National Civil Aviation Policy Is Considered

OTTAWA, April 23.—The government has under consideration a definite national civil aviation policy. Defence Minister Mackenzie told a questioner in the House of Commons today. Civil aviation will be developed independently "of any aeronautical developments for military purposes," the Minister said.

So far as the Regina municipal airport is concerned, it is not expected there will be any increased use made of its facilities this year due to the fact that the trans-Canada highway is not sufficiently far advanced to permit of any regular air services, said the Minister.

British Government Seeks Stay Of Double Execution

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The British government and a squad of attorneys pressed separate fights tonight to stay the hanging of Alexander Mackay a British subject, condemned with Joseph Kristy to die on the gallows tomorrow for kidnaping the California prison board.

Both men are San Quentin convicts. Mackay's stepfather lives in Montreal.

Britain's Foreign Office sent through the Secretary of State in Washington a request to Gov. Frank F. Merriam that the double execution be delayed 30 days to allow attorneys to appeal the case if warranted.

Harding J. McGuire and Melvin M. Bell, attorneys for the two men, contacted individually that justices of the state supreme court in an attempt to get approval for a writ of review.

Three of the justices visited indicated they would not act. That meant McGuire and Bell would have to obtain approval from the other four justices.

JERSEY FOR EVENING!

Jerseys, accenting pure silks, and used for the various aspects of formal fashions, from afternoon and cocktail frocks, to the most formal evening attire are a new and interesting feature. The latter appears a sheer with the transparency of a chiffon, but with a body and crispness that almost suggest a sheer tafetta. An evening frock in full-skirted fashion with vivid blue chiffon cape over it, and flower trimming makes a simple but chic costume. The sleek black dress that is suitable for all day and cocktail wear, or heavier texture, and looks almost like a soft broadcloth, with the same black inky lustre. Jersey is used to create this model.

"Well, I should like to attend very much and I'm sure many members would also," Mr. King said after the Mayor extended an invitation to the celebration starting about July 1. "But I'm afraid Mr. McGeer is talking so much in the House that we may not get through by that time."

Everyone roared with laughter at the sally and Mayor McGeer joined in the merriment.

Mr. F. G. Spencer Visits Charlottetown

Mr. F. G. Spencer of the F. G. Spencer Co. Ltd., proprietors of the Prince Edward and Capitol Theatres of this city, arrived on Wednesday evening on a tour of inspection. Mr. Spencer is accompanied by the General Manager of the firm, Mr. A. H. Fielding.

The theatre chain of the Spencer Co. is to be improved and increased. The new Amherst theatre will be started within the next few weeks, and Kentville is to be given a new picture palace of the most modern type.

In a short time construction will commence in Wolfville and Middleton.

The large expenditure incurred in increasing and bettering his theatres is ample proof of Mr. Spencer's belief in the future prosperity of the Maritimes.

Mr. Spencer expressed his pleasure at being in Charlottetown for the premiere in this city of "The Country Doctor", a picture which he is sure will be appreciated by all interested in the welfare of the Dionne quintuplets.

Mr. Spencer and Mr. Fielding leave this morning for Amherst.

Oppose Change In Meeting Railway Deficits

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 23.—Conservative leader Bennett and Hon. H. E. Stevens, the only Reconstructionists in the House, once political friends, then enemies, supported the same view in the House of Commons today.

They protested against a change proposed by Finance Minister Dunning resulting in Canadian National Railway deficits being voted by Parliament the same year they occur. The present practice is to vote the money the year after.

It was only a skirmish on the proposed change. A lengthier discussion slated for later in the session.

The Finance Minister attempted to introduce a bill providing for capital appropriations and refunding costs of the railway for this year but did not press it when the Conservative leader suggested it should come later.

Potato Planting In New Brunswick About Week Earlier

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 23.—Planting operations for the 1936 potato crop will get under way in the Saint John Valley by May 10th, about one week earlier than usual, it is now anticipated by officials of the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture. Commencement of planting activities would have been earlier than that, were it not for the fact that the unseasonably cold weather, after an unusually early spring breakup, caused a setback of a week or so. As a general rule, planting does not get under way to a large extent before the middle of May. Warmer weather is needed to prepare the ground for seeding operations.

The volume of fertilizer sales will indicate the extent of the acreage to be sown to potatoes, and officials still believe, from present indications, that the acreage will be about the same as last year. The belief prevails that scarcity of seed potatoes will prevent any increase in the tuber acreage compared with last season, when there was a reduction of twenty-five per cent. compared with the previous year.

Within a few days, the Provincial government will decide what action will be taken on the request made yesterday by Carleton and Victoria county growers for continuation of the assistance given last year by the late government in regard to the purchase of fertilizer supplies. The arrangement in 1935 called for a guarantee by the Province of bank accounts of growers up to $200 for fertilizer, the assistance being worked out on an acreage limitation basis.

WRECK OF "MARCO POLO" RECALLED

The wreck of the barque "Marco Polo" at the Cavendish Capes in July 1883, was recalled yesterday by Captain Alfred MacLeod of New London. In conversation with a newspaperman on the deck of his schooner, the "Ellis Concham" moored at a Charlottetown dock, the Captain told of the rescue of a salvage crew from the wreck during a violent gale in the last week of August, 1883.

The "Marco Polo" was a barque of 1,511 tons burden and was built at St. John, N. B. She was known as one of the fastest and luckiest vessels that sailed the Atlantic and during the thirty years previous to 1883 the ship had the reputation among mariners as the leading clipper ship on the Atlantic.

When the "Marco Polo" had served her usefulness as a first class packet she was sold to Captain P. A. Bull of Christiania, Norway. On the 19th of July, 1883, the ship sailed from Quebec loaded with 628 standard of pine deals. In the Gulf of St. Lawrence a very heavy gale of wind was encountered and after battling the heavy seas for a day or so the vessel sprang a leak and made water very fast. The crew manned the pumps but despite all they could do they could not keep the water down. Finding it impossible to save the vessel the captain decided to strand her on the Prince Edward Island shore. The vessel struck at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning, July 25, at Cavendish Cape. The weather was so heavy at the time and the sea ran so high on the beach that the crew could not be taken off for twenty-four hours. When the wind went down the men landed and were taken into various farm homes at Cavendish.

On August 8th the ship was sold for salvage. The Daily Examiner at Charlottetown on that day had this to say regarding the sale:

"The last of the Marco Polo. The sale of this far-famed clipper ship and cargo took place yesterday under the direction of Hon. G. W. Howlan, vice-consul of Norway and Sweden, at the residence of Alex McNeill, Esq., Cavendish Capes, and the day being fine, and the cargo a valuable one, there was a very large attendance indeed; in fact, we may say that every town, village and hamlet from Alberton to Georgetown was represented, and Quebec, St. John, Sackville, Moncton, Shediac and Kouchibouguac, N. B., as well. The bidding was most spirited and the competition keen, many being seemingly anxious to own something which belonged to the great packet ship whose fame when the Black Ball line flourished was world-wide. The stores and outfit were sold in small lots to various parties, bringing good prices. The cargo, containing something over 600 standard Quebec pine deals and ends was knocked down to Mr. Lantallum of St. John, N. B., and George McLeod, Esq., of the same place at $5,500 and the hull, etc., with masts and rigging alongside went to Mr. Lantallum at about $500. The total sales would gross about $6,000. The auctioneer was A. McNeill, Esq., of this city."

A short time after the sale a salvage crew began work on the wreck. They found that the pine deals had swelled from contact with the water and were jammed hard against the lower deck beams. In order to get the lumber out they were forced to cut the ship's timbers. On Wednesday, August 30, a heavy north-easter gale blew up and before the salvage crew realized their dangerous position the seas were running so high on the beach that the crew did not dare to attempt to go ashore.

It was not very long, however, before the vessel, weakened by the cutting of the deck beams, began to break up. Finally three men, Mr. George Bell, his son and a Mr. Doucette lashed a boat. They had not gone far before a huge wave hit the boat and overturned it. Mr. Bell and his son clung to the boat but Mr. Doucette was washed off and drowned.

At that time in company with other men Captain MacLeod, then a young man in his early twenties, was fishing mackerel at New London a few miles west of the Cavendish Cape. Word was sent to them of the plight of the men on the wreck and ten men in a thirty foot seine boat went to their rescue. "We had a hard time getting them off because we had to be very careful or one of the ship's timbers would knock a hole in the side of our boat," Captain MacLeod said. "The men were all gathered on the fo'c'st'le head and we threw them ropes in order to pick them up if they missed our boat in jumping from the wreck," the veteran Captain continued.

Finally after many anxious hours the men were removed from what remained of the "Marco Polo" and the little fishing vessel returned to New London Harbour.

BOY ESCAPES KIDNAPPER

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 23.—Ten year old Henry T. Koch, who liked to play "kidnap" and "always the first to get loose," broke a real kidnapper's bonds today and his father an attempt to molest his wealthy father of $20,000.

Unconcerned, he identified a prisoner as the abductor and went home to play marbles.

A warrant charging kidnaping was lodged against "Richard D. Taylor, Akron, Ohio," who police seized in the outskirts of Allentown within three hours after the boy was abducted while on the way to school.

The police said he confessed. "They found four prepared ransom notes and a roll of tape in his pockets. One note threatened the boy's life."

Young Koch, known to his friends as Tommy, was lured into an automobile. The man wanted him to go to the Koch farm to see a colt, the boy said. His mouth, hands and legs were taped, and he was left in a woods northwest of the city while the kidnapper returned to send a ransom note to the boy's father, H. T. Tommy said he wriggled through the weeds until he reached a stone jutting from the ground. He "sw-
