

Islanders Score 7-2 Victory Over Moncton

Cape Breton will be well represented at the Harrisburg, Pa. sale which commences next Monday and concludes on Friday. Worrell Lewis is left with the Cadegan van which has room for six horses. Accompanying him were Perry Cadegan and Tom Shaw. They are stopping over at Yonkers Raceway to see a few nights racing. There are also four carloads of other horsemen from Cape Breton on the way there, each of them expecting to buy a trotter or pacer. Harry Hirsch left a few days ago. He will stop at Yonkers to look over some horses that are racing there. Mrs. Hirsch, Rennie MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Harrison went with him. P.J. Cadegan, his wife and daughter Camella, left last Tuesday. They will spend their wedding anniversary at Harrisburg.

Other Nova Scotians that will be listening to the famous auctioneer George Swinboard, are Heber Sweeney and B.C. Cruikshank also a number from Dartmouth. Spud Island will be represented by Commander G.H. Buntain and Mrs. Buntain, Dr. F.C. Dougan, Walter Hennessey, James Flood, Roy Bevan, Herb Campbell, Dave Wisener, Sam Kenney, Pat McKenna, Jimmie Power and Roach MacGregor. We understand that orders have also been placed from various parts of the Maritimes to buy certain horses at fixed figures, so there is strong probability that a lot of new speed will be seen on Maritime raceways next season.

A very attractive consignment of colts that will be sold at Harrisburg next week is that of C.T. Black from Pleasantdale Farm, Perryville, Virginia, the home of Watchim 205. Calumet Fingo 3, 2.04, Peter Song 4, 2.00 and the recently added Major Hal 2.01 2/5, and a splendid pair of brood mares. Mr. Black while only established a few years, has already made a name for himself as a breeder. From the crop of his 1943 yearlings sold last fall the following have taken records: Hedgeswood 2, 2.09 2/5, Betty French 2, 2.09 2/5, Lucky Fingo 2, 2.11, Goldie Fingo 2, 2.10, Great Sandy 2, 2.10, Royal King 2, 2.12, Alma Direct 2, 2.12 2/5. Ten of the yearlings that are being offered at this sale are by Watchim 205, formerly owned by Alberman Frank Adams of Halifax, N.S. and raced with great success throughout the Maritimes for several years.

He is a son of Volomite 3, 2.03 1/4, the world's greatest sire, and his dam is Cita Worthy 4, 2.09 1/4 by Guy Axworthy, dam, Cita Frisco. She is also the dam of Watchim's sire Volomite. In other words, Volomite, the son, was bred back to her dam. Watchim's oldest foals are now yearlings and the pictures of them in the Pleasantdale catalogue show them as racy looking and well developed, practically replicas of Watchim as a colt.

A few words about Watchim will bring to mind his outstanding qualities — that he was a good galloping trotter there is no doubt of, and although campaigned from a three-year-old to a ten-year-old against trotters and pacers he remained sound and kept his form throughout. He engaged in a total of 71 races, was first in 42, second twelve times, third eight times and fourth five times. He raced in 202 heats, won 105 of them, was second 27 times, third 24 times and fourth 14 times. During his last three years in the Maritimes he raced against pacers — even in the free-for-all's. Some of these pacers had marks better than 2:05 and most of them he headed to the wire. He still holds the following Maritime track trotting records — Chatham, N.B. (Hood) — 2:08 1/4; St. Stephen (Hood) 2:08 1/4; Amherst, N.S. (Hood) 2:08 1/4; Bridgewater (Hood) 2:07; Inverness (Hood) 2:12 1/4; New Glasgow, Blue Acres (Hood) 2:13 1/4; Sydney (Hood) 2:10; Truro (Hood) 2:09; Charlottetown, P.E.I. (Hood) 2:07 1/4; Summerside (co-holder with Squire Hanover) (M. MacArthur) 2:08.

In his final campaign he raced throughout the New England states and headed such great trotters as Archie Volo 2:03 3/5, Chris Spencer 2:00 2/5, that he defeated in a $2,000 stake at Rutland, Vt. in 2:07. Later that fall Watchim defeated David Spencer 4, 2:00 at Foxboro. Christ Spencer as our readers are aware, has gone on to become the second largest money winning trotter in the world's history, his total to date is $156,515. On October 9th he won the Gotham Trot, purse $25,000, of one and one-half miles

LITTLE SPORT

PAGE SIX

The past few games in the Big Four Hockey League schedule certainly emphasizes the fact that one can't determine the calibre or strength of a team by comparing the final result of one squad's performance against another. You can try it but it doesn't work.

It is practically the same in all sport, but for the sake of illustration take a look at the last few results of Big Four games. Last Saturday at Moncton the Hawks downed Saint John Beavers by a 4-1 count. The following Monday at Charlottetown the Islanders ran roughshod over Hawks by an 11-7 score in a strictly one-sided contest. Then the Drillion-coached Hawks turned around on Tuesday night to garner a 4-3 decision at Halifax, Saint Mary's in turn, bouncing back at Saint John the night before last to grab a 5-4 verdict over the Beavers in overtime. But to cap it all off, between the Tuesday and Thursday games, Beavers journeyed to this City where they shaded the Islanders by a 2-1 score on Wednesday.

So if you can figure out from that who has the best team, either by mathematics, the process of elimination or what have you, it is a secret formula that should be guarded well. On the overall picture, however, there is no doubt which team holds superiority in the schedule to date — the Islanders have proved that point in no uncertain manner.

In eleven league starts they have been victorious in the first 10, and lead the league race by eight points over second place Saint Mary's and ten over Saint John in third, both teams having played twelve games. The cellar-dwelling Hawks have 16 points to make up before they can come abreast of the Islanders. None of these statistics, however, include games played last night.

There is every prospect that local rugby followers will see the smartest contest of the season this afternoon at the S.D.U. gridiron when the senior Saint's squad will clash with Mount Allison University in a "do or die" effort in N.B.-P.E.I. Intercollegiate play.

There is also the possibility that these same fans may see history being made in the annals of this old series. Trailing Mount A and U.N.B. by one game going in to today's final contest, the Saints will have the opportunity of sending the series into a three-cornered first place tie—that as far as can be learned, has never happened in the history of the circuit before.

But it will be a bitter battle if such an event occurs. Fielding a rugged hard hitting squad, the Mounties will not be taking any chances of throwing away an opportunity of retaining the title they had such a hard time winning last season in an equally close series. Losing their first series battle against Mounties by a 6-0 count, the McAdam-coached Saints will have to do it the hard way if they are to prolong the series. Noted for their ability, however, to come through when their backs are to the wall, anything can happen, and fans here will be rooting for them to come through with the goods today.

If the series is forced to a three-way deadlock, it is understood that one of the three teams will draw a bye into a final play-off series, while the other two teams will meet in a sudden-death semi-final for a right to meet the bye team in another sudden-death encounter for the title. The final winner, as in previous years, will advance into a play-off series with the Nova Scotia winners for the Maritime Intercollegiate rugby title.

Intercollegiate Rugby Ch'ship At Stake Today In Game At S. D. U. Field

The New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Intercollegiate rugby championship will be at stake here this afternoon when Saint Dunstan's and Mount Allison University teams clash over the S. D. U. playing field at 2:30.

It will be the final game of the home and home series in which Mount A. shares the leadership with University of New Brunswick, one game up on Saint Dunstan's.

Both Universities will be fielding strong, aggressive teams that have all the qualities of producing a top-notch encounter that will provide plenty of action.

Mount A. the defending champions, have it within their grasp to chalk up their second straight N.B.-P.E.I. title if victory is theirs today, while the Saints will be battling for both themselves and U. N. B. to keep championship hopes alive.

If the A. J. McAdam-coached red and white gridsters can turn back the Mounties they will send the series into a three-way deadlock which will force an extra play-off series between the three teams in the circuit.

With so much at stake, local rugby fans can be assured of seeing a rugged battle when the two factions meet this afternoon.

O'Brien Drives Martha Doyle To New Record

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 3—(AP)—Martha Doyle, a roan Volomite mare, tonight lowered the Yonkers Raceway mile track record by a fifth of a second in capturing the $3,000 Thornwood Trot in 2:04 2/5.

A crowd of 17,036 saw Joe O'Brien of Alberton, F.E.I. guide the winner to a driving finish to nip the pace-setter, Lingco Direct, by a neck.

Martha Doyle, third in the recent 1-1/2 mile Yonkers Derby, paid $470, $3.00 and $2.60. Darn Flashy, the sensational chestnut colt which had registered 14 straight wins before breaking jail here on Oct. 27, again failed to stay on the trot and finished last.

One Hitter Is Pimlico Winner

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 3—(AP)—One Hitter repeated his sire's performance today to win the $15,000 Pimlico Special for Greenleaf Stable.

The son of the 1943 winner, Shut Out, beat three other contestants with ease. He bettered his father's time of 2:00 1/5 for the 1-3/16 miles, being clocked in 1:58 3/5, although jockey Ted Atkinson never laid a whip on him.

One Hitter, whose only previous claim to fame was two triumphs over Noor, led all the way. At the last turn Mrs. E. Du Pont Weir, Royal Governor and L.J. Shaws Abstract got up to his hindquarters.

But the four-year-old chestnut pulled away under the stretch to win by 2 1/4 lengths over the late rushing Chic II from the Palatine Stable.

Abstract, the one-eyed horse, hung on for third while Royal Governor brought up the rear.

One Hitter paid $6.

Sport Briefs

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 3—(AP)—Irish wrestler Danno O'Mahoney, who campaigned in the United States and Canada for many years, died tonight from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. O'Mahoney's car hit a parked truck near Port Loughshale. Both his legs were broken.

PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 3—(AP)—Sammy Sneed bested par by two strokes today with a 35-35-70 finish to romp home a four-stroke victor over Johnny Palmer for his second straight north and south open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 275. Sneed pocketed a $1,500 in first money in the $7,500 event to boost his year's earnings to $35,258.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

An old-time Summerside Crystal who saw our echoes pertaining to the new game the Islanders are playing assures us it is not a new game at all. "That's the game I played forty years ago," he says. "The only time we saw this player in action was in one of the games of the oldtimer series between Summerside and Charlottetown two years ago. He was a long way past his playing days then, but by the way he hailed into all comers, we should say that in his prime he might indeed welcome a roughing bout with Vitale or any other of the modern big fellows."

There seems to be a difference in the unofficial goal and assist scoring compilations of the "Big Four" League. The Moncton press gives Favaro the lead with 19 points whereas the Guardian compiler has Bathgate ahead with 20 1/2 pts. We have been keeping the points for our own satisfaction, and agree with the Guardian statistician that Bathgate has 20 points, if the newspaper summaries have been accurate. (These totals before the St. John-Charlottetown game Wednesday, of course). Favaro is now tied with Bathgate for the lead according to our reckoning.

What a tremendous difference there can be in assists! Sometimes an assist can set-up a player so that he has the goaler at his mercy and only has to bang the wafer into the twines. Sometimes the boys who make the assists are just hitching a ride on the goal-scorer's glory wagon. In the game against Moncton last Monday Favaro got the puck somewhere in the vicinity of the blue-line, slicked his way past one Hawk, shot the disk through another's legs and, picking it up on the other side, shot it past Sonier in the Moncton nets. Two teammates got assists on the play, but in our book it was a solo effort if we ever saw one. The player who slipped the pass to the red-head didn't appear to give him much advantage except that he didn't have to tote the wafer so far. Well, come to think of it, the pass probably kept the back-checking forwards from tearing into Favaro from the rear, but the way we saw it, it was pretty much a one-man show.

We're all for the Islanders, but we must admit we enjoyed the 2 to 1 defeat much better than the 11 to 2 victory. Not that there wasn't some pretty plays in the latter, but we like to be kept in doubt as to who is going to win the game for at least two periods. The Moncton contest was salted away in the first frame and there was nothing left but the stick-handling, checking, puck clearing, etc., which possess a certain amount of interest in themselves, but need the background of suspense to make them really click.

Whitlock and Nicole went pointless in the first Islander defeat, but the concentrated attention paid them by Hardrock's Pay-Dirt Performers was a compliment in itself. Buck and Nick met desperate defensive action at the blue-line, and Gordon turned back Whitlock on two occasions when he managed to penetrate the stout defence.

HUNTERS' CORNER

The season on pheasants and Ruffed grouse closed on Wednesday, October 31st. The take on pheasants was heavy and hundreds of choice dinners were enjoyed by provincial hunters. The gaudy ring-necks came through the open season well and there are plenty of them on the loose. The pheasant cock is a cagey customer and as a rule the hunter earns all he gets. The birds have spread over a much wider territory than formerly occupied by them and have become firmly established in Queens County and have secured a strong foothold over a large area of Kings. To date the pheasant has not made such noticeable headway in Prince County.

There were a lot of pheasants to be found before the season opened and there are still lots left but they are not so much in evidence on Monday, the second last day of the pheasant season. I called at a farmhouse along the north shore. It was near noon and the farmer and his wife were having dinner. Right off the bat I was invited to sit in but I told them I was more interested in pheasants at the moment. The farmer spoke: "We had lots of pheasants when the season opened and we still have plenty. There was a lot of hunting around here this fall but I don't think they got many pheasants for I seem to hear as many crowing in the mornings as ever." Then he remarked: "I'll tell you where the pheasants are if you are looking for them, they're in the swamps!" Then he left the table and went to the door. "Come here and I'll show you where a good bunch of them have gathered." He pointed toward a cluster of spruce and juniper that stood in the midst of an expanse of blueberry bushes and bayberry: "You'll find plenty of them there."

I barged into the swamp with the pointer and ordered him to "Seek 'em out". One has to be able to stand heavy going if one wants to dine on pheasant. In a few minutes the pointer made game. The farmer was right. Five big cock pheasants thundered out of that swamp tangle cackling and making as much rumpus as a whole barnyard full of hens. Only one broke clear and as he showed through the slim juniper tops the Winchester spoke and the sixes reached out and shot off his cackles. He turned an awkward "cart wheel" in the air and came down as limp as a dish rag.

I always get a thrill when I see one of the big red roosters fold up in the air. It springs from a two-fold source. First there is a tasty meal in prospect and secondly I am convinced that the pheasant is not helping our Ruffed grouse. The more I study this Cock pheasant-Ruffed grouse set-up the more I am convinced that the York hunters have something on the ball when they contend that the pheasant drives out the grouse once they become established in an area. In some sections of Pennsylvania where grouse hunting is good the introduction of pheasants is prohibited. Many U.S. sportsmen refer to the Cock pheasants as hawks.

For the past three years I have checked several formerly good Ruffed grouse covers where the pheasant has now taken over in force. I have flushed only the odd grouse and my pointer is a good grouse dog. In other back areas where the pheasant has not become established the grouse are present in normal numbers. I have no definite proof that the pheasants molest the grouse and dig out their nests but it looks very much as if the grouse resent the presence of pheasants. Methinks the pheasant is here to stay whether we decide he is a detriment to the grouse and Huns or not.

Two Match Misconducts, Four Major Penalties In Rough, Wide-Open Game

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 3—(CP)—Charlottetown Islanders handed Moncton Hawks their 10th defeat in 12 Maritime Senior Hockey League games tonight by a score of 7-2 in a brawling, wide-open game which saw two match misconducts and four major penalties handed out.

Islanders dominated the scoring throughout, although Hawks at times matched them in territorial play but could not duplicate the Charlottetown team's marksmanship. Islanders were leading 6-1 in the last period when fireworks broke out. Morrow and Vitale started trading punches near the Charlottetown players bench and a fan attempted to come to Morrow's aid. He was promptly subdued by two Charlottetown players.

Other members of the Islanders left the bench to make threatening gestures toward the crowd but were waved back by coach Murph Chamberlain.

When order was restored Vitale and Morrow were given five minute penalties for fighting. Conway and Duchek drew match misconducts for their part in the affray. Gordon in the Charlottetown cage had 24 shots to handle compared with 22 for Colvin, but Islanders were shooting with deadly accuracy, while Hawks sniping was for the most part of the long-range variety.

Pawlynshyn opened the scoring at 1:22, and Sheppard and Conway added two more before the 12 minute mark had been reached. Islanders again opened the scoring in the second period. McLagan being the marksman. Barkwell scored Hawks' first goal less than five minutes later and Islanders came back to make it 5-1. Duchek getting the goal.

Gray opened the scoring in the final frame. Demchuk sniped Hawks second and final goal, and Trainer ran the Islanders count to seven with 18 seconds of play remaining.

The penalty to Islanders' goalie Gordon was called after he and Denny started a high-sticking bout in front of the Charlottetown cage.
