WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The United States Supreme Court today unanimously upheld a $750,000 Taft-Hartley Act damage award against Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's Union. The judgment was by the Justice Department with the majority were there five offenses connected with liquor.

The report that numbers and offenses were: drunk and incapable 17; drunk and disorderly 27; speeding 1; vagrancy 17; theft 9; drunken driving 9; escaping from lawful custody 1; temperance offense 17; operating a motor vehicle without registration plates 1; operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license 1; assault 1; creating a disturbance 1; breaking and entering with intent 2; Excise Act cases 6; possession of stolen goods 1; trespassing 3; taking a car without the consent of the owner 1; failing to stop at the scene of an accident 1; damage to property 1.

Members of the Grand Jury sworn in yesterday were foreman P. R. McCormack, Edison Jenkin, Frederick Robinson, Ralph Jenkins, Willie Lank, Edur Daniels, Frank MacIntyre, Arthur Hogan, Simon Paoli, V. A. Ainsworth, Ivan Nicholson and T. G. Ives.

When the Grand Jury left to interrogate the various witnesses in the Grand Jury Room, the Court then took up other cases on the docket. They were four appeal cases and two non-jury civil cases. In the latter cases one, that of Kenneth Callaghan versus Leigh Myers arising out of a claim for damages based on unlawful detention of a motor car, the case was set over to January 30. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. J. A. MacDonald, K.C., who told the Court the defendant was out of the Province,

True Bills Found At Supreme Court Opening

Four true bills were found yesterday by the Grand Jury on the four indictments with which they were presented as the Supreme Court held its opening session today at the Supreme Court building. Two of the indictments were for rape, one for driving to the common danger and one for possession of an offensive weapon.

In the case of manslaughter, charged against Robert Rackham, arising out of a truck-train collision on June 7 last, the Grand Jury returned to the courtroom to ask if the charge could be reduced. This was agreed to and a charge of driving to the common danger was added to the indictment. The Grand Jury then found no true bill on the manslaughter charge but did return one on the lesser count.

The two indictments for rape were on charges against Elmer Wilfred Feehan, Monte Stewart, and Edward Francis Fall of this city. They arose out of an incident involving a 15-year-old girl whom they are both accused of criminally attacking. In the case of Fall he appeared in Court not represented by counsel. When asked by presiding Justice M. R. McGuigan if he wished to be, he replied in the affirmative. Mr. Justice McGuigan then appointed Mr. Allison Gillis as his counsel.

A true bill was also found on the indictment charging Hensin Gay, Hazelbrook, with possession of an offensive weapon.

Addresses Grand Jury

In his opening address to the Grand Jury the Justice told them, "You have been summoned by the sheriff to attend this term of the Supreme Court for Queens County as grand jurors. It is an honor to serve on the grand jury and it is also a duty — one of the duties of citizenship."

"The great object on the institution of the Grand Jury was to prevent persons being called on to answer alleged crimes without reasonable grounds for an action. The proceedings of the Grand Jury are conducted in private so that an accused or suspected person may not, without reasonable proof of guilt, suffer the mortification of a public trial. As one authority said, "The intervention of the Grand Jury between the crime and the subject seems to be a protection to the subject which must be jealously guarded."

Mr. Justice McGuigan then went on to tell the jurors of what their duties consist. Speaking about the rape indictments he briefly described how the incident occurred. He also told the jurors of the manslaughter case when the truck driven by Robert Rackham, Wheatley River, struck a C.N.R. freight train at the Winsloe Crossing, Wendell Johnstone, Brookfield, a passenger in the truck was instantly killed.

The presiding jurist related the various degrees of homicide. He said the charge made was a serious one involving criminal negligence. He said in civil damage cases only a small degree of negligence was needed to make a case but in criminal cases the negligence must be so great as to amount to disregard for the life of others.

He warned the jurors that in all indictments they were not hearing a trial. They were simply to determine if there was sufficient evidence against the various accused to send them for trial before a petit jury.

Arraignments Today

All the accused will be arraigned in Supreme Court this afternoon. Members of the panel of petit jurors were ordered to report in Court Monday morning and it is expected that the trials will get underway immediately thereafter.

During the course of his original address to the Grand Jury Mr. Justice McGuigan also told them that their duties included inspecting public buildings such as Falconwood Hospital, Queens County Jail, the Infirmary and Beach Grove Inn and to report on condition if they found them to be in need of necessary improvements. He also read a report from Sheriff John Beaton which showed that there are presently 23 prisoners confined in the County Jail. Since June 1, and until January 1 of this year, there have been 271 prisoners confined there and the Justice commented that the majority were there for offenses connected with liquor.

The report that numbers and offenses were: drunk and incapable 17; drunk and disorderly 27; speeding 1; vagrancy 17; theft 9; drunken driving 9; escaping from lawful custody 1; temperance offense 17; operating a motor vehicle without registration plates 1; operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license 1; assault 1; creating a disturbance 1; breaking and entering with intent 2; Excise Act cases 6; possession of stolen goods 1; trespassing 3; taking a car without the consent of the owner 1; failing to stop at the scene of an accident 1; damage to property 1.

Members of the Grand Jury sworn in yesterday were foreman P. R. McCormack, Edison Jenkin, Frederick Robinson, Ralph Jenkins, Willie Lank, Edur Daniels, Frank MacIntyre, Arthur Hogan, Simon Paoli, V. A. Ainsworth, Ivan Nicholson and T. G. Ives.

Appeal Cases

When the Grand Jury left to interrogate the various witnesses in the Grand Jury Room, the Court then took up other cases on the docket. They were four appeal cases and two non-jury civil cases. In the latter cases one, that of Kenneth Callaghan versus Leigh Myers arising out of a claim for damages based on unlawful detention of a motor car, the case was set over to January 30. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. J. A. MacDonald, K.C., who told the Court the defendant was out of the Province, but there was a good chance of a settlement being reached to avoid the necessity of his return from Toronto. Counsel for the defendant is Mr. H. F. McPhee, K.C. The other non-jury civil case arose from damages to a motor vehicle. James A. Lund, the plaintiff, was represented by Mr. MacDonald, while the defendants, Earl Clont and Ernest E. Duffy, were represented by Mr. R.R. Bell, K.C. The case was set down at the foot of the docket for hearing later during the sittings.

In the appeal of Ernest Duffy from a conviction before Stipendiary Magistrate Martin on a charge of drunken driving, it was stated that appellant had pleaded guilty in the lower court. However, his offence was committed a day after a new provision was written into the Criminal Code. As a result the Court reduced the sentence to a fine of $50 or one month in jail. The appeal of William Alfred Lannon from a conviction before Stipendiary Magistrate Gaudet under the Excise Act was dismissed with no costs. It consisted mainly of a plea for the appellant to be allowed to defer serving a six months sentence in view of family conditions. By agreement of counsel the Court permitted a deferment of one month.

The two appeals of William Munn were allowed with no costs. They were both from convictions before Stipendiary Magistrate Martin, one for vagrancy and the other for damage to property.

In all four appeals Mr. J.P. Nicholson represented the Crown and Mr. L.P. O'Donnell the appellants. During the morning session Mr. J.O.C. Campbell appeared for the Crown, while Attorney General Walter E. Darby appeared in the afternoon. The Court adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock.

Canadians Give Generously To Children's Fund

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 (CP)—Canadians last year gave nearly $300,000 in money and supplies through the Unitarian Service Committee to help war-injured children of Europe.

Dr. Lotta Hiltchmanova, executive director said today in her annual report that in 1951 the committee raised more than $100,000 in funds plus 477,469 pounds of supplies worth $183,296.

The money raised was double the 1950 figure. The quantity of supplies was doubled. Relief goods shipped included everything from food to soap and diapers. They were sent to Greece, France, Austria, Italy and Belgium.

"Among our largest contributors were the Ontario Women's Institutes and the city of Flin Flon (Man.) which raised over $1,000. for our 'Bread for Greece' crusade," said the director.

"March of Diapers" campaign which started out with a quota of 12,000 gathered more than 40,000 before it ended. More than 50,000 bars of soap, to combat skin diseases among children, were sent to Greece. Dr. Hiltchmanova said the Winnipeg branch of the committee dissolved last October "from lack of volunteers." However a new branch was established at Calgary which soon will begin to accept and ship clothing for overseas.

In Brandon the "Dr. Hiltchmanova Appeal Committee" collected more than five tons of garments last November and packed them for overseas.

Clothing of all kinds was shipped during the year from Winnipeg, Ottawa, Toronto Vancouver Brandon, Montreal.

Plan Huge Pulp Mills in B. C.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 8 (CP)—Celgar Development Co. Ltd. announced today it plans to embark soon on a $55,000,000 wood pulp and newsprint development in the Arrow Lakes region of Southeastern British Columbia.

The project calls for the construction of two and possibly four mills near Castlegar, 250 miles east of Vancouver. The company an affiliate of the Celanese Corporation of America, said the development ultimately will mean employment for more than 2,000 persons.

Details of the development were outlined in statements by Harold Blanche, president of Celgar, and Hon. E. T. Kennedy, B.C. forests minister.

Present plans call for the construction of a kraft mill able to produce 400 tons of bleached and semi-bleached sulphate pulp daily and a ground wood mill with a daily capacity of 275 tons of newsprint. Celgar said it has arranged—subject to the approval of the forest management licence application—for the purchase of a 500-acre plant site on the Columbia River near Castlegar.

Plows Working To Keep Roads Open

The weather ran the gamut here yesterday as freezing rain followed the heavy snowfall of late Monday night and early Tuesday morning. Snow began to fall again last night. In the City plows and other snow-fighting equipment fought a stubborn battle to keep traffic moving.

The freezing rain marked the first silver thaw as wires and trees were coated with a heavy white crust. Late last night Provincial Government officials said all main roads had been opened with the Government-owned plows out fighting all day. However, in view of a new storm apparently in the making they were worried for fear roads would again be blocked this morning. If they are the plows will start early to clear them again.

SEE DANGER

The message received by Turnbull's owners in London said simply: "Tow parted, Lizard bearing 225 degrees 10 miles." Lizard is a tip of the rocky point of the Cornish coast, the nearest land to the Enterprise's location.

The Enterprise faces a great hazard in raging seas off the tip of Cornwall where the English Channel pours into the Atlantic. Earlier, a sailor of 30 years experience aboard the tug Englishman, chartered by the Associated Press, said:

"If the low lines part anywhere in that area, the danger to the Enterprise will be immense because she would be subject to strong tidal current. She would be almost bound to hit rocks and break up in no time."

Latest weather reports received here this morning threatened to bring more trouble to the Enterprise, now drifting powerless in the rolling Atlantic. Heavier gales were expected to strike the area soon.

If and when the Turmoil and Enterprise get in range of Falmouth, tugs will put out to help them steer through the 1,200 yard-wide channel into the harbor. Earlier rough weather forced a temporary halt in the towing of the battered Enterprise into Falmouth. Tugs rode out the gale and resumed the tow three hours later, heading for Falmouth a better than three knots when the line parted.

Drew Declares Canada On Rim Of Golden Age

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP)—Canada stands on the rim of a golden age which could zoom her population to 100,000,000 over the years, George Drew said tonight. But, said the Progressive Conservative leader, Canada can only fashion that future if she makes the greatest possible use of her natural resources — particularly iron ore—for industrial development at home rather than shipping them elsewhere.

He singled out iron ore and its use in greatly-expanded steel production as the crucial factors. The United States should get all the Canadian iron ore she needs for common defence purposes, "but every ton of iron ore we export means the export of that much employment, population and wealth at the same time."

Mr. Drew told Toronto's Junior Board of Trade Canada has everything necessary to support 100,000,000 people—she has 14,000,000 now—yet five Canadians have left the country for every six immigrants entering in the last 10 years.

"The best way to keep Canadians in Canada and the same time provide profitable employment for those who want to come here is to . . . assure the greatest possible use of our own raw materials in our own country. It is not only employment, but employment at a high wage level which will keep the most ambitious of our young people in Canada."

PLEDGE SOLID

(Continued from Page 1) a determination to weld joint policies against aggression in the Middle East, Southeast Asia and the Far East. A joint British-American understanding on how to share scarce raw materials is expected to be part of the communique. A high level committee which worked on this problem for two days reported to the President and Prime Minister on their discussions and, officials said, "a concrete understanding" was developed.

When Churchill left the White House tonight after the final talk, he was persuaded to speak into waiting microphones and said: "All very good wishes for the good fortune of the American people and the progress of the great mission they are discharging, not for the welfare of themselves or any other nation, but for all mankind."

He evidently referred to American officials who were in the White House when he boarded the Enterprise Friday and helped Carlson secure the tow line. Kenneth Dancy of the Turmoil, who boarded the Enterprise Friday and helped Carlson secure the tow line. It was understood the 77-year-old Prime Minister gave his considered views of the dangers existing in Indo-China and in Egypt.
