

Lost flesh lately?
Does your brain tire?
Losing control over your nerves?
Are your muscles becoming exhausted?
You certainly know the remedy. It is nothing new; just the same remedy that has been curing these cases of thinness and paleness for twenty-five years. Scott's Emulsion. The cod-liver oil in it is the food that makes the flesh, and the hypophosphites give tone to the nerves.

Shop Mottoes.

Cheapness certain. Quality undoubted. Silks sure to suit you. If it's here it's all right. Satisfaction at any cost. Nuggets of shining value. The best here is not dear. We are here to correct faults. Goods that are almost to good. Textiles worth trying and testing. Pass us by if nothing appeals to you. No goods are dear purchased here. Nothing is nice at twice our price. "Cheap" and "good" are understood. Nominal prices for phenomenal goods. It is our profit to cater to your benefit. If you are in doubt to day, come tomorrow. What you want for what you want to pay. We aim to renew the new customer's trade. Things from every clime climb into our store. The texture of our textiles we ask you to test. We covet confidence and challenge competition. What other stores do well we strive to do better. We have all you expect, and surpass all you imagine.

About David Harum.

Surely the best advertised book of the year is "David Harum." Most of the advertising given it, however was of the free order and given by newspapers in their reading columns. Wide-awake booksellers were quick to take advantage of this, and display the name of the book and its price in their daily paper advertising. It seems to me, aside from newspaper advertising, the best sort of publicity the book could have would be window placards bearing in quotation marks some of David Harum's quaint sayings, of which these are the best:

"The's as much human nature in some folks as th' is in others, if not more."

"Ev'ry boss c'n do a thing better 'n' spryer if he's ben broke to it as a colt."

"A reasonable amount of fleas is good for a dog—they keep him 'f'm broodin' on bein' a dog."

"Do unto the other feller the way he'd like to do unto you—an' do it fust."—The Advertising Man.

Good Advice

Advertising knowledge comes slowly as the result of repeated experiments, perhaps costly mistakes. It means labor, study watchful examination of results. Certain newspapers or advertising mediums pay, and you know they pay—use these freely. Other mediums are doubtful—proceed with caution. Your records show that others do not pay you; cut them off firmly, and do not let any persuasion tempt you to use them again. There are plenty of good advertising mediums without trying experiments with publications that have failed to pay.—Advertising Experience.

The Chronic Pessimist.

There is a class of people who occupy the whole of fair weather periods in prophesying storms. When there is nothing really serious to alarm anybody the chronic pessimists give us scare-crows of their own creation. Whenever the country is enjoying a period of business prosperity they are sure to be heard laying down the law of the periodicity of panics, and predicting one of unusual severity within a year or two. If crops are good for two or three successive seasons, lest we should become over-confident somebody prepares an elaborate magazine article proving that the world's wheat producing capacity has been reached, and that from now on population is going to outrun the means of subsistence, until we shall have to look to wars and pestilences for relief, and Malthus will be vindicated. When this idea is exploded, or its repetition becomes too monotonous for anybody to read, the habitual alarmist takes the reverse tack and proves by statistics of decreasing birth rates in this or that country that the race is degenerating and will become extinct at no very distant period. Finally, if nothing else sufficiently gloomy suggests itself, they figure out the rate at which the earth is cooling, and how soon we shall be frozen up, or proceed to unfold some mathematical calculation to the effect that in a hundred years or two this planet will be hit by a comet and broken into fragments.—Guntton's Magazine.

Journalism Influential for Good.

No modern institution is so far-reaching and potential in its influences, and no agency more powerful for impressing public opinion, than a free, honest and untrammelled press. But these latter conditions are necessary, indispensable and inexorable. As no individual whose moral character is not above reproach can hope to exercise a great influence in the community in which he lives, so no newspaper that is insensible to the requirements of respectable society can expect to be a factor in the moulding of public sentiment. A self respecting community demands that a newspaper shall also be self respecting and any failure in this regard must unavoidably involve the forfeiture of popular esteem.—Baltimore Herald.

Doctors said Incurable

But the Notary, Mr. Lemire, was cured of Kidney Disease in two months by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is only when thoroughly convinced of the superior merit of a remedy that public men will give their sanction.

Mr. E. H. Lemire, Notary Public, 1692 Notre Dame Street, Montreal, tells of his remarkable recovery from a severe attack of kidney disease. When doctors had failed, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills saved his life. He writes: "I give this statement, first because it is only just that the merit of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should be made known, and again in order that others may profit by my experience. For years I suffered with kidney disease which doctors pronounced incurable. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have used for two months, I am completely cured. They helped me from the first, and the cure is now perfect."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, and through their combined influence on the kidneys and liver, cure the most complicated diseases of these delicate organs. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmansson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OLD MAN'S EVIDENCE

Mr. H. S. Barnes, of Rat Portage, Speaks in no Uncertain Term of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Rat Portage, Sept 18.—No old gentleman in Rat Portage is better known or thought of than Mr. H. S. Barnes, father of ex-mayor Barnes, of this place.

"Some months ago," writes Mr. Barnes "my wife asked me to get her some of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She was suffering from kidney trouble and I got a box but she never lived to take them. I had long been suffering from symptoms similar to those of my wife and these now become severe, and having a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house, I resolved to try them. The first box eased these symptoms, and continuing their use I was completely cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills possess genuine merit."

Weary of Experimenting

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's ointment and found it an absolute cure for piles. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required in effect a permanent cure.
