Liquor Case Is Adjourned

The case of Gordon MacLeod, charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, was adjourned until Sept. 6 in city police court Thursday. Magistrate A.J. Haslam presided.

The crown presented two witnesses in the case, Deputy Chief Sgt. Wm. Webster and Constable Charles Ready. There were no witnesses for the defence. Appearing for the crown was Alan K. Scales and for the defence G. R. Foster.

The defence moved for a dismissal of the case when the crown prosecutor, in his summation, drew the court's attention to the failure of the accused to give evidence. This, the defence contended, was contrary to law.

There were six cases of drunk and incapable. Five were each given 20 days, and the sixth fined $20 and costs or 10 days.

There were three cases of loitering. The accused in one was fined $20 and costs or 10 days, and the accused in the other cases each drew remands until August 25.

Six Are Taken To Hospital Following Highway Accident

Six persons were taken to the Charlottetown Hospital early yesterday morning suffering from cuts and lacerations about the face following a two - car head-on collision on the Trans-Canada Highway at North River.

Taken to hospital were Linda June MacRae, Verna Lenora MacRae, both of Hamilton, Ont.; Kenneth M. MacRae and his wife of Milton, P.E.I.; Charles Dougan, and Frank Vernon Cullen, both of Bedford, P.E.I.

The collision occurred near the North River Rink when the vehicle driven by Linda June MacRae was attempting to turn off the Trans Canada Highway on to the Wiltshire Highway and collided with the vehicle driven by Mr. Cullen, which was travelling away from Charlottetown. The MacRae vehicle was going toward the city.

Both vehicles were reported to have been heavily damaged.

The Charlottetown detachment of the RCMP investigated the accident.

NO MAN'S

so on Someone or some group must have the authority to go to work and be completely free from interference."

Mr. Mannell asked that the council appoint a committee to implement his recommendations; implement his one - way street program and send for a parking meter agent.

The report was given to the police committee, chaired by Coun. W. R. MacNeill, with recorder K. M. Martin, Police Chief C. W. MacArthur, and City Engineer Norman Stewart working with the committee.

INCINERATOR REQUIREMENTS

With the refusal of the city's application to build the incinerator the government offered a site on the south east portion of the Riverside Hospital Property which would be used by the residents of Sherwood, Parkdale and Charlottetown, providing certain conditions are met.

The government asked that a modern, up-to-date incinerator must be built; a compulsory system of collection must be provided and the garbage must be collected in a properly enclosed truck.

The government also stated that they would build a paved road down to the area.

Coun. H. E. Hyndman said that in his opinion the whole operation should be carried out on a tender basis. The matter of acceptance was left over as it was noted that the government is making a diagram of the area which will be given to council.

In regard to No Man's Land, assessment figures from the area were read by City Comptroller John Butler and the matter was left so that the recorder and Mr. Butler could draft a preliminary by-law, which when completed would be referred to the town planning committee under the chairmanship of Coun. Walter Cox. The committee would deal with the matter and bring back recommendations to council.

Week-Long Blood Campaign Nets 95 Per Cent Objective

A total of 251 donors registered at yesterday's concluding Red Cross blood donor clinics held at Cardigan Legion Home in the afternoon with an attendance of 80, and at the Beaver Club in Montague where there were 171 donors - 21 above the objective.

The total for the four-day series of clinics was 1,027 of the 1,080 objective - a 95 per cent result which is considered by Red Cross officials to be a most gratifying response, especially at this time of the year.

Both the Cardigan and Montague clinics were sponsored by their local Royal Canadian Legion branches with Alban Brothers again heading up the former, and A. A. (Joey) Fraser the latter. The results of both these clinics reflected great credit on members of the Legion who carried out an intensive canvass in preparation for these clinics.

Several local ladies assisted the Legion members in staffing the clinic at Cardigan, while members of the Montague Women's Institute, convened by Mrs. A. D. MacLure, again provided and served refreshments to the donors and workers. Several local nurses were also the efficient helpers for the Mobile Red Cross blood donor team from Halifax, as well as two high school students who did the registering.

In commenting on the splendid success of this week's series of clinics, F. A. S. Jones, provincial chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee, expressed sincere thanks to all who in any way helped to achieve such excellent results and in this way replenished the badly depleted N.S.-P.E.I. blood bank.

Council Meets At S'side Sat.

The provincial plowing council will meet at Summerside on Saturday night, it was learned Thursday, and it is probable that an announcement may be coming on the location and dates for this year's provincial championship.

Held in Dundas since the energetic people of that area started modern competitive plowing more than 20 years ago, the championship match location may change this year.

When the council was organized earlier this year, it was understood this year's championship match would be held in Prince County, though there has been no confirmation of that announcement recently, and the time for plowing matches is near.
