Opening lead—king of spades.

This hand was played in a duplicate match point game. At one table the bidding went as shown. The North-South pair were playing ace-showing in response to two bids, which accounts for North's two spade bids with the ace. He had to decide at this point how best to utilize his only visit to dummy. Not knowing that the queen of clubs would fall if he led A-K, declarer led the ten and finessed. West grabbed the queen, peeped off five spade tricks, and South went down two—500 points.

But at another table one South player, by a series of bids much

Fred Astaire Is Bewildered

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Embarrassed and bewildered is the way to describe Fred Astaire these days.

If you saw him pick up those Emmys, you know the phrasing is correct.

"I never dreamed the TV show would go into orbit," he says. If you saw him pick up those Emmys, you know the phrasing is correct.

This, Fred's 60th year, will be his greatest: A TV show that will make a fortune, his first dramatic role in a movie, his autobiography.

EGO DOESN'T SHOW

Astaire seems shy, despite a half-century of success. However, he knows his worth and won't settle for a cent less. He has as much megalomania as any actor, but on him it doesn't show. Three Emmys decorate his bar. But he refused to have his picture taken with them. "That'd look like I was blowing my horn," he told an astonished photographer.

He lives in a comfortable home, which he built, in the shadow of Pickfair. It is furnished in quiet taste. He likes to spend money ("it's meant to be spent, not kept in a box"), but he doesn't pamper himself. He dresses expensively, but casually. His coats are too short and his pants are too tight (the English tailors' influence), but he thinks other men's are too loose.

Being a widower, witty and wealthy, he often is asked as a fourth at bridge or as an eighth at dinner. Beautiful, unattached women certainly inspire some of these invitations. He turns most of them down with charming, plausible excuses.

He just doesn't want to get involved, because he knows there's publicity, and as he often has remarked, "I hate the romance thing."

Rumors link him romantically with Barrie Chase, the 23-year-old blonde who dances with him in that award-winning TV show An Evening With Fred Astaire. But his friends believe he will not marry her — or anybody else.

PROFITABLE EVENING

NBC paid him $250,000 for an Evening. He spent $155,000 putting it on. A nice profit on the first showing, but the first re-run paid him a $150,000. Future reruns and foreign showings could boost his take-home to $500,000.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXE
LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints, each day the code letters are different.
