HAPPENINGS

Mr. Leonard W. Brockington, Q.C., was the guest of honor on Thursday evening at a men's dinner given by Dr. Frank MacKinnon.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank McKinnon entertained at their home, Friday evening, at a buffet supper party held in honor of Mr. Leonard W. Brockington, Q.C. Mr. Brockington left Saturday morning by plane for his home in Ottawa.

Senator F. Elsie L. Man of Montague accompanied the official party Friday evening to the Samuel Robertson Memorial Lecture at the Prince of Wales College.

Her numerous friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. O. C. Craswell has been ill for three weeks. Senator F. Elsie Inman is at present staying with her sister for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Inman, Hampton, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stirling Inman and grandson Paul of Charlottetown are leaving today on a holiday motor trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, where Mrs. Inman, Jr., will visit her grandmother and other members of her family. They will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Winnipeg and then spend some time together at Treasure Island, St. Petersburg Beach, on the Gulf of Mexico. Mr. R. R. Hurst, Mrs. Lorne C. Callbeck, Mr. George Ayers, Dr. Dean Robertson and Mr. Ewan Campbell have been attending a conference of the eastern division of the Science Service Laboratory held at Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere held in Quebec.

Misses Georgina Matheson and Anne Matheson, two sisters, Summerside, Prince Edward Island, will return home Tuesday (April 1) from a four months visit in Lake Wales, Florida.

Among highlights of their trip has been a visit to Bok Tower and Florida's Great Masterpiece, the 300,000-piece mosaic of the "Lord's Last Supper."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Montgomery entertained at their residence West street, over the weekend at a delightful supper party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Rogers.

Mr. Leonard W. Brockington, Q.C., Canada's best known public speaker, was the guest speaker, Friday evening at the Samuel Robertson Memorial Lecture. Ever since the announcement was made that Mr. Brockington would deliver the address this year Prince Edward Island people had been reserving the date to hear this great speaker. It was one of the wonderful experiences of a lifetime to hear Mr. Brockington in our Island province, also it was a joy to see so many young people in the audience taking advantage of the privilege of hearing Mr. Brockington.

The principal and faculty of Prince of Wales College entertained Friday evening in the college library in honor of Mr. Leonard Brockington, Q.C. The tea table was attractive with spring flowers and lighted tapers. Pouring tea were Miss Eleanor Lowe, Mrs. Donald Fraser, Mrs. Lorne Callbeck and Mrs. Robert LeClair. Assisting in looking after the guests were the lady teachers and wives of the faculty members.

Miss Marjorie Chandler, Toronto arrived Wednesday by plane in the city to spend a short holiday with her mother, Mrs. F. S. Chandler, 24 Fitzroy Street. Miss Chandler returned Sunday.

Mr. Franklyn MacMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd MacMillan, R. C. A. F. station, Portage La Prairie, left Saturday for his home. Mr. MacMillan had been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Waits, York, and Mr. and Mrs. Eph. MacMillan, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. Franklyn is employed with the Royal Bank of Canada in Portage La Prairie.

Many people in this province, who enjoy the beautiful singing of Miss Audrey Farnell, will be interested to hear that she was married recently in Halifax to Mr. Len Chappell, who has been with the Halifax radio station for many years. The ceremony was very quiet owing to the recent bereavement in Miss Farnell's family.

Mrs. B. H. Hughes, 241 Prince Street, left by plane Monday for Boston, having received the sad news that her mother, Mrs. Lindsay, is seriously ill. Mrs. Lindsay has many friends in the province as she used to spend her summers at her cottage in Georgetown and more recently with Mr.

SPRINGFIELD W. I. The March meeting of Springfield Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Sutherland MacKay with eleven members present.

The president opened the meeting with, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and the Club Women's Creed repeated in unison. Roll call was answered with a short sketch on the life of a Canadian premier.

Minutes were read and adopted and the following reports given Treasurer's, Red Cross, one sweater. Sick, one Get-well card and one Baby card sent. Correspondence was read and $1.00 voted towards scholarship fund, $10.00 to relief of people in Ceylon.

A committee, consisting of Miss Muriel Haslam, Mrs. Andrew Hughes, and Mrs. Norris Sinclair was appointed to make a list of deceased members since organization formed, put in the Book of Remembrance.

Thanks for valentines and book received from the Junior Red Cross, director, Mrs. Paul Devlin, also for two Get-Well cards received, were read.

The leader of the 4-H sewing club, Mrs. C. Sinclair gave a report of a party recently held in the hall. It was decided to have a crokinole and card party for the W. I. at a later date.

Plans were completed for the educational program and social evening to be held the first week in March.

Mrs. MacKay, convener, for the program on Education read an interesting article entitled, "From Clinton to Ceylon," a story of Dr. Mary Rutman, founder of the Women's Institute in Ceylon. Mrs. MacKay also read a letter from the convener of citizenship.

This part of the program was followed by an interesting discussion on education by different members. Two contests, "Do You Know Your Homonyms," and "Do You Know Your Greens," by the leader were won by Mrs.

and Mrs. Hughes and children in Charlottetown.

Reginald Haslam and Mrs. Clarence Haslam. The meeting then adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. John Hickey in April and lunch was mittee.

FURRED ENSEMBLE

The fur-trimmed suit has such a soft and delicate air about it that we think it should always be part of the spring scene. Well, this spring it is, and Branelle does an especially nice job of it. Norwegian blue fox collars a lightly fitted jacket of beige wool that accompanies a matching dress. This has brief sleeves and a collarless neckline circled and bowed with matching grosgrain.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Alex, Sweet And Cherubic, Is Knowing As The Pup!

"This is not so pleasant a season as the autumn" James commented "but" there was sunshine in his voice "the outlook is better." Autumn has death in its shades we offered. "A and loneliness: leaves drifting down to rustle underfoot, brooks are mournful, wild geese fly away — though it is a beautiful time of year."

"But this, though we may still get rough weather and cold, looks ahead to the cropping. We pick up winter's leavings, repair fences and get to the cultivating. There's nothing better than to feel once more the stirred soil beneath ones boots. No death to spring" he said, "only life."

We were returning at the time to the shelter of our own "vine and fig-tree" after a visit to the house across the lane. . . We enjoy much "The Childrens' Hour" there, and we wait to see them tucked away in bed.

Alex first, sweet and clean and cherubic and as one of the family said "as knowing as the pup." He smiles and waves and is carried upstairs to rest in the old cot beneath a eave.

Sometimes it is granddaughter who goes next. She is one upon whom the shadow of the morning rising rests. It is interesting and to us somewhat amazing to watch her preparations. Schoolbooks are left in readiness, lunch-box at the alert, clothing laid out.

Or it may be Mack, scenting a story in the offing, or tucking a book under her arm to be read — "Just one chapter" but how can we or his mother leave him in the midst of a tale? But more often he is the one to linger below, to chat now in the quiet — to wonder and explore in mind and things. Animals must be comfortable before he himself can come to his own rest.

The night? One of spring's own. Sweetened by the scent of baring earth about the yards, accented by the damp of spruce woodlands so near. Solemn. . . peaceful, still. Stars? odd ones. And above the rise of valley a new moon dipped toward the west.

Wish on it? What should it be? The older dog came from the shadowy verandah with a pleased yelp of welcome. What else tonight was there to wish for? Frogs' pipings perhaps. But they would come. We came indoors, James now with us, Blackie leading the way.

Until tomorrow — — Diary — Goodnight. . . .
