Churchill Recalls Some Dreadful Childhood Days

By FRASER WIGHTON
LONDON (Reuters) — Seventy-six years ago Winston Churchill began to realize that he had come into a tough world. Seven years old, with three two-and-sixpenny pieces in his pocket, he arrived at his first preparatory school—"one of the most fashionable and expensive in the country."
"He was miserable at the idea of being left along among strangers. Winston now found himself in an establishment where "flogging with the birch in accordance with the Eton fashion was a great feature of the curriculum."
"But I am sure no Eton boy, and certainly no Harrow boy of my day, ever received such a cruel flogging as this headmaster was accustomed to inflict upon the little boys who were in his care and power," states Churchill in his book My Early Life. This work, first published in 1930, now is republished by Odhams Press, London.
The floggings "exceeded in severity anything that would be tolerated in any of the reformatories under the home office," the author continues.
"Two or three times a month the whole school was marshalled in the library, and one or more delinquents were haled off to an adjoining apartment by the two head boys, and there flogged until they bled freely, while the rest sat quaking, listening to their screams. This form of correction was strongly reinforced by frequent religious services of a somewhat high church character in the chapel."
"How I hated this school, and what a life of anxiety I lived there for more than two years," comments Churchill, who records that he made little progress at lessons and none at all at games.
His greatest pleasure in those days was reading. His teachers saw him at once backward and precocious, reading books beyond his years and yet at the bottom of his form.
In the same chapter, the author discloses that the world nearly lost Winston Churchill before he reached his teens. He fell into a low state of health at the preparatory school, and "finally, after a serious illness, my parents took me away."
"I was accordingly, in 1883, transferred to a school at Brighton kept by two ladies. It was a smaller school than the one I had left. It was also cheaper and less pretentious. But there was an element of kindness and of sympathy which I found conspicuously lacking in my first experiences. Here I remained for three years; and through I very nearly died from an attack of double pneumonia, I got gradually stronger in that bracing air and gentle surroundings."
By the time Winston was 12 years old he already had concluded that examinations were a great trial, and his sojourn at this public school, Harrow, only served to confirm this view.
"The subjects which were dearest to the examiners were almost invariably those I fancied least. I would have liked to have been examined in history, poetry and writing essays. The examiners, on the other hand, were partial to Latin and mathematics. And their will prevailed."

Mobile Blood Donor Team Arrives At Summerside

Last evening the three now-familiar navy blue vehicles which carry the Mobile Team of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service, Maritime Depot, of Halifax, arrived in Summerside. The team will carry out three days of blood donor clinics in Prince County and one day in the eastern part of the province. These clinics, which have an objective of at least 1,200 donors, are to be held today at Ellerslie and O'Leary, tomorrow at Tignish and Alberton, and Wednesday at Kinkora and Kensington and on Thursday at Mt. Stewart and Morell.
All former donors who have attended these clinics in previous years have been sent reminders re this week's clinics which will provide the once-a-year opportunity for residents in the above mentioned areas to play their part in maintaining the free Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service in P.E.I. Record attendances were established at all clinics held in Prince County last year, and the committees in charge in each of the centres are confident that these records can be surpassed this week, especially if each old donor will bring a new donor along.

Car Owned By Airman Is Stolen

A 1951 dark blue Chev. car, licence number 18-926, stolen in Summerside sometime last Tuesday night is still missing. The car, belonging to Lorne Bowers, a member of the RCAF, was stolen from in front of his home at 56 Russell Street.
It is thought probable that this car may have been the one in which thieves fled after breaking into the Canadian National Telegraph office in Summerside the same night the car was stolen.

In this incident thieves fled quickly from the scene by car, leaving the C.N.T. office safe which they had been preparing to load into a car when they were frightened away by Ralph Blacquire, a C.N.T. employee, who was investigating a noise he heard about the building.

Top Wrestlers Come To S'ide On Wednesday

The big beautiful weight lifter, Geraldine Baillargeon, will be at Civic Stadium at Summerside on Wednesday evening. This girl who could be mistaken for a movie star, tosses a big bell bar around as if it were made of cork. On her last visit some of the local huskies flexed their muscles on the bar after the show and found it difficult to lift off the floor. Geraldine will be just an added attraction in a fine wrestling card. Karl Von Stroheim, the most hated wrestler seen at Civic Stadium, will be back roughing his opponent and taunting the crowd. Last time an incensed spectator hit him with a chair but Von Stroheim is coming back and no doubt the police will be vigilant to see that he is not attacked again.
Wednesday's wrestling card brings the well-known Klondyke Kid of the Yukon to Summerside. He will be pitted against Bud Lortie of Montreal and Von Stroheim takes on Bob Taylor, Chicago's Pride and joy. Babs Wingo, the colored girl, who outclassed Jackie Burke last time out will meet a sterner foe this time in the Canadian Champion, Yvonne Eric.

3 Tignish Fishermen Suffer Painful Burns

Three Tignish fishermen suffered painful burns in two separate accidents involving fires aboard their boats last Friday.
John Fennessey was burned about the face and arms. He received arm burns when the motor on their lobster trap hauler caught fire. The blaze occurred while they were fishing off the ledge at North Cape and the men were burned while extinguishing the fire which was very difficult to bring under control.
The same day and in the same location Peter Myers was burned about the face and arms, requiring overnight treatment in the Western Hospital, when the engine on his boat burst into flames when he removed the engine cover. Guy and Joseph Myers, brothers, also aboard the boat, were not injured.
The injured men were in considerable pain during the ten mile sail back into Tignish harbour and while en route to Alberton for treatment by Dr. Shea.
