400-Trap Limit Gets Agreement

Fishermen from nine districts agreed yesterday to a lobster trap limit of 400 traps for the 1966 season. They met in Birch Court, Experimental Farm, Manse Murchison, Point Prim, and Pownal.

The fishermen agreed further that "no fishermen will be permitted to sell, give or loan traps to another fisherman unless the fisherman in question wishes to discontinue fishing operations altogether."

The fishermen represented such areas as Victoria, Canoe Cove, Nine Mile Creek, Charlottetown, Pownal, Alexandra, Point Prim, Pinette, Belle River and points in between.

They agreed that in the case of heavy trap losses because of ice conditions, or other acts of nature that fishermen would be permitted after consultation with, and the approval of the local area committee, to replace the lost traps. But in no case should the total exceed the agreed limit of 400.

They agreed further that no fisherman be permitted to operate more than one boat during the fishing season.

The fishermen gave evidence of meaning business when they named committees from the various areas to "police" or check on fishermen to ensure that the agreement is kept.

Those names from the various areas for this purpose are as follows: Manse Murchison is the overall committee chairman; Bell River, Walter Bell, Dan Cook; Pinette, L. Morrison, K. Morrison; Pt. Prim, Manse Murchison, L. Gillis, S. MacRae, J. C. MacKinnon; Nine Mile Creek, Forbes Taylor, Roy Campbell; Canoe Cove, George Darrach, Norman MacLeod; Victoria, Ralph Miller, Ivan Howatt.

MR. JUNGERMANN

Staff Addition Includes Biologist, Philosopher

Staff additions at St. Dunstan's University for the 1965-66 term include Dr. Ian MacQuarrie and Peter Jungermann.

Dr. MacQuarrie was born in Hampton, P.E.I. and attended Prince of Wales College, University of New Brunswick and Dalhousie University, graduating from Dal in 1957 with a Bachelor of Science Degree (Honours) in biology.

In 1958 he received his Master of Science Degree in experimental biology from Dalhousie. He continued his studies at the University of London, England, receiving his PhD in biology there in 1961.

Dr. MacQuarrie then taught for four years at Dalhousie University before coming to SDU. He is married with three children.

Mr. Jungermann was born in Union City, New Jersey, where he attended St. Augustine's School and later St. Peter's College High School in Jersey City. He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Josephinum College in Worthington, Ohio, after which he took three years post graduate study in theology, also at Josephinum College.

Before coming to SDU, Mr. Jungermann was employed for two years in Summerside as an assistant director and family counsellor with the Prince County Welfare Agency. He is in the philosophy department at SDU.

Price For Weaner Pigs Reaches All-Time High

By NEIL MATHESON

This litter of pigs is worth $500, or it will be worth that money by the time the 5-day old pigs have reached 30 pounds each, so they can be sold as weaners. It's worth $450 at present prices.

The unusual litter was farrowed the first of this week by a Landrace-York sow in the barn of Daniel Jewell and Sons, East Wilshire.

Weaner pigs — required weight is 30 pounds — were bringing $45 per pair yesterday.

Mr. Jewell suggested they well may be $50 per pair by the time the young pigs have reached the weight limit. The demand at present is much greater than the supply.

The price of weaner pigs, incidentally, is said to be at an all-time high.

Quotations for hogs here yesterday were at $41.75 per hundred pounds. That is high but it falls short of the record by a couple of cents that was reached back in the days of World War Two.

The mother and the baby pigs are owned by Douglas Jewell, Daniel's son, and he rotates the little pigs on the mother every four to six hours.

While 10 are with the mother, the other 10 are in a special pen that is kept warm with a heat lamp. The positions are reversed when feeding time changes.

Douglas bought a "feeder" for the little pigs, but this far he has not had to use it, as the mother keeps all 20 of the babies fed to utter contentment, Mr. Jewell told the Guardian.

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says no major weather disturbance is expected to affect the district for the next two days. A band of snowflurries, now south of the lower Great Lakes, should spread across the Maritimes this afternoon.

Scattered snowflurries are predicted in all regions again on Sunday.

Regional forecasts:

Halifax and vicinity: Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Eastern New Brunswick regions, Lower St. John River Valley: Mostly cloudy, scattered snowflurries beginning in the afternoon; little change in temperature; winds light, increasing in the afternoon to north-east 15; low-high at Halifax 20 and 32, Yarmouth 18 and 32, Kentville, New Glasgow, and Goshen 15 and 30, Sydney 20 and 30, Charlottetown and Moncton 17 and 30, Fredericton and Saint John 17 and 30; outlook for Sunday, cloudy with scattered snowflurries; little change in temperature.

High tide today at Charlottetown 11:04 a.m. and 10:20 p.m. At Rustico at 7:21 a.m. and 5:34 p.m. High tide Sunday at Charlottetown 11:51 a.m. and 11:21 p.m. At Rustico at 7:39 a.m. and 6:26 p.m. Summer tide eighteen minutes later than Charlottetown. Sun rises today at 7:19 a.m. and sets at 5:36 p.m. Rises Sunday at 7:18 a.m. and sets at 5:37 p.m.

But there are a number of buildings throughout the province with 1,000 feeder pigs in them. With 150-pound pigs bringing more than $60 apiece for top grade, Government bonuses are extra, the pig is a highly regarded part of the successful agricultural unit.

They aim for a little better than two litters per sow a year in the Jewell barn, perhaps five litters every two years, they explain.

With pigs the price they are now, it pays to keep the machinery working to full capacity.

57 Tablestock Permits Issued

A total of 57 permits were issued in 1965 to 57 people to plant tablestock potatoes, Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae told The Guardian last evening.

This is information Mr. MacRae promised to give when he spoke to the Potato Producers' meeting here Thursday.

The 57 permits represented a total of 245 1/2 acres, the minister said. And from that number there were four contact cases of ring rot and five positive cases, the minister said.

The legislation calls for growers to plant certified seed or better, but it does allow permits in certain cases to plant potatoes that are not certified.

Mr. MacRae said Thursday, though, that he would not issue permits in future for persons to plant tablestock potatoes.

Government Said Caught In 12-Mile Limit Problem

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

OTTAWA — The Liberal government has been caught between its extravagant statements and the facts of the situation on the imposition of a 12-mile fishing limit in Canadian territorial waters, Hon. J. Angus MacLean, MP for Queens, said in the Commons Friday.

"When the government saw itself squeezed in between these two situations it took the philosophy of the cross-eyed mouse that always saw two cats jumping at him and tried to run between them," Mr. MacLean suggested.

He said the government had introduced its bill with almost unanimous approval of the Commons but the effective part of the bill which would control the fishing boats of nations which habitually fished near Canadian shores, could not be put into operation until certain orders in council were passed.

Mr. MacLean said that the former fisheries minister pointed out that certain countries had been exempted from the application of the 12-mile fishing zone while negotiations were being carried on with them. The only important nations that were not exempted are the Soviet Union, Poland and Japan.

Mr. MacLean agreed that the exclusive fishing zone and straight base line method of measurement should be the objective of Canada but there might be a difference of opinion over the method.

"Ministers tell us that if they said too much it might jeopardize their negotiating position and therefore silence is golden, Mr. MacLean said. "It seems to me the silence has been so long and so deep that the government's hands should be strengthened enough they could demand the whole of the ocean."

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin interjected to tell Mr. MacLean that he expected to be taking up the problem during talks in Washington the week after next.

The Queens' MP said the world situation had changed greatly since the last meeting on the law of the sea in 1960. About 40 countries had made changes in their own laws and it was important to get some agreement on what should be with width of any exclusive fishing zone.

"I would like to suggest that he should consider the possibility of Canada again taking the initiative to reconvene the conference to see if once and for all we could not come to some international agreement which would codify international law as far as exclusive fishing zones and territorial waters are concerned," Mr. MacLean said.

Quebec Writer Sees Error Inviting Queen To Expo 67

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Dupuis, former federal minister without portfolio, said in a daily column he writes for Journal de Montreal that "it is very dangerous for national unity—and even for the security of her Majesty—to invite the Queen to preside in Quebec in 1967 at the opening of the world's fair in Montreal."

"Furthermore," he said, "the presence of the Queen threatens the success of Expo and to tarnish once again Canada's reputation abroad."

Mr. Dupuis wrote as though the Queen already had accepted an invitation to Canada, but in the Commons last Friday Prime Minister Pearson said only that negotiations are under way to have the Queen visit Canada during the 1967 centennial celebrations.

Later a spokesman at the prime minister's office said any official announcement of a Royal visit would have to come from Buckingham Palace. Other information such as the dates of her visit and the places to which she would go would have to be discussed in London before any announcement was made in Ottawa.

Mr. Dupuis wrote: "The surprise announcement of the visit of the Queen for the centennial celebrations and the 1967 world's exhibition denotes unbecoming arrogance by Mr. Pearson and his government."

"It would have been so easy first of all to have sounded out the opinion of members of the Liberal caucus."

Mr. Dupuis said that since Mr. Pearson likes compromises he would offer him one: "Let her gracious majesty travel to Charlottetown or Ottawa to inaugurate the centennial celebrations in 1967. At the same time she could abdicate as Queen of Canada to really show that England considers Canada as a sovereign country, master of its own destiny."

"WOULD BE HAPPY"

"All Canadians, even those in Quebec, then would be happy to acclaim her... as Queen of England, but no longer Queen of Canada."

Mr. Dupuis, 39, served in the Pearson cabinet about a year. He resigned Jan. 20, 1965, at the prime minister's request following an RCMP investigation of infuence-peddling charges. Mr. Dupuis subsequently was charged with having demanded and received an amount of $10,000 in connection with attempts by a group to obtain a race-track franchise in his constituency. He is slated to stand trial on the charges in Sherbrooke next month.

Investments Of Companies Here Outrunning Liabilities

Canadian Life Insurance Association, said the life insurance companies are proud of the significant contribution they have been able to make on behalf of policyholders to further Prince Edward Island's progress.

"Life insurance investments are stable funds, not the kind that are temporarily committed for a quick return and withdrawal. They have created many jobs for Prince Edward Island people and helped to develop provincial resources. They continue to do so. Many of the places in which the people of the province live and learn, shop and play, and work and worship, have been made possible by life insurance funds," Mr. Kenny said.

Fishermen Said Being Ignored

OTTAWA (CP) — Government efforts to help fishermen are paltry compared to legislation aiding the farmer, Senator Malcolm Hollett (PC — Newfoundland) said in the Senate.

He wondered why Ottawa looked at Atlantic fishermen with a blind eye "while at the same time they keep both eyes wide open when they look at our farmers across Canada."

There was supposed to be a national fisheries program, but nobody seems to know when it will start of what it will consist of.

Souris Chooses Carnival Queen

SOURIS — Jean MacCormack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacCormack, Souris, was crowned Queen of the Souris Winter Carnival Thursday night.

The carnival was opened officially by Melvin J. McQuaid, Kings County MP.

Crowning ceremonies were held in the auditorium of Souris Regional High School and the new queen was crowned by last year's queen, Margaret Mahr.

Judges in the queen competitions were William Pierce, Mrs. William Rowan and Mrs. Daniel MacDonald.
