Bristol

"It is with sincere regret the many friends of William MacMillan learned of his sudden passing on Monday of last week in the Charlottetown Hospital. Billie, as he was better known, spent many years around the packing plants as a fireman and was always in a happy mood, never a worry. His fine life passed away many years ago, but along with his family, he kept his home together. For some years he resided with his daughter Caroline close to his old home. It will be many a day before this vicinity will have another Billie MacMillan and his memory will live long here. His funeral was held on Wednesday, 9th, from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Caroline MacDougall to St. Andrew's, his home parish, for funeral mass with burial in the family plot near by.

Mr. Pius MacMillan was here from Saint John, N. B., last week to attend the funeral of his father. Pius operated the MacMillan brothers' store here for some years before moving to Saint John to reside.

Savage Harbour

Mr. Dan Bradley of Bedford is at present engaged at Savage Harbour baling hay for Mr. Fulton Douglas. The popular and genial Dan does a lot of work for the farmers in this area. He has the latest power equipment, is a great worker himself and in an incredibly short time can do a major task of threshing, baling or plowing. For Mr. Douglas this will be the second crop of hay which he has sold recently.

After getting away to a slow start the "lamb derby" at Savage Harbour is now in full swing. The first contestants to appear at the starting line were from the farm of John Morrison, but as the course stretches out it would appear that the race will be a contest between the Valentine MacIntyre Farm and that of John Pigot. In one of the side issues that of the largest number of lambs from a single ewe the Pigot farm leads having three rollicking babies saying "Ba-Ba" to the same mother. Young pigs and calves too are appearing in ever increasing numbers but their coming does not appear to create the same interest as does the arrival of the wool growers.

Despite the mild weather the ice on the bay is still a solid sheet but there is no ice to be seen along the north side at this date.

A new section has been built on the co-operative creamery in the village and a new freezer is being installed in the cold room that will hold about four thousand blocks of butter at one time. When the freezing equipment now being installed in the plant is completed the pressure can be brought down to ten degrees below zero if necessary. Other changes in the plant will give it a storage room for another four thousand blocks after it has been frozen. New equipment has to be installed to drive the new freezer and a mainland company is doing the job. The manager, Mr. Reg. McAdam and Mr. Alban Eldershaw, have practically grown up with the business. About a half a million pounds of butter was churned here last season. A far change from the old days of making and wrapping the blocks by hand, a new machine weighs the butter and makes the blocks and puts on the wrappers, already for boxing. This year with the new freezing and storage rooms they expect to handle more cream than ever in this clean, glittering, well staffed plant that is a credit to this vicinity and its shareholders.

The young friends of Miss Norma Simmott will be pleased to learn she has returned home from the Charlottetown Hospital where she was a patient for two weeks. All hope to see her back at her bank desk very shortly.

Mr. Barney MacDonald, was here from the city on Wednesday on business. This is his old home port but he has resided in the city for many years.

Cars and trucks were getting stuck on the dirt or clay roads here last week and tractors had to be used to pull them out.

The February meeting of the Valleyfield W. I., was held at the home of Mrs. H. VanBuskirk. The president, Mrs. Alex Martin, presided and the meeting opened by singing the Ode, followed by repeating the Creed. Minutes were read by the secretary and approved. Five members were present and roll call was responded to by a home-made Valentine. Correspondence was read and discussed. A contribution was voted to the March of Dimes. Collection and lunch fees were received. Articles to be sold at the next meeting were passed in.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacGregor and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robertson, Munns Road, on March 6.

Quitting and hooking seems to be the order of the day here among the ladies. After putting away the frames, house-cleaning will be the next on the long list.

Friends in the Eastern districts sincerely regret to hear that Mrs. Frank Rose, Mt. Stewart, has recently suffered a severe fall resulting in fracturing several ribs. All hope that very soon Mrs. Rose will be restored to her usual good health. Mr. and Mrs. Rose formerly resided at Lakeville and have a wide circle of friends in these parts.

Many hands make work easy and such was the incident on March 3rd when 26 men and boys game of the ASCHL played in Charlottetown on Monday night. Joe quite a competitor in his own right having held the cribbage champion of this area for several years. The late Mr. MacMillan was well and favorably known throughout the Province and his death will be keenly felt by many.

There is little or no activity as yet along the front at Savage Harbour but this is but the calm before the storm as the present summer should prove to be the busiest for years at this important centre. The large suction dredge No. 12 which has wintered at the Harbour will continue digging operations throughout the summer and fall and the buildings of the large extension to the present inadequate dock facilities will also get under way come the warm weather. The large agitator weighing several tons, belonging to Dresser No. 12 which last fall was taken into Bruce Stewart and Co. for repairs has been returned to the Harbour, and is now awaiting the return of the crew to be put back in place. It is understood that shortly after the first of April the crew members will gradually report for duty.
