Vermin, Dirt, Overcrowding Seen Sparking Prison Riots

OTTAWA (CP) — Teeming vermin, dirt and gross overcrowding have been cited by inquiry commissions as contributing factors in Canadian penitentiary riots in the last 18 months.

A summary of the commissions' findings, tabled in the Commons by Justice Minister Chevrier at the request of Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East), outlines steps being taken to remedy some of the conditions about which prisoners and prison officers complained.

Three riots—two at St. Vincent de Paul outside Montreal and one at British Columbia Penitentiary at New Westminster—were reported on by the commissions. In a May 2 incident at Montreal prison officer Raymond Tellier and one prisoner were killed.

The summary says that "a chain of grievances" sparked the June 17, 1962, riot at St. Vincent de Paul. Twelve separate complaints by prisoners and guards are listed including "depressive dirty, outmoded" buildings. Themes of Vermin, rats, roaches, bedbugs in the thousands," and "overlong" confinement "in outmoded, old and dirty cells."

REPORTED IN 1938

"In summary, the basic conditions which caused the riot in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary were reported in the Archambault commissionin 1938," the document says.

In a statement Mr. Winch said "the absolutely amazing disclosures indict all previous governments for failure to deal with heathenish conditions drawn attention to as far back as 1938.

"They are also guilty of having poured millions of dollars of taxpayers money down the drain by permitting conditions which made it absolutely impossible to rehabilitate the inmates although piously stating all that time that that was the purpose of incarceration and not revenge for breaking the laws."

NO REAL GRIEVANCES

Of the April 19-20 disturbance at the B.C. penitentiary, the summary says "The rioting inmates had no real grievances and the eruption was spontaneous in support of would-be escapees."

The summary says the commission found the "B.C. penitentiary is grossly overcrowded and has insufficient segregation accommodation available for difficult inmates.

The inquiry into the most recent disturbance at St. Vincent de Paul "will not be completed for at least two weeks."

On over-crowding, the summary says the government "is proceeding with all speed" to build five new institutions—a special detention unit in Quebec to house 160 psychopathic and "ill-disposed" inmates; a drug addict institution at Matsqui, B.C.; a medium-security institution for another 480 in Quebec and a young offenders institution at Springhill, N.S.

Soviet Union's Space Woman Has Background Of Heroine

MOSCOW (AP) — Valentina Tereshkova went into space with all the background necessary for the ideal Soviet heroine. She was a factory worker, a Communist youth leader and now a member in good standing of the Soviet Communist party.

Her father, a tractor driver, was killed fighting in the Second World War. Her mother is a retired textile mill worker. Her brother is a driver and her sister is a cotton spinner.

At 26, the world's first woman space traveller is unmarried and described by the Soviet news agency Tass as a pretty blonde. Television pictures transmitted from her space ship, Vostok VI, showed her smiling and chattering—seemingly overjoyed with her job.

Valentina has the Russian round face with a cleft chin. She rarely uses lipstick. Her curly hair is closely cropped.

The muscle she displays in a bathing suit would be the envy of many a male. She favors severely-cut dark suits, skirts and blouses. She wears little jewelry.

Valentina started work in a tire factory at the age of 17. Later she switched to cotton spinning and took an interest in parachute jumping. That is what got her into cosmonaut school.

She was born in the Soviet mill town of Maslennikovo, near Yaroslavl, which is at the mouth of the Volga River about 160 miles northeast of Moscow.

In 1954 she went to work at the tire factory in Yaroslavl but a year later left to become a cotton spinner with her mother at the Krasny Perekop textile mill.

At the mill, she was elected secretary of the Komsomol (Young Communist) committee when she was 20. Last year she was elected a member of the Yaroslavl regional committee of the Young Communist League. She now is a member of the adult party organization.

"Of great assistance to her in becoming a cosmonaut was her love for parachute jumping which she took up at the Yaroslavl sports club in 1959," Tass said. "Soon she was directing a parachute jumping circle at the Krasny Perekop mill. Up to now she has made 126 jumps."

CPR Given Permission To Drop Line

OTTAWA (CP)—The CPR has received permission from the board of transport commissioners to abandon a 37.3 - mile branch line between Pennlyn and Norton, N.B., over a period of one year.

The railway submitted evidence to the board to show that revenue from the line in the last four years was about $45,000, while costs were about $248,000.

Main product moved over the line is pulpwood which now will be trucked to other railway points or to Saint John. There is no demand for passenger service.

The railway is authorized to abandon operation of the portion of the line between Young's Cove Road and Norton, including the Washademoak bridge, any time after Sept. 1, 1963, on at least one month's notice. The portion of the line between Pennlyn and Young's Cove may be abandoned any time after June 10, 1964, on at least three months' notice.

SAUSAGE EATER IS BET WINNER

LONDON (AP) — "You know I fancy bangers (link sausauges)," Derek Gaisford said to his wife. "Why can't you serve them once in a while"

"If it's bangers you want it's bangers you'll have," said his wife, Flance. "I'll bet you a quid you can't get through a pound of them every day for the next year."

"Ret," said Derek.

That was June 14 1962.

Last Friday 31 - year-old Derek downed his 3,200th banger, collected the quid and celebrated the victory by polishing off a steak.

"But do not get me wrong," he said. "It's only for a change. I still love bangers."

Opening lead—two of spades.

Dear Mr. Becker: It was very kind of you to publish the letter I sent you some time ago, but my friends have been teasing me about this ever since and it seems that they do not agree with my analysis that I am the greatest bridge player in the world.

As I said in my previous letter, my sole weakness is that I make all these wonderful bids and plays only when I am asleep. I don't know just what it is that makes me such a bad player when I am awake, but I assure you I would have no trouble producing many witnesses, especially my partners, who would willingly testify to my shortcomings at the bridge table.

Yet the pity of it is that I cannot prove I am the world's best player because all my triumphs are seen only when I am in the arms of Morpheus and there is no one around to substantiate my claim. I suppose you will not believe me either, but I will tell you about a hand I played last night while fast asleep.

I opened a club and my partner said a heart. Over East's spade bid I raised to two hearts. North now bid four notrump Blackwood. I showed two aces, and over five notrump, one king. My partner now signed off at six hearts, which, I suppose, technically closes the bidding, since the player who initiates Blackwood is universally regarded as captain of the ship.

But I am the captain in these games and decided to bid seven clubs! My partner was really baffled by this, but he had the good sense to pass. West led a spade and I took the ace, ruffed a spade, cashed the ace of clubs, came to my hand with a heart, drew trumps, and thus easily made the grand slam.

I wonder if you have noticed that, while I made seven clubs, my partner could not have made seven hearts. Cordially yours, John E. Doe.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
