21 Tranquilizer Drugs Are On Restricted List

Medical Council Is Responsible

TORONTO (CP) — Announcement of the addition of between 20 and 40 drugs, including about 25 of the tranquilizer variety, to the restricted list was made at the Canadian Medical Association's general council meeting Saturday.

In other business of the final day of the two-day conference, the council heard an appeal for representation and higher salaries for interns and examined ways of relieving the shortage of persons entering the medical profession.

Dr. R. O. Jones of Halifax, spokesman for the medical education committee, said that although reports from deans of medical schools in Canada are to the contrary, the medical profession feels the calibre of medical students is considerably lower now than in former years.

Dr. Jones said factors which possibly influence steadily lowering attendance at medical schools include: Length of course, lowered prestige of the doctor in the public eye, increasing government control in the medical field and economic factors.

SUGGESTED INDUCEMENTS

Scholarships, loans, special tax exemptions for medical students, and new publicity about the profession were suggested as inducements to those entering the medical profession.

In a report presented by his committee on the approval of training schools for radiological technicians, Dr. E. A. Petrie of Saint John, N.B., said standards of radiology schools will be raised on the basis of requirements approved by the CMA.

3 Miners Are Saved

By PAUL BECK
BEAVER DAM, Ky. (AP)—Three exhausted coal miners Sunday walked safely away from the pit in which they had been trapped for more than 41 hours.

Their wives burst into tears. The men joked about their ordeal and then were taken to a nearby hospital for a medical checkup. They had suffered no serious effects and were released.

They were dirty and tired but appear in fine shape. They were given some coffee, their first hot drink since the mine caved in Friday morning.

The miners — Don McClernon, Jake Lewis and Earl Bennett — had no food during their ordeal.

Bennett said the first thing he was going to do was eat a sirloin steak. Lewis said, "I'm going to take a bath and go to bed." McClernon echoed Lewis' comment.

Bennett, who survived a coal mine explosion in 1927 which killed 22 miners in West Frankfort, Ill., said: "I had doubts at first. All three of us prayed right after the fall."

Psychiatric Treatment Is Given To Governor

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Earl K. Long, governor of Louisiana, arrived at a hospital here Saturday after a hush-hush flight from his state capital. He was placed under the care of a noted psychiatrist.

The flight here for treatment came after the governor stunned members of the Louisiana Legislature with shouting spells. He later was put to bed, and his wife announced that the governor suffered from complete exhaustion.

Sunday Long was reported to be resting in the psychiatric clinic of John Sealy Hospital here. A medical bulletin said he is not at present under therapeutic care.

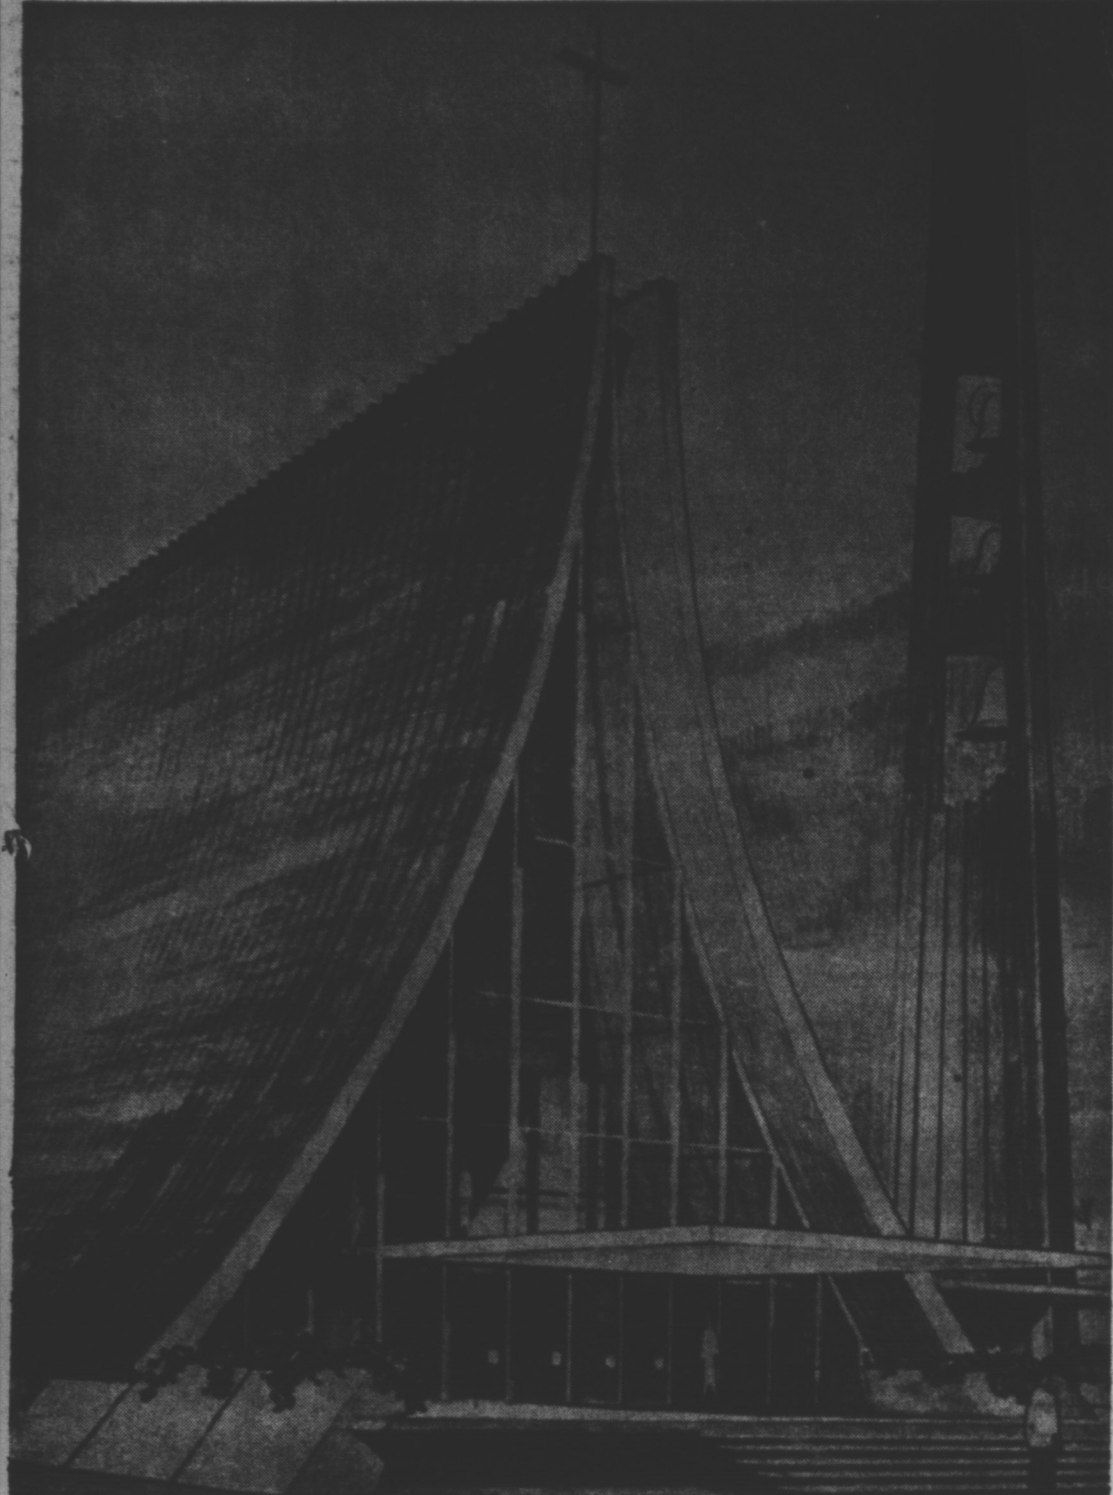

The bulletin added: "The basic diagnostic survey will not be completed for several days." Long earlier was reported to be "under no restraint."

The 68-year-old governor became the political heir of his late brother, Huey Long, whose sensational political star skyrocketed in the 1930s. Huey was assassinated.

At a joint session of the legislature Long, sputtering incoherently at times, said he was running for a fourth term and would cut down anyone who opposed him.

"I have the experience to be governor," Long said. "I know how to play craps. I know how to get in and out of the Baptist Church and ride horses. I know the oil and gas business. I know both sides of the streets."

Papers throughout Louisiana the next day expressed shock and concern over the governor's conduct.

West's Plan To Unite Berlin Gets No Red Consideration

By JOHN EARLE
GENEVA (Reuters) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko refused even to discuss the Western plan for uniting Berlin Saturday and reiterated that West Berlin must be converted into a "free city."

His hard-hitting address marked the resumption of the three-week Big Four foreign ministers' conference after a three-day recess for the funeral of John Foster Dulles.

Gromyko described West Berlin as a dangerous centre of anti-Communist espionage, "one of the most dangerous sectors of the cold war" and a threat to world peace.

In one of the most outspoken actions of his 39-minute address, Gromyko assailed the Berlin radio station RIAS, which is operated by the United States Information Agency, a government body.

The radio, he said, disseminated "mendacious rumors and slanders, appeals for the organization of sabotage and disorder."

UNACCEPTABLE

Referring to the West's proposals for Berlin, Gromyko said: "It is necessary to repeat once again they are unacceptable from beginning to end. They cannot even be a subject of discussion."

An American spokesman commented: "We certainly hope Mr. Gromyko will be more flexible in private sessions than he has indicated himself to be in plenary sessions."

Gromyko revealed that on the historic flight back to Geneva from the Dulles funeral with (Continued on page 2 col. 2)

Martial Law Is Proclaimed

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, (AP)—Residents of this capital were warned to stay at home Sunday and "avoid provoking a disturbance."

The warning was contained in leaflets scattered through streets which otherwise appeared normal on the day after President Luis Somoza declared martial law.

The government has not yet revealed the number or names of persons arrested since the suspension of constitutional guarantees Saturday. A number of persons connected with civic organizations which had called for a general strike are reported to be in jail.

U.S. CUT IS $162 MILLION

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The actions of United States congressional committees have often had an impact on Canadian affairs. Reports of these committees have from time to time provided the opposition in the Canadian Commons with heavy political ammunition.

This has happened again with publication last week of the report of the U.S. House of Representatives committee on defence appropriations.

On the very day that Defence Minister Pearkes was telling the Senate external relations committee here that the American Bomarc anti-aircraft missile will be an effective weapon in Canadian defence, the U.S. committee was saying it isn't convinced the Bomarc system will work. It voted to cut more than 3162,000,000 out of the Bomarc program.

STRONGLY LINKED

Canadian defence now is linked so closely with that of the U.S. that almost every American action, at least in the air defence field, has a direct bearing on Canada.

For instance, Canada and the U.S. have agreed to share costs—Canada one-third, and U.S. two-thirds—for more radar coverage in this country. But the U.S. committee chopped 350,000,000 out of the radar program.

The committee also cut off 353,000,000 in U.S. Air Force funds for 10 big cargo transports at a time when at least one Canadian company was preparing to submit a tender for their construction.

'Horse Dealer' Plan Criticized By Nikita

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared Saturday that the Soviet Union has no reason to make any concessions to the West on the German issue.

He spoke at a mass meeting in Tirana, Albania. The speech was reported by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

The Soviet premier repeated what his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko told the Big Four meeting at Geneva when he said the Western proposals put forward at the foreign ministers' conference do not "contain a single element for negotiations."

He said the West was using the "approach of a horse dealer."

"When we were working out our proposals we did not act as merchants who treble the price they are asking and after bargaining sell their goods more cheaply."

Colleagues Said 'Reds'

BERLIN (AP)—John McGovern, British Labor MP, refused Saturday to withdraw his charge that nearly 100 members of his party are undercover Communists or fellow travellers.

"One does not withdraw the truth," McGovern said in an interview when told that his party's secretary, Morgan Phillips, has demanded the retraction of his allegation.

McGovern, who represents a Scottish district in Parliament, made his accusation Thursday when asked by West Berlin reporters why Labor MPs were making frequent visits to East Germany and East Berlin.

NOT MADE FOR BARGAINING

"We do not negotiate on their principle of concession for concession. We have no reason to make any concessions since our proposals were not made for bargaining."

"We agree to discuss all proposals made with the object of easing international tension . . . but he who really strives for peace must not resort to horse-bargaining tricks in the negotiations."

Two weeks ago, Khrushchev delivered a speech in the Soviet Union saying that some parts of the Western plan deserved consideration but now he appears to have dismissed the West's suggestions entirely.

The Western proposals, presented by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at Geneva, called for the re-unification of Berlin as a prelude to a gradual reunion of the two Germans.

Khrushchev repeated his warning that missile bases might be established in Albania.

MENTIONS NO NAMES

After emphasizing that these visits to the Communist East were of a private nature, McGovern said he estimated that 26 Labor MPs must be considered Communists and 70 others fellow travellers. He declined to give names.

Ontario's Politicians Near Campaign's End

TORONTO (CP)—Ignited by a spark of personal controversy, Ontario's June 11 election campaign heads into the home stretch this week.

A livelier note sparked the fourth week of political oratory with bitter exchanges of personal crossfire in the last few days between CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald and Progressive Conservative Premier Frost. Liberal Leader John J. Wintermyer said the dispute between his rivals has detracted from the basic issues.

Mr. MacDonald touched off the exchange last Monday, accusing Mr. Frost of running a dishonest administration. The premier came back with a statement that the CCF leader is a reckless, glib, ridiculous, absurd man with no logic and a disregard for truth calculated to hurt and destroy the province's historic parties—Conservative and Liberal.

CHALLENGE TO DEBATE

At the end of the week, Mr. MacDonald challenged the premier and Mr. Wintermyer to meet him at Sudbury this week in a public debate on the government's record, particularly disclosures last year that cabinet ministers profited from purchases of stock in the Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company, a gas distribution firm.

Since the election was announced May 4, the three leaders have been warring the province's estimated 3,200,000 voters with a variety of promises.
