

Hints to Voters.

THE election on Thursday will be to vote for or against the petition to put the Canada Temperance Act in force. Temperance voters, therefore, vote for it at the polls.

The following is the ballot paper marked in favour of the Temperance Act:—

For the Petition. X

Against the Petition.

The dotted line will be a line of perforation for easily detaching the counterfoil.

Voters must remember that the poll will close at FIVE p. m. Don't think it will be open until seven, as it was the other day; and, by waiting too long, lose your votes.

Voters will ballot at the same places and in the same way as for a Dominion election.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

APRIL 23, 1879.

The Election To-morrow.

TO-MORROW the citizens of Charlottetown will vote for or against the application of the Canada Temperance Act. The result of the canvass indicates an overwhelming majority "FOR THE PETITION." All who have promised will, of course, vote. Those apt to forget will, we have no doubt, be reminded, morning and noon, by their good wives or mothers at home. Everyone admits that the intemperate use of strong drink is a great evil; and even those who like to take a drop occasionally will, we think, vote "for the petition" in order that the temptation to intemperance may be removed from those who indulge to excess.

Opening of the Legislature.

THE Legislature will open to-morrow at three o'clock. The Herald of to-day makes the following remarks upon the occasion:—

"We have no doubt that the Governor's Speech will foreshadow a very considerable amount of good legislation to be carried through. This legislation will, however, necessarily be more than anything else of a corrective nature. The late Government ran into such wild and reckless measures, that the Government which now succeeds it will find their hardest task in correcting the errors of their predecessors. The king of misrule has had his days of power, and now that he has been deposed, the maladministration of his reign has to be rectified. The most important object to be attained, and, indeed, the end which is most desired by the people, is to see the expenditure of the Province brought down to something like a decent proportion with the revenue. To effect this, reductions will have to be made, and some very material changes made in the civil service. The late Government was, over and above all other vices, spendthrift in its habits. They taxed and they spent recklessly. Their officials were countless, and the people's money had to be raised to pay these office holders. We have no doubt but that the pruning knife will be applied in this direction with judicious severity. The faulty nature of nearly every act passed by the late Government will necessitate thorough revision, and well considered amendments. The Act for the Registry of Votes, is a model of clumsy and unsatisfactory legislation, to which it would be difficult to find a parallel. It is an excellent Act as it stands for disfranchising a goodly number of voters, and for encouraging personation. Then again, there is the abolition of the Legislative Council, an operation demanding much wisdom and care. We have, however, this confidence in the present Government, that whatever they do they will do after mature deliberation. They will not inflict on the country the crude ill-digested measures which formed the staple legislation of their predecessors. Herein, as we said before, rests the greatest difficulty, for it is easier to frame new measures than to tinker up and change old bungling Acts.

Russia, troubled greatly at home by Nihilism, gives many proofs of her desire to maintain peace with the rest of the world for the present at least. She has withdrawn some of her troops from the country south of the Balkans. She has used her influence to put an end to the insurrection in Macedonia. She has left the Amer of Afghanistan to his own resources, and she has, it is said, surrendered Kuldja, a much valued position, to the Chinese. To this she was bound by terms of a treaty with China; but nobody imagined that she would pay much regard to the Treaty, and having once taken possession of the place, even in trust, it was believed that she would hold on to it, but China is no longer so impotent as when the English and French marched to Peking, and a war with China would just now tax the resources of Russia severely.

THE Chatham, N. B., Gleaner says: "The New Brunswick Government is strong, the Nova Scotia Government is stronger, the P. E. Island Government is strongest. The Dominion Government is in perfect accord with the representative of Her Majesty, has an overwhelming majority in the Commons and Senate, and enjoys the confidence of the Canadian people, and the Grit bears are looking around for a hollow log."

Terrors of the Plague in Morocco.

PARENTS EATING THEIR CHILDREN.—THE AIR IMPREGNATED WITH THE DEADLY POISONS EMANATING FROM THE UNSBURIED.

NOTHING more horrible has ever been recorded than the ravages of the plague now raging in Morocco. A letter to a gentleman in Washington, D. C., from the United States consul at Tangier, dated March 19, 1879, gives the following terrible account of the suffering from the famine and from starvation. Living human beings eating the dead is almost an unheard-of horror. The consul writes as follows:—"All who can are now running away from this most unfortunate country, where famine, cholera and typhus have been and are still decimating its population. At Tangier alone we are having from thirty to forty cases of typhus per day; and at the city of Morocco the daily mortality by typhus is from 200 to 250 persons. The ordeal of death is complete. Parents eat their children, and at Magador, Luff and Cassablanca the starving Arabs eat their dead. The atmosphere is impregnated with deadly poisons emanating from the thousands that are half buried and the many left out exposed to the sun and rain. The European residents take every precaution; nevertheless, nearly one half have already succumbed to the dreadful disease. The fatalist Moslems ridicule all such expedients to avoid contagion, believing that all is written by God and that they must die if so decreed. The garments of the dead, by disease, are sold by auction for a trifle and put on to the wretched buyer, who, soon after, is generally taken sick and follows in the wake of the former wearer. My time has been very much occupied, being president of the Morocco board of health, organizing lazaretto hospitals. My daughter has been sick with fever and my eldest son with cholera; but, thank God, we are all now and hope to escape the diseases surrounding us. At any rate I shall remain at my post and do my duty as far and as long as I am able."

Famine in Egypt.

Mr. C. Rivers Wilson sends from Cairo to the Times some particulars of the famine in Upper Egypt. He says:—"The low Nile of 1877 caused a great failure of the crops of 1878. The poor have suffered much in the provinces of Girgeh, Keneh, and Esneh; many, especially old people and young children, have died in those districts, if not from actual starvation, at least from dysentery and other diseases brought on by insufficient or unwholesome food. Partly from the funds placed at the disposal of the two Englishmen who were good enough to act as agents of the Government, and partly from the funds raised by private subscriptions and applied by the local officials, many thousands of the population have been supported. In Girgeh, the only part of Upper Egypt where distress still remains, over 3,000 people are being fed daily, and will continue to be relieved until the end of the month, when the crops will be ripe. In Keneh the crops are now ripe and relief has been stopped. For the last three months nearly 5,000 people have been fed daily. In Esneh a large sum was collected among the wealthier class of the population, and was placed at the disposal of the Moudir for distribution."

Cardinal Newman.

It has been decided that the great Oratorian shall become a Prince of the Catholic Church, and there is as much rejoicing amongst the Catholics of Ireland as amongst those of England at having his great services thus rewarded. The Dublin "Nation" published a sketch of his life and labors, dwelling especially on his labors in connection with the Irish Catholic University, which he assisted in establishing, and this so gratified the Cardinal elect that he wrote to the editor of the "Nation":—

THE ORATORY, Birmingham, }
March 9, 1879.

Dear Sir,—I have just received the "Nation," and have to thank you for the very kind notice of me you have inserted in its columns. It is a great pleasure and satisfaction to me to have in any degree gained the kind feeling and good-will of the Irish people, whom I have sincerely wished to serve.

Your faithful servant,
JOHN H. NEWMAN.

To the Editor of the "Nation" Newspaper.

THE Royal Mail steamer "Moravian" brought to this port 293 steerage and intermediate and 22 cabin passengers. The 293 are mostly immigrants, and their destinations as obtained from Dr. Clay, Immigration Agent, are as follows:—

United States	62
Ontario	168
Quebec	12
New Brunswick	16
Nova Scotia	35

Those for the States have through tickets over the Intercolonial Railway, issued by Allan's Agents, in Europe. One man had a ticket for Yokohama via San Francisco. The Canadian immigrants are under the care of Dr. Clay, are forwarded on the mail train, and are accompanied by Colonel Sumner, the veteran travelling Immigration Agent. The party seemed to be of good class, and if appearance can be taken for anything will make good settlers. Quite a number were Germans, Danes and Swedes.—H. Herald.

GERMANY, we are now told, is watching the internal affairs of Austria very closely. Bismarck probably entertains still the hope of one day attaching the German portion of Austria to the new German Empire, but of late the desires of any portion of the Austrian Germans to exchange their comparatively free Government for German despotism must have been greatly diminished. It is now said that Bismarck's protectionist policy does not find as much favor in Germany as he anticipated, and that a general election would not increase his strength in the German Parliament.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

Ottawa and Foreign News.

LONDON, April 22.

Lord Derby in reply to an inquiry, whether his recent letter implied his severance from the Conservatives, writes:—"I don't see that my withdrawal from the Lancashire Conservative Association requires any explanation beyond the facts made public. I have openly dissented from the foreign policy of the Government. That policy seems in the main to be accepted by the party calling itself Conservative, and is expressly vindicated in the last report of the association from which I retired. I don't see how it is possible, consistently, to support in Lancashire, what I opposed in Parliament, and for the present I wish to hold myself free from all party organizations."

CONSTANTINOPLE April 22.

The Minister of War has promised Serbia to send troops immediately to check the incursions of Albanians.

LONDON, April 22.

Lorillard's "Parole" has created such a favorable impression upon the minds of backers generally that the final quotation at Tattersall's for the city and suburbs handicap was only three to one against him. The next favorite was "Elf King," taken at seven to one.

LATER.

LONDON, April 22.

The American horse "Parole" won the city and suburban handicap; Lord Rosebery's four year old bay colt "Ridotto" second; Lord Milton's six year old brown horse "Crabbe" third.

OTTAWA, April 22.

A statement giving the names of the Government vessels available for the protection of the fisheries shows the steamers to be "Napoleon Third," "Druid," "Newfield" and "Northern Light," any one of which could be assigned by the Minister of Marine for this service. It is proposed, however, to arrange for this service being performed by the steamer "Napoleon Third" during the forthcoming season in conjunction with the supplying of lighthouses.

The Silver Coinage in Germany.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Standard telegraphs: "I hear that the Imperial Government contemplates an important step with regard to the coinage of the Empire. A measure may shortly be proposed to the Federal Council empowering the Imperial Mint at Berlin to coin a large number of marks additional silver money. As the substitution of gold for silver coinage in the new German Empire, and the sale of a vast quantity of silver by Germany have, among other causes, helped to depress the price of silver, and thereby greatly to disturb the financial relations between Europe and the East, a substantial addition to the silver coinage of the Empire can hardly fail to tend to some extent to restore the former equilibrium."

A Lucky Canadian.

FALLS HEIR TO $7,500,000.

It is worth one's while to be second cousin to a millionaire, when all the other heirs-at-law are dead. Forty years ago, Oxenham, an English file maker, began to save his pennies in Toronto, and when he had $18,000 in bank he removed to Lambton County, where he bought large tracts of land and sold them at a profit. He finally settled down in the old homestead in a beautiful locality on the old London Road, three miles from Wyoming Station, on the Great Western Railway. Here he has lived quietly and peaceably for upward of a quarter of a century. Last summer he received a letter from an old friend in Barnstable, England, informing him that his second cousin, ex-Mayor Bembridge, had died without leaving a will; and that a large fortune was waiting the nearest of kin. As the Canadian squire was himself well off, he did not think it worth while to worry about the new estate. The other day, however, he received a letter from an English law firm, requesting his immediate presence in Barnstable, that he might be identified within one year of the death of ex-Mayor Bembridge, and thus save himself the trouble of taking any proceedings in Chancery. There was no chance of any opposition, and he could enter into possession at once. Accordingly, the venerable farmer started for home on Monday, and sailed for New York last Wednesday. He will inherit half of the personal property, which is worth $2,500,000, and all the real estate, worth $5,000,000. The old gentleman is so enamoured with his Canadian home that the style and comforts of an English gentleman's town and country mansions and domains do not tempt him to stay in the old land. His son, who has a large family of boys, will eventually take possession of the English estate.
