MEETING AT BELLE CREEK.

The following resolutions were passed at the meeting held in Belle Creek:—

Moved by A. McMillan, seconded by M. McMillan, that:—

WHEREAS, The Assessors have violated the spirit of the Act, in not soliciting such information from the inhabitants of the districts as would lead to just and equal valuation of the properties under their supervision; therefore:—

Resolved, That this meeting recommend that the valuations be reconsidered, and that the present Assessors be dismissed from office, and deprived of that remuneration that would otherwise be their due.

An amendment to the above by D. Crawford, Esq., was lost by a large majority. It reads as follows:—

WHEREAS, This meeting believe that an injustice has been inflicted on this District by the Assessors in valuing property too high, at the same time this meeting believe that the Assessment Act is just—notwithstanding the difficulty in carrying it into effect, and that the Government be exonerated from all blame in this matter; and that this meeting have every confidence that they will redress the matters complained of.

Moved by J. Saunders, seconded by A. W. Cook, —

That a committee be appointed to memorialize the Government to remedy the grievance complained of, and should the Act interfere in giving us justice, that Parliament be immediately called to make provisions to enable them to do so.

A motion by Wm. Welsh, Esq., condemning the Government in general, and an amendment thereto by A. Martin, laying a share of censure on the Government, together with another amendment by J. Saunders, to the effect that neither be put to the meeting, as we had not met for such an object, was withdrawn in favor of the following:—

Moved by A. McMillan, seconded by M. McMillan,—

That this meeting have all confidence in their Representatives and the Government, that they will give us all fair play and justice in adjusting the grievance complained of.

GRAVE MATTERS.

Editor of the Examiner:

Mr. Editor,—The present condition of a certain graveyard not many miles from your office, is not what it should be. Has nobody charge of it? If so, cannot a boy be engaged to keep cattle out of it? There was a cow in it last Sunday. To say the least, much neglect or indifference to the memory of the dead is painfully apparent to a visitor to that sacred locality.

In one corner, fenced with a high iron railing, are the tombs of Captain the Honorable Ambrose Lane, H. P., 95th Foot, Town Major, &c., his wife and daughter, and of the wife and child of a Lieutenant Governor of the Island. The iron gate of this enclosure has been taken down, evidently in course of repair to the outer fence, and has been left under foot. Ought not this gate to have been replaced? Has not a sacred trust been herein violated? Who will see that that gate is put in position at once? Then those rotting and rotten pailings had they better not be removed, if not replaced?—and the many other pailings, suffering for paint, are they to be let rot prematurely, too? If the stone and the pailing are the last tribute of respect by the children, will not the grandchildren go to some little trouble and expense on their account? A word about one certain other grave and I shall have done. I find that of Rev. Theophilus DesBrisay, who for upwards of 47 years, with great faithfulness and piety, discharged the duties of Rector of this Parish, affectionately beloved, and esteemed by all who knew him, and who died many years ago, aged 69. That man's grave has neither rail or pailing!

I am, Yours truly,

X.

It will be a great grief to the citizens of Halifax, after whose interest Mr. Jones, M. P., has looked with such paternal care, to learn that there is every likelihood of Mr. Jones being compelled, by force of law and circumstances, to remain at home next session. After the enormous sacrifices Mr. Jones has made for Halifax, the vast amount of labor he has given to its interests, and the numerous letters he has read from all sorts of correspondents, Mr. Jones' active efforts will be missed next session, and the prospects of Halifax will greatly decline. If the House of Commons has any regard for the public interests, it will pass a special act whitewashing Mr. Jones and permitting him to take his seat without fear of enforcement of legal penalties. But then we fear the Commons has no sense of the loss it will sustain in the absence of Mr. Jones.—H. Herald.

CARDINAL MANNING ON TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Cardinal Manning has addressed the following letter to the officers and members of the Total Abstinence Union of America, recently in convention at Buffalo:—

To the Officers and Members of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America:—

I thank you very heartily for the invitation to be present at your Seventh Annual Convention in the city of Buffalo; and I request you to convey to the Bishop my regret that I cannot have the happiness of coming to his Diocese on the 29th of this month. If it were in my power to be with you, I should gladly come, but I have been obliged to lay aside all hope of ever seeing your great country.

When you are assembled in the Convention, I hope that some one will have the kindness to read these few words of congratulation to the members of the Union. An association of 26 dioceses and 100,000 members, with the blessing of our Holy Father upon them, cannot fail to increase and multiply, until a powerful moral authority shall make itself both heard and felt throughout the American Union and the Dominion of Canada. On Sunday night next, I will make known to our Catholic League of the Cross for Total Abstinence the words of brotherly sympathy which you have sent to me over the Atlantic. We are bound together in a common work for the salvation of men, women, and children and homes, from the havoc and wreck which drunkenness is daily extending, in the midst of all the prosperity with which America and England are blessed.

I hope, not only that those who have been mastered by intoxicating drink may pledge themselves to total abstinence for their own salvation, but that those who are never tempted to excess will gladly lay upon themselves this slight self-denial as an example, a reparation, and an expiation for the sins of others. What I say to all I say especially to fathers and mothers. If children are brought up without knowing the taste of intoxicating drink, they will be almost insensible to the temptation, and strong to resist it. If the fathers and mothers of the last generation had learnt this lesson, the curse of drunkenness would not lie like a blight upon their children at this hour. The homes of our people would at this day be full of temperance, purity and peace.

May the blessing of Almighty God be abundantly poured out upon the Catholic Total Abstinence Union, and upon the homes of all the members.

HENRY EDWARD, CARDINAL MANNING,
Archbishop of Westminster.

Archbishop's House, Westminster.

THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO.

The Mexican Diario Oficial of September 29th, publishes the message of General Diaz to the Mexican Congress, in which he thus alludes to the relations of his Government with that of the United States:—

I can announce to you with satisfaction that our official relations with friendly powers after a brief interruption occasioned by circumstances, have been frankly and cordially renewed. Said satisfaction would be complete, as regarding our foreign relations had I not the mortification to announce to you that the United States of America have not, up to the present time, thought fit to observe the conduct adopted by the friendly nations of Europe and America. Since the epoch of the late administration certain difficulties have arisen caused by events and incidents that have transpired on the frontier. Of said affairs the Secretary of State will inform you in due time. The Executive has bestowed a constant and preeminent attention upon said delicate questions, not only on account of the obligation he is under of dispelling the fear that the peace of the country be disturbed, but also to comply strictly with those imposed by international stipulation. It is to be presumed that the official relations between both governments may soon be renewed, and that the pending difficulties may be arranged, resolved as is the Executive, and doubtless Congress also, to act with entire justification; although determined at the same time to admit nothing that may tarnish the dignity or impair the rights of Mexico.

Affairs are in such a condition between the United States and Mexico that at any moment there may be an open rupture.

Now comes the time of year when the shivering clerk looks back bitterly upon the past and vows that never again shall the smiling face of spring warm his heart into a charitable offering of his only overcoat to a blind beggar.

The latest invention is a dwarf automaton, which swears with great vigor when wound up. It is quite popular with the Quakers and others who have conscientious scruples against conducting their own profanity.

A young man who left home in Connecticut some years ago to seek his fortune, recently wrote from Texas, saying "I've settled here." It has since transpired that he was right. He settled at twenty dollars on the dollar.
