Western Canada Crop Report

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 6—Another week of good growing weather and scattered showers has been favorable for crop development over much of the Prairie Provinces, but more rain is required at points in Southern Manitoba and Central and Southern Alberta. Variable hail damage has again occurred in scattered areas, chiefly in Alberta, and reports of several leaf rust in sections are becoming more widespread in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Durum wheat is seriously affected by rust in Southern Alberta. Late crops are heading out very short in all districts in Alberta.

Earliest sown crops are beginning to turn color and while fall rye and some early barley harvesting is commencing, other crops will not be ready for harvesting much before mid August. Hot weather earlier has brought some crops in too rapidly in Manitoba and Alberta, and some deterioration is expected as a result. Northern sections of Manitoba and Saskatchewan require more warm weather to mature crops before possible fall frosts, according to the weekly crops report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

In the Peace River area, weather has been cloudy with heavy rain. Hail damage occurred at a few points and while an earlier dry spell reduced prospects somewhat, an average crop is still expected. It is extremely hot in the Okanagan Valley, where the cherry movement is practically finished. This crop was much heavier than previous estimates. Apricots and early apples will move in volume next week and vegetables will move in car lots from now on.

Urges India To Refrain From Use Of Force At Goa

LONDON, (Reuters) — Britain has asked India to "refrain from resorting to force or to methods bound to lead to the use of force" in settlement of the Goa dispute with Portugal, the Foreign Office announced Friday. It said in a statement that State Minister Selwyn Lloyd has told the Portuguese ambassador to Britain, Don Pedro Pereira, that Britain "very much regretted the state of tension now existing between a member of the Commonwealth and an ally of such long standing as Portugal."

"Recent events appear likely to intensify this tension and to result in violence and bloodshed," the statement said. Britain is linked with India through common membership of the British Commonwealth. Portugal is Britain's oldest ally being linked with Britain by a friendship treaty of 1373. It was reported from New Delhi that the acting British High Commissioner, George Middleton, called at the Indian External Affairs ministry to present Britain's point of view concerning the present situation in the Portuguese settlements. During the last 10 days unofficial "liberation units" have seized power in parts of the Portuguese enclave of Nagar Havala in west India.

Would Have All Immigrants Become Citizens

By ALLAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Legion said Friday that immigrants who have no intention of becoming Canadian citizens should be kept out of the country. If immigrants do not attempt to become citizens within a year after they qualify under the five-year residence regulation, the Legion said they should be deported.

The resolution was taken in a resolution meeting of delegates on the closing day of the Legion's week-long biennial convention. The resolution, noting that immigrants are not required to become citizens, said they should be taught the Canadian way of life and learn to read, write and speak either English or French under a federally-financed plan.

Immigrants can seek citizenship papers after five years' notice of their intention of becoming citizens. If they made no attempt to fulfill the promise within a year after their papers were up. They should be deported.

OPPOSE GUARDS PLAN
In one of its last acts before adjourning, the convention adopted a resolution, sponsored by the British Columbia branch, condemning the decision to give the recently formed Regiment of Canadian Guards precedence over all other infantry regiments.

The resolution said the move is "an affront and a disgrace to the famous regiments of this country" and added that the Legion "abhors and condemns the degradation of our famous infantry regiments by this act." The Guards, formed less than a year ago, should not be made the premier regiment "until such time as their regiment shall have earned its position honorably on the field of battle."

The Legion's next dominion convention will be held in Vancouver in 1956. The new president, Very Rev. J. S. Morrison of Ottawa, in his inauguration speech Friday, urged delegates to increase public understanding of the Legion. Of two other resolutions adopted, one asked for more rigid selection of immigrants and the other criticized the exemption from military service granted to Hutches and Sons of Freedom Doukhobors. The first said stricter selection is needed.

OBJECT TO EXEMPTION
The second said the growth of Hutches and Sons of Freedom colonies in Eastern Canada is "a matter of concern to all right-minded Canadians." Their exemption from military service should be ended and they should be prevented from obtaining more land and "assume the duties and obligations of Canadian citizenship."

Other resolutions urged: 1. An increase to $15,000 from $10,000 in the maximum amount of insurance available under the Veterans' Insurance Act and establishment of a life insurance plan for members of the armed forces, with the government sharing the cost. 2. Provision of a headstone or marker for the graves of all Canadian veterans, paid for by the government.

3. A reciprocal arrangement with the United States government to give Canadian veterans living in the United States and U. S. veterans living in Canada the hospital treatment and medical care provided veterans in their native countries.

Attlee And Other Labor Leaders Leaving On Monday For Red China

By FRASER WIGHTON
LONDON (Reuters) — Labor party leader Clement Attlee began packing his bags Friday for a visit to Communist China—first since Mao Tse-Tung seized power nearly five years ago.

The 71-year-old former prime minister will leave by air Monday for Moscow at the head of an eight-member labor delegation including leftist rebel Aneurin Bevan. It is considered the most influential British Labor delegation ever sent abroad. The delegates will spend two days in Moscow — and may see Soviet premier Georgie Malenkov — before flying on to Communist China for a visit of about two weeks.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow quoted diplomatic observers as saying they expect Malenkov to receive Attlee and reiterate Russia's declared wish for improved relations with Britain. Attlee has accepted an invitation from Sir William Hayter, British ambassador in Moscow, to be his personal guest. Other members of the delegation will stay in a Moscow hotel.

WOMAN IN PARTY
The delegation has strong labor union representation. It also contains one woman — tall, auburn-haired Dr. Edith Summerskill, 53, minister of national insurance in Attlee's post-war government. Morgan Phillips, a delegation member and Labor party secretary discussed arrangements for the trip with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai at the Geneva Far East conference last month. Phillips, 52, is chairman of the Socialist International. The goodwill mission stems from a resolution put forward for the Labor party conference last year. The party national executive approved the resolution and made overtures to Peiping.

VISIT OTHER LANDS

Communist China, recognized by Britain shortly after it came to power, gave a green light to the visit some months ago.

Following their stay in Peiping, the Labor leaders—with the exception of Attlee—will visit socialist parties in Japan, Malaya, Singapore and Burma.

Attlee will not accompany the delegation to Japan because he has accepted invitations to visit Australia and New Zealand before returning to Britain in time for Labor's annual conference at Scarborough in late September.

In addition to Attlee, Bevan, Phillips and Mrs. Summerskill, the delegation includes: Wilfred Burke, 64, M.P., current chairman of the party; Sam Watson, 55, a coal-miner's leader; Harry Earnshaw, textile worker; leader, and Henry Franklin, former president of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Heavy Trout Loss Reported In Upper Wilmot River

Yesterday afternoon Fisheries Officer P. C. Martin, Summerside and the Provincial game officer from Charlottetown teamed up in an investigation into the cause of death of thousands of trout in the headwaters of the Wilmot River above the large Departmental dam known locally as Clark's. Early in the week anglers who had had excellent luck on this stream returned for further sport and found the pool bottoms covered with dead trout from fingerlings to two pounders. Hundreds of others had grounded in the shallows. One observer counted over 100 on the bottom of one pool. Another estimated 400 dead trout floating in still water or grounded at streamside.

The officers located the source of pollution — a potato spraying material had been allowed access to the water at a bridge spanning the stream above an old dam site that is located approximately 2 miles above the Clark dam. Dead trout were found over a mile down stream. It is not known at present whether or not the trout population in the magnificent public fishing dam constructed by the Department of Industry and Natural Resources has been affected. Trout above the bridge in question are not affected by the contamination. It is understood that court action is in process of being instituted.

Wet And Cold Weather For July In Cape Breton

Sport Echoes From Prince County

Did you ever hear of the one-two-three punch? In the boxing ring you'd have to be an octopus to deliver it, but Summerside's baseball teams managed it at Memorial Field in Charlottetown, Thursday night. In the process Dee Lefurgey, Paul Schurman and Jo Jo Gallant added further laurels to their pitching reps.

Maurie Cannon and Harold Kramer helped themselves to home runs, Cannon's being a grand-slam smacker. Somehow a home run seems to lack something if it doesn't go over some kind of a barrier. There is something dramatic about the sphere sailing out of the park or into the bleachers. Both Cannon's and Kramer's circuit smashes cleared a fence.

Summerside Legionaires have gone one up on the RCAF Royals in their final series for the softball championship of Prince County. Andy Andrews was missing from the line-up, and his understudy, Legault, was missing on a few cylinders too. We've seen Legault pitch two fine ball games, but he was away off the beam on Thursday.

The RCAF defeat should make the best-three-of-five series all the closer. It would offer odds on their team right now. The Legionaires will miss their pepper-pot second baseman, Stew Grady, who is going back on service, and has played his last game in Summerside this year.

There should be a good turnout to see the Curran & Briggs baseball team play the Tignish Royals at Tignish on Sunday. If Tignish can continue their unbeaten streak against the classy Curranites they can give themselves a couple of pats on the back for us.

When this is printed, Joe Bernard will be back in Summerside after taking a
