THE DAILY EXAMINER

JUNE 27, 1900

THE FIRST POINT.

The first point to be noted by the electors of the Second District of Queen's County is the illegal inaction of the Government regarding Mr. Wise's resignation.

It is admitted, and contended, by the Farquharson party that the resignation was strictly legal and right. As legal and right it was accepted by the Speaker; as legal and right it was forwarded to the Lieutenant Governor; as legal and right it was accepted by the Lieutenant Governor, who, forthwith, had a writ of election filled out; as legal and right it was acted upon in the Legislature when Mr. Wise seeing that he had been deceived, and that the electors of the district were cheated, took the seat to which he had been elected, and was dragged therefrom and imprisoned by the illegal order of the ill-Liberal Speaker.

But the writ was not issued until after the session of the Legislature was held the Government having, in the meantime been sustained by the traitor Pineau.

Why was the writ of election not issued? The law expressly orders and directs that—

"The Lieutenant Governor shall within seven days after the receipt of a notification of a vacancy in any of the cases aforesaid, issue a writ for the election of a member in the place of the member whose seat is vacated, except as in cases provided for by sub-section two in section nineteen."

The exception refers to "the pendency of a petition." There was no petition in this case. According to the law the writ ought to have been issued WITHIN SEVEN DAYS OF THE RECEIPT OF NOTIFICATION. In the case of Mr. Wise, the receipt of notification took place in the month of March last. But the writ was not issued until June! Consequently there has been, in this case, a deliberate violation of the law.

It has been inferred that the Lieutenant Governor was blamable,—because the law expressly directs that he "shall issue a writ." Premier Farquharson and his political friends were quite content that the Lieutenant Governor should bear the blame of having violated the law. But it is now known that the Lieutenant Governor, personally, did what he could—he left the writ ready to be issued by the Executive Government; and it was not issued! The blame of the violation of the law, therefore, rests upon Premier Farquharson and his colleagues in the Government.

Now, the point is, are the electors of the second district of Queen's County willing to share the blame with the Farquharson Government,—to take the odium of it upon their own shoulders?

If they are willing to do this they will vote for the Government candidate; if they are not, they will vote for Mr. Wise.

If they should vote for Dr. Douglas they will declare to the world, by their act and deed, that they are content and satisfied that the laws should be deliberately broken by those who are sworn to uphold the laws. If they vote for Mr. Wise they will show by their act and deed that they denounce law-breaking and law-breakers.

This is the first point to be noted by the electors of the second District of Queen's.

The Ottawa correspondent of the St John Sun is unable to understand the meaning of the instructions given to the Royal Ballot-Box Stuffing Commission. "The judges," he says, "are authorized to inquire into and investigate any alleged fraudulent alteration, defacing, marking, spoiling, substitution, or tampering, in respect of election ballots, or by reason of any fraudulent conduct in respect to the poll-books, ballot-boxes, or the lawful contents, or what should have been the lawful contents, of the ballot-boxes, whether by way of fraudulent alterations, additions, withdrawals, or otherwise." This sentence is quoted as a fine example for use in the public schools as a style of writing to be avoided. When the student has succeeded in construing the words "in respect of" with those that come before it, and has managed to find the application of the words "or by reason of," he will find various other interesting questions. From this Minister of Justice's English his attention may be turned to a somewhat analogous expression of a departed judge in Nova Scotia, "Prisoner at the bar, you are the son of honest parents, and were brought up in the fear of the Lord, instead of which you go about the country stealing geese."

LETTER FROM MR.

CAMPBELL, M. L. A.

SIR,—I notice in the Daily Patriot of the 20th June an article announcing with a great flourish of trumpets that the writs have been issued for an election in the Second District of Queen's County, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Wise. Why all this bombast and bluster in the article alluded to? When did the leader muster courage enough to open his own district,—which he gave his written pledge to have opened as soon as Mr. Wise sent in his resignation? And now, having acted the political traitor to his colleague, Mr. Wise, and to his constituents by depriving them of their proper representation during the late session of Parliament, he, through his organ the Patriot, assumes a bold front and blows loud and long to keep his failing courage up! If some rumour is correct the Leader only mustered up this courage when he was forced to do so by his colleagues in the Government.

The first paragraph in this effusion worth noticing is the statement which reads as follows:

"The course of the Opposition in the Legislature and in the press has been one of bifurcation and abuse. This course was not confined to the Farquharson Government alone, but deadly poisoned darts of slander were directed towards the French Canadians of this province in vile attacks on one of their representatives. It now becomes the duty of the electors to assert by their votes that they cannot be misled by any press or party for the purpose of political capital-making."

I need not tell you, Mr. Editor, that a more gross slander or malicious falsehood was never uttered against any body of men. That Mr. Pineau was held up in his true light before the public is true, and just what he ought to expect, and what he richly deserved when he allowed himself to become the dupe of designing schemers who had lost the confidence of the county and been condemned from Tignish to Murray Harbor. But that any one of the Conservative members ever made the slightest allusion to the French Canadians of this Province (as a body of men) is a barefaced falsehood and published with a view to influence the vote of the French people of Rustico. But it will fall in its object (as every base falsehood deserves to fall) as there is no class of men in this province who detest a traitor and believe in upholding the honor and integrity of the French race more than the voters of French descent in Rustico; and they will show Kruger that they will resent the insult offered to their race by him and his satellites in first ruining a man and selling all his means of livelihood and then through their emissaries approaching him in his distress and inducing him by means well known to the creatures of the machine to change his allegiance to his friends and betray his constituents who had so lately entrusted him with their confidence and join a corrupt party that had done their best to defeat him in his election.

For my own part, I did not say much about Pineau's action, as I consider the men who approached him with their seductive offers are the real criminals, and instead of occupying high positions in both Local and Dominion politics should, if they had their just deserts, be behind the bars.

It is generally believed and accepted as true throughout the province that the whole scheme was concocted in Ottawa during the visit of Kruger there last March by him and two leading ministers in the present Dominion government. It is not necessary to mention names as the whole county are well aware of who Kruger's associates were in this vile, immoral and corrupt transaction.

The last paragraph in this wild effusion is the most remarkable. I wish to reproduce it for the benefit of your readers who do not take the Patriot, as it has evidently been written or dictated by Kruger himself, for I do not believe there is an editor of a newspaper or public man in this province who is low enough to pen a sentence containing the covert threat in the last few lines of that paragraph:—

"In conclusion we give a direct charge to the Conservatives. Here it is: The government challenge them to send their Senators, their M. P.'s and their orators from New London and New Perth into the Second District and there repeat the misrepresentation and charges brought against the government, both in and out of the Legislature. Let those doughty gentlemen dare to face Premier Farquharson in his own district if they have the courage to do so. In the district they will not be protected by the privileges they enjoy in the Legislature, and we feel sure they will not repeat their speeches recently delivered in the House."

I wonder that the editor of the Patriot allowed even Kruger to use his paper to publish such a veiled threat, for what does it mean in plain Anglo-Saxon. It is simply this: Campbell and Shaw I challenge you to come to my district and dare to defend the farmers of this country against the most extravagant and corrupt government that ever existed and expose my dishonest transaction and fight the battle of your fellow farmers and I will have you mobbed Kruger reckons without his host. He wants to assume the role of his namesake and resort to brute force; but he will find that I have just as many personal friends in that district as he has although we may not see eye to eye in politics. This threat is only in keeping with the one Kruger made at the opening of the last session when he stated on the floor of the House that if the Opposition members did not keep quiet he would put every one of them out of the House, and your humble servant was to be the first victim of the great Kruger's wrath. He even had two special policemen appointed at the public expense to carry out his cowardly and dastardly threat. But as far as I am personally concerned his threat is harmless, I am prepared to accept his challenge and meet the great would-be Kruger and his henchmen before the intelligent electors of his district on any and every platform and not only repeat every charge I have made on the floor of Parliament but prove my statement from official documents, rung unwillingly from members of the government and their officials.

In the county, before an intelligent electorate, we will have a fair field and no favor. He will not have the advantage of a partisan Speaker at his back to choke off honest discussion. I would also remind this user of bought or stolen power that it is not the first time I have met him in his own district, backed by every member of his party, from Sir Louis Davies down to his lowest camp follower, and single-handedly defeated him and his pet candidate. His threats or his praises are all alike to me. His conduct only shows an intelligent public the depths to which he is willing to descend to bluff his opponents and hold on to place and power. He wishes a continuance of office so that he will have power to supply the most helpless of God's creatures with 13c. tea, 16c. kerosene oil, 26c. molasses, rotten butter and rotten bull beef. I do not wonder that he resorts to such low devices. Any public man holding his position must naturally (now that his sins have found him out) dread to meet the intelligent electors of West River and Rustico. I have not the least doubt that their verdict on the 11th of July will be a want of confidence in him as a public man, in accordance with the verdict of New London, Summerside, Tignish, Belfast and Murray Harbor. The Patriot has published Kruger's challenge. I ask it to publish my reply.
