Funeral Service Saturday For Noted City Pharmacist

One of the most devoted men in his profession, E. Lea Bryenton, 67, died in Toronto March 3 after spending 45 years as a druggist here.

Always quiet spoken, he was noted for his thoroughness in performing any task he undertook. This latter factor alone made him an invaluable member of the P.E.I. Pharmaceutical Association of which he had been a past president.

Born in Coleman, P.E.I., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bryenton, he started in the drug business here with the old MacKinnon Drug Company in 1916. Just nine years later he was with J. E. H. Worth in this city and 10 years after this, in 1935, he entered the business of Johnson and Johnson, corner of Prince and Kent Street, and became the owner. Here he remained until ill health forced his retirement.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, Mrs. E. L. Bryenton, Charlottetown and one daughter, Geraldine, Mrs. J. A. Landry, of Toronto. A son, Robert, predeceased him several years ago. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Weston Whitlock, Charlottetown, and Mrs. Mabel Campbell, Florida, as well as four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Hennessey Funeral Home with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

a gun in my belly," Morrisette said.

"It looked like a machine-gun. There were three of them there—they had three guns and lots of ammunition."

CALLED POLICE

Morrisette ran back to his cabin and when they followed he jumped out a back window and ran to call police.

Two RCMP constables came in response and were disarmed as they entered. Morrisette followed them.

The youths ordered Morrisette and the constables across the lake. Of the other three in the cabin, Louis Braaten, 57, was left unharmed because he had a wooden leg. Wilfred Demers lay undiscovered in another room where he hid under a bed, and William Horne, 53, was taken along as hostage.

The three shot at the feet of the constables and Morrisette as they crossed the ice, and held a pistol at Horne's head.

Attempting to make their escape, they got stuck in Morrisette's car. The same thing happened when they took the constables' car and it went into a ditch.

Two more police vehicles had been left blocking the road and the youths disabled them with per capita in 1961 was $439 in P.E.I., again the lowest in Canada and compares to a national average of $1,055.

"All the information clearly indicates that P.E.I. has been an area of exceptionally slow growth. This is probably nowhere more evident than in the fact our population has not increased in the last 100 years. In fact, we have fewer people now than we had at the time of confederation," the Kings' MP points out. "Everything I have said clearly demonstrates that P.E.I. is deserving of special consideration and should be included in the new list of designated areas."

NOTES RATIO

He notes that in most countries in Europe, the ratio of industrial to agricultural employment was used as a criteria to designate areas for special help. In this field, P.E.I. with a ratio of one industrial to one agricultural worker, was the lowest in Canada. Ontario leads with a ratio of 6 to 1.

The set value of production based on statements made in connection with Mr. Dupuis' efforts to get the race-track charter.

Mr. Dupuis left the federal cabinet Jan. 20. Prime Minister Pearson later told the Commons he had asked for Mr. Dupuis' resignation after seeing a preliminary RCMP report on allegations against Mr. Dupuis.

The three charges against Mr. Dupuis all referred to an amount of $10,000 allegedly having changed hands during the efforts to obtain the race-track charter.

The first charge said between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1961, Mr. Dupuis had conspired with Roch Deslauriers and other persons at present unknown to "commit a criminal act."

"He, the said Yvon Dupuis, having or pretending to have influence with the government of Quebec, or with a minister or civil servant of the said government, did demand, accept or offer to accept for himself or another person, a reward, advantage or benefit of any kind, namely the sum of $10,000, as consideration for cooperation, assistance, exercise of influence or with the transaction of business with the government of the province of Quebec or any matter of business relating to the said government, namely the granting of a charter for the operation of a race-track in the said province."

The second charge said Mr. Dupuis had conspired with Roch Deslauriers to offer, give or agree to offer or give to a minister or civil servant of the Quebec government the sum of $10,000 in connection with efforts to obtain a race-track charter.

The third charge said between May 1 and May 30, 1961, Mr. Dupuis did demand, accept for himself or another person, a reward, advantage or benefit of any kind, namely the sum of $10,000, as consideration for co-

deering a car driven by Montreal accountant Jacques Bourgeois minutes after they broke from Bordeaux. They forced Mr. Bourgeois to drive with them for some blocks, then dropped him on a street corner and carried on alone.

PHONED BY RIVARD

Mr. Bourgeois was not hurt by the two men. His car was recovered after Rivard phoned him.

Rivard had been in Bordeaux, a provincially-operated prison, since last June while his lawyers fought against his extradition to face a Texas grand jury charge of conspiring to smuggle narcotics. The extradition case still is unsettled.

Charges by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, who represents the U.S. government in the extradition proceedings that he was offered a $20,000 bribe to drop opposition to bail for Rivard led to establishment of the Dorion inquiry.

Rivard himself was a witness before the inquiry in January.

Kings MP Makes Strong Plea For P.E.I. Designated Area

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

OTTAWA — A strong plea to include Prince Edward Island as a designated area under the federal government's special industrial tax incentive program has been made here by John Mullally, MP for Kings.

In letters to prime minister Lester Pearson, industry minister Charles M. Drury, transport minister J.W. Pickersgill, fisheries minister H.J. Robichaud, and solicitor general J. Watson MacNaught, Mr. Mullally quotes statistics which he claims clearly demonstrate that the entire province should be designated.

He says that the inclusion of P.E.I. will require some changes in the basic criteria of the designated area program.

"This is imperative and long overdue. The criteria used, high level of unemployment and slow economic growth, were much too narrow a basis in many instances were not accurate indicators of the true economic situation," Mr. Mullally claims.

"A new formula, which would take into account a broader set of economic criteria, would provide the basis for a much more accurate assessment of the status, merits and needs of a particular area."

The Kings' MP then goes on to suggest a number of tests which should be considered in determining areas for special consideration. He says low income, high level unemployment and out-migration, low ratio of industrial to agricultural employment, and slow economic growth and low gross output, should all be taken into account.

P.E.I. has the lowest per capita income in Canada, Mr. Mullally says, quoting 1961 census figures which show average income of $2,134 for men and $1,179 for women. This compares with $4,126 and $2,116, the highest in the nation.

Considering unemployment, he points out that the present criteria considers only the figures for six months and this system discriminates against areas such as P.E.I. that have fairly good summer employment but drastically high unemployment in other parts of the year.

"I do not think that anything could better substitute the slow economic growth and development and the lack of employment opportunity in our province than the fact that 17,000 people, or one-sixth of our population of slightly over 100,000 people, left the province to seek employment elsewhere during a 10-year period," Mr. Mullally says.

"These were particularly all young people who had been educated and trained in our province, but because of lack of opportunity, moved elsewhere at the beginning of their productive years."

NOTES RATIO

He notes that in most countries in Europe, the ratio of industrial to agricultural employment was used as a criteria to designate areas for special help. In this field, P.E.I. with a ratio of one industrial to one agricultural worker, was the lowest in Canada. Ontario leads with a ratio of 6 to 1.

Many of the hymns contained in the present hymnal are set to enjoyable music but their lyrics are archaic and sometimes repugnant, he said.

VP Chen Cheng Dies In Formosa

TAIPEI (AP) — Vice President Chen Cheng, 67, who became the No. 2 man in Nationalist China after a long military career, died of cancer Friday night, leaving Chiang Kai-shek's son the obvious heir apparent.

Chen, who resigned as premier in December, 1963, because of failing health, had cancer of the liver.

Chen, a devoted follower of Chiang for more than 40 years, also was the deputy leader of Chiang's ruling party, the Kuomintang. As one of the key architects of a land reform program, he was a popular and highly regarded figure in Formosa.

Chen was a quiet but ambitious man who rose to fame swiftly as a soldier. During the Second World War he led the expeditionary forces assigned to link up Burma with allied forces in India. He became war minister in 1944 and chief of the general staff two years later.
