottles, fists, teeth—anything that could inflict injury.
Detroit: Since September, in one high school alone, there have been 21 instances of physical assault including one in which a teacher was hit with a blackjack and suffered a fractured cheekbone. Police patrol five schools.
What are the reasons?
The answers vary depending upon who makes them.
"There is an extreme degree of correlation between the area of assaults and the civil rights boycotting of classes," says Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of Chicago schools.
A similar conclusion was echoed by a New York teacher who said the boycotts showed pupils they could break the law and get away with it.
William F. Moore, president of the Teachers for Integrated Schools, Chicago, characterized Willis statement as "an obvious attempt to measure the civil rights movement and its fight for integrated quality education for all children in Chicago."
