

View from Mount Roseland.

AIR.—I knew by the smoke, that so gracefully curled. I. On the heights of Mount Roseland, de-lighted I stood. While the glories of Autumn, lay spread neath my view, And I gazed on the beauties of forest and flood, On the green woods primeval and Ocean of blue!

Arabi Pasha Interviewed.

HIS LIFE IN CEYLON—RESIGNED TO HIS CAPTIVITY AND STUDYING ENGLISH.

L'Evenement of Paris publishes the account of an interview of one of its correspondents with Arabi Pasha. After giving description of the outside of the pretty cottage inhabited by Arabi, and let to him by a rich English merchant of Colombo, who had placed an interpreter at the disposal of the interviewer, the latter continues:—"I arrived at nine o'clock at Arabi's. My card was taken immediately by a servant, but I was obliged to wait for about twenty minutes before I could see the Pasha. Overpowered by the heat I am sipping my third brandy and soda, when, dragging himself along, my card in one hand, Arabi appears, half asleep yet, but smoking a Levantine cigar. The Arabian interpreter whom I have brought conveys my greetings and tells him that, belonging to the French press, I could not leave Ceylon without waiting upon the valiant soldier who had so courageously fought in defence of Egyptian nationality. While seemingly flattered by the interested compliment Arabi tells me that he makes no merit of his struggle for the freedom of Egypt that he was but the instrument of Allah. He adds that if fate condemns him to exile he himself is resigned to do it in the firm hope that Egypt is marching toward a period of prosperity and liberty that will make her forget the bloody days through which she has just passed." To the interviewer's remark that England might make Egypt prosperous and perhaps happy; but never free, Arabi observed, "Events do but obey the law of fatality. God has willed it that English should become our masters. He has willed it for the welfare of the Egyptian people. Your pen will convey my words very fair. As such please to say that by now I have learned to respect the English as the best friends of Egypt. As you know, perhaps, I am learning English; it is my favorite occupation; and my most ardent wish is to obtain of the British Government the authorization to go to London to lay at Queen Victoria's feet the assurance of my devotion." M. Paulham then asked if Arabi ever expected to see Egypt again. It would assuredly be a great joy, but if my presence there would entail fresh complications I would by far prefer the sacrifice of my most ardent wish to the good of my country. Abdel-Kader, the Emir who so loyally served France after having so courageously combated her, has just died at Damascus, far from the Algeria he loved so well. If Allah reserves me a similar fate I must submit to the Divine will."

THE Admiration OF THE WORLD. Mrs. S. A. Allen's WORLD'S Hair Restorer IS PERFECTION! Public Benefactress. Mrs. S. A. ALLEN has justly earned this title, and thousands are this day rejoicing over a fine head of hair produced by her unequalled preparation for restoring, invigorating, and beautifying the Hair. Her World's Hair Restorer quickly cleanses the scalp, removing Dandruff, and arrests the fall; the hair, if gray, is changed to its natural color, giving it the same vitality and luxuriant quantity as in youth. COMPLIMENTARY. "My hair is now restored to its youthful color; I have not a gray hair left. I am satisfied that the preparation is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. My hair ceases to fall, which is certainly an advantage to me, who was in danger of becoming bald." This is the testimony of all who use Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. "One Bottle did it." That is the expression of many who have had their gray hair restored to its natural color, and their bald spot covered with hair, after using one bottle of Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. It is not a dye. JOB PRINTING of every description executed with neatness and despatch at the EXAMINER JOB PRINTING ROOMS, cor. Water and Great George Street.
