CLOSING EXERCISES

and members of the faculty were also present on the stage.

Rector's Report
Monsignor MacKenzie in delivering the Rector's report deplored the fact that pleasure was taking the place of study in many instances among the youth.

"I think this matter of constant amusement is getting to be a fearful problem," he continued. He referred to a survey in the state of Connecticut which ascertained that 79% of the high school students spend almost four hours a day looking at television.

"This passion for amusement this unquenchable desire to be spectators, this materialistic love of ease, will definitely wreck havoc with our youth. They will become rapidly sophisticated; but they will not be able to use their intellectual faculties to think—one of the very important ends of education."

Mr. Lorne MacDonald of Charlottetown, class valedictorian, delivered an eloquent valedictory.

The graduating class of 45 members comprised 32 students receiving their Bachelor of Arts Degree and 13 receiving Bachelor of Science Degrees.

Three young ladies, Misses Mary O'Shea, Margaret Green and Marie Kelly were among those who received their B. A. degrees.
